Consuming Visions:

Consuming Visions Daniel Scroop, 2009-03-26 The United States is the quintessential consumer society This collection of essays brings together a new set of American and European voices from across the disciplinary spectrum of the humanities and social sciences to explore in innovative and challenging ways the consuming visions that have informed American political social and cultural life in the twentieth century Ranging in subject matter from the anti chain store movement that swept across small town America in the 1920s and 1930s to the bling aesthetic in contemporary African American film these essays explore how questions of consumption have been imagined understood and contested While the collection coheres around the contributors common concern with how consumption has been and is political its distinctiveness lies in the broad sweep of its disciplinary range Furthermore Consuming Visions illuminates a wide range of methodological and theoretical approaches to the politics of consumption with contributions from legal social and political historians and scholars from media and communications studies Providing fresh perspectives on one the most dynamic sub fields in American Studies Consuming Visions will appeal to students and academics with an interest in consumerism and consumption in the twentieth century United States

Consuming Visions Suzanne K. Kaufman, 2018-09-05 Plastic Madonnas packaged holy tours and biblical theme parks can arouse discomfort laughter and even revulsion in religious believers and nonbelievers alike Scholars too often see the intermingling of religion and commerce as a corruption of true spirituality Suzanne K Kaufman challenges these assumptions in her examination of the Lourdes pilgrimage in late nineteenth century France Consuming Visions offers new ways to interpret material forms of worship female piety and modern commercial culture Kaufman argues that the melding of traditional pilgrimage activities with a newly developing mass culture produced fresh expressions of popular faith For the devout women of humble origins who flocked to the shrine this intensely exciting commercialized worship offered unprecedented opportunities to connect with the sacred and express their faith in God New devotional activities at Lourdes transformed the act of pilgrimage the train became a moving chapel and popular entertainments such as wax museums offered vivid recreations of visionary events Using the press and the strategies of a new advertising industry to bring a mass audience to Lourdes Church authorities remade centuries old practices of miraculous healing into a modern public spectacle These innovations made Lourdes one of the most visited holy sites in Catholic Europe Yet mass pilgrimage also created problems The development of Lourdes while making religious practice more democratically accessible touched off fierce conflicts over the rituals and entertainments provided by the shrine These conflicts between believers and secularists played out in press scandals across the European continent By taking the shrine seriously as a site of mass culture Kaufman not only breaks down the opposition between sacred and profane but also deepens our understanding of commercialized religion as a fundamental feature of modernity itself

Consuming Visions Maite Conde, 2011-12-06 Consuming Visions explores the relationship between cinema and writing in early twentieth century Brazil focusing on how the new and foreign medium of film was consumed by a literary society in the throes of modernization Maite Conde places this relationship in the specific context of turn of the century Rio de Janeiro which underwent a radical transformation to a modern global city becoming a concrete symbol of the country's broader processes of change and modernization Analyzing an array of literary texts from journalistic essays and popular women's novels to anarchist treatises and vaudeville plays the author shows how the writers encounters with the cinema were consistent with the significant changes taking place in the city The arrival and initial development of the cinema in Brazil were part of the new urban landscape in which early Brazilian movies not only articulated the processes of the city's modernization but also enabled new urban spectators women immigrants a new working class and a recently liberated slave population to see believe in and participate in its future In the process these early movies challenged the power of the written word and of Brazilian writers threatening the hegemonic function of writing that had traditionally forged the contours of the nation's cultural life An emerging market of consumers of the new cultural phenomena popular theater the department store the factory illustrated magazines reflected changes that not only modernized literary production but also altered the very life and everyday urban experiences of the population Consuming Visions is an ambitious and engaging examination of the ways in which mass culture can become an agent of intellectual and aesthetic transformation

Religious Renewal in France, 1789-1870 Roger Price, 2017-12-04 This book provides a study of the manner in which the Roman Catholic Church in France responded to successive revolutions between 1789 and 1870 as well as to the cultural upheaval associated with accelerating socio economic change It focuses on the Church as an institution engaged in a dynamic process of re Christianization and determined as the only repository of the true faith of Jesus Christ to fortify belief and to combat the Satanic forces of moral corruption and revolutionary chaos and create a counter society the société parfaite Discussion of the Church as an institution in crisis of the recruitment instruction and mind sets of its bishops parish clergy and the members of religious orders of its hierarchical structures and internal discipline and of the need to compensate for the losses suffered during a period of revolutionary upheaval provides the basis for an exploration of its evolving doctrine's and sense of purpose for an assessment of the pastoral care provided to parish communities and of the leadership and moral qualities of the clergy before final consideration of the reception of the religious message's
