Contact And Perception Rogers Therapeutic Conditions:

Contact and Perception Gill Wyatt, 2002 Presents a series of papers outlining genuine theory and practice for various counsellors and therapists not only those of a person centred persuasion Workplace Counselling in the NHS Richard Bryant-Jefferies, 2019-08-08 This book has been written specifically to meet the needs of counsellors and trainers working with the National Health Service It will also provide useful insights for doctors nurses and managers within the healthcare sector The book covers topics such as difference and diversity colour language barriers oppressed nurses stressed managers changes in the NHS exhaustion and late cancellations Adopting the unique approach of the Living Therapy series this book uses fictitious dialogues to enable the reader to directly experience the therapeutic process providing real insight into the experience of workplace counselling in the NHS and also in other work settings Counselling a Recovering Drug User

Richard Bryant-Jefferies, 2018-12-14 This book is well timed and critically needed because it is a unique focus specifically working with the individual drug abuser which is written within the Carl Rogers person centered approach This book is matchless and deeply insightful Bryant Jefferies offers critical wisdom from his many years of counseling persons with substance abuse problems and brings into the text the guidance and skill of an experienced supervisor No doubt this book will remain a reference for a long time to come for all of us working in the field of counseling persons with drug abuse problems Dana Murphy Parker in her Foreword Professor of Nursing Arizona Western College Board of Directors The International Nurses Society on Addictions Counselling a Recovering Drug User has a story line that gripped me like a magnet from cover to cover The reader will come away with a heightened awareness and increased knowledge of the complexities of dealing with people who have a drug related problem Many people will benefit from this book The lay reader will find the book an engaging read whilst gaining some insight into the world of drug users and the counselling process Actual and potential clients may need this and gain encouragement about the benefits of person centred counselling Health professionals will find this book provides an easy to follow explanation of Carl Rogers counselling model and a unique view on how the counselling relationship allows a troubled client to grow and heal I enjoyed this book immensely I highly recommend this book to anyone who has an interest in drug users problems and the therapeutic relationship Dr Peter C Robinson in his Foreword General Practitioner Surrey GP with a Special Interest in Substance Misuse Guildford Surrey

Person-Centred Counselling Supervision Richard Bryant-Jefferies, 2017-11-22 Each preceding book in the Living Therapy series provides a demonstration of the application of the person centred approach to counselling and psychotherapy to clients presenting with particular issues To complement these this book focuses more on the supervisory element of the therapeutic process It brings together examples of supervision sessions from the Living Therapy series and presents each one as an example of person centred supervisory practice of person centred counselling The supervision sessions deal with a range of issues that arise when working with clients who are seeking counselling in order to resolve difficulties from a wide range of difficult human experience Each supervision session is introduced with a summary of the background and points for discussion are included at the end of each chapter to stimulate further thought and debate The book does not attempt to demonstrate a definitive way to apply person centred principles to supervision but does demonstrate core principles It will prove valuable to experienced and novice supervisors and to those uncertain about supervising counsellors working in areas outside their own professional experience It should also be read by counsellors in training who are preparing to be supervised for whom the book offers insights into this collaborative process

Counselling for Eating Disorders in Women Richard Bryant-Jefferies, 2017-11-22 Counseling for Eating Disorders in Women focuses on women whose eating patterns have generated side effects on other aspects of their lives such as work health and family Women with problems connected with over eating under eating and poor eating form a significant proportion of counselors lists with a distinctive set of problems and challenges This book adopts the unique approach of the Living Therapy series using fictitious dialogue to illustrate the person centered approach enabling the reader to experience directly the diverse and challenging issues surrounding patients This is difficult to achieve with conventional text books This book is invaluable for trainees and experienced counselors members of support organizations and women suffering from eating disorders their friends and families

Counselling a Survivor of Child Sexual Abuse Richard Bryant-Jefferies, 2017-11-22 This book provides a vivid insight into working with a client who is a survivor of child sexual abuse Using fictitious dialogue it illustrates the person centered approach and relates it to how memories can surface and the impact that this can have on the client and counselor It provides a deep insight into the counseling relationship and the counselor s use of supervision highlighting discussion points throughout to aid training and reflection It is essential reading for all counseling trainers and psychotherapists and all other health professionals dealing with people who have suffered sexual abuse in childhood

Humanising Psychiatry and Mental Health Care Rachel Freeth, 2017-11-22 This book explores in depth the link between modern psychiatric practice and the person centred approach It promotes an open dialogue between traditional rivals counsellors and psychiatrists within the NHS to assist greater understanding and improve practice Easy to read and comprehend it explains complex issues in a clear and accessible manner The author is a full time psychiatrist and qualified counsellor who offers a unique perspective drawing on personal experience Humanising Psychiatry and Mental Health Care will be of significant interest and help to all mental health professionals including psychiatrists and psychiatric nurses social care workers occupational therapists psychologists person centred counsellors and therapists Health and social care policy makers and shapers including patient groups will also find it helpful and informative Relationship Counselling - Sons and Their Mothers Richard Bryant-Jefferies, 2018-12-14 Young men trying to resolve traumatic experiences and relationship issues with their mothers is not an area that has attracted a great deal of attention and yet it is not uncommon Peter is 28 still living at home and feeling like I just don't have a life I can call my own As he tries to remedy this the reaction he gets is So where have you been What time do you call this I've been worrying about you You said you'd be back before now Any pleasure from his evening melts away and he wonders why on earth is he still in the same house as her This book uses fictitious dialogue to enable readers to experience the struggle of a young man trying to break free from the damaging and dominating influence of his mother It contains both counselling sessions and supervision sessions inviting the reader to step into the therapeutic process and experience Peter the client as he struggles to create a life for himself Michael his counsellor seeking to offer and maintain the therapeutic conditions of congruence empathy and unconditional positive regard and Suzy Michael's supervisor Practical advice reflections on the counselling process helpful summaries and points for discussion are highlighted throughout Counsellors trainees supervisors and other health and social care professionals dealing with relationships will find this book valuable reading Men who have encountered difficult relationships with their mothers are also likely to gain greater insight and find support through reading this book Person-Centred Therapy Paul Wilkins, 2015-12-14 Person centred therapy rooted in the experience and ideas of the eminent psychotherapist Carl Rogers is widely practised in the UK and throughout the world It has applications in health and social care the voluntary sector and is relevant to work with people who are severely mentally and emotionally distressed As well as being a valuable sourcebook and offering a comprehensive overview this edition includes updated references and a new section on recent developments and advances The book begins with a consideration of the principles and philosophy underpinning person centred therapy before moving to a comprehensive discussion of the classical theory upon which practice is based Further areas of discussion include The model of the person including the origins of mental and emotional distress The process of constructive change A review of revisions of and additions to person centred theory Child development styles of processing and configurations of self The quality of presence and working at relational depth Criticisms of the approach are addressed and rebutted and the application of theory to practice is discussed The new final section is concerned with advances and developments in theory and practice including Counselling for Depression The Social Dimension to Person Centred Therapy Person Centred Practice with People experiencing Severe and Enduring Distress and at the Difficult Edge A Review of Research Throughout the book attention is drawn to the wider person centred literature to which it is a valuable key Person Centred Therapy will be of particular use to students scholars and practitioners of person centred therapy as well as to anyone who wants to know more about one of the major psychotherapeutic modalities Counselling Young People Richard Bryant-Jefferies, 2017-09-07 Richard has caught wonderfully in this text the sensitivity and delicacies of therapeutic interaction as well as the complex processes through which young people have to steer in their development towards adulthood Richard's important and engaging text combines believable stories of young people with the provision of theoretical comment and developmental questions for the practitioner I trust that this book will reach a wide audience of all those who are interested in and committed to the welfare and development of young people Colin Lago in his Foreword This book goes a long way in explaining why the person centred approach is so powerful with young people It teases apart many of the fears hurts disappointments familiar problems and social assaults that encourage adolescents to close off turn to drugs and attack others After a clear and concise explanation of the theory Richard takes us on amazing journeys into the heart and mind of the clients described in the book They are struggling with many of the obstacles in the path of most children trying to grow up in this period of social toxicity The book is a real gift to anybody interested in raising and counselling young people Peggy Natiello in the Foreword

Counselling for Eating Disorders in Men Richard Bryant-Jefferies, 2018-12-07 According to the Eating Disorders Association there is a general lack of recognition of eating disorders in men making it more difficult for male patients to access specialist services although clients with problems connected with over eating under eating and poor eating form a significant proportion of counsellors lists This book focuses on men whose eating patterns have generated side effects on other aspects of their lives such as work health and family By adopting the unique approach of the Living Therapy Series using fictitious dialogue to illustrate the person centred approach the reader is able to experience directly the diverse and challenging issues surrounding patients This is difficult to achieve with conventional text books Counselling for Eating Disorders in Men provides vital insight for trainees and experienced counsellors as well as men suffering from eating disorders their friends and families It will also be of interest to members of support organisations

Counselling for Death and Dying Richard Bryant-Jefferies, 2017-11-22 This book contains forewords by Sheila Haugh and Grace H Chickadonz respectively Senior Lecturer Psychotherapy Centre for Psychological Therapies Leeds Metropolitan University Center for Human Encouragement Rochester New York USA What happens to a person emotionally psychologically and spiritually when confronted by the reality of the death of a loved one the impending death of someone close to them or their own death As with the other volumes of the Living Therapy series Counselling for Death and Dying is composed of fictitious dialogues between clients and their counsellors and between the counsellors and their supervisors Within the dialogues are woven the reflective thoughts and feelings of the clients the counsellors and the supervisors along with boxed comments on the process and references to person centred theory It is intended as much for experienced counsellors as it is for trainees and provides real insight into what can occur during counselling sessions The book will also be of great value to the many health and social care professionals who whilst they may specialise in other areas will find that the issues dealt with in this volume have impact on the work they are doing For them the text demystifies what can occur in therapy and provides useful ways of working that may be used by professionals other than counsellors Richard has a deep understanding of theory and practice and has brought this understanding to this greatly neglected area in person centred literature He has the talent as a writer to honour the client the counsellor therapist the supervisor and the process in all its intricacies Richard has produced a book that to my mind captures the pain the joy the challenge of being with someone bereaved and someone facing death The book also captures the pain and hurt and confusion of being that person who is bereaved or facing death Sheila Haugh in her Foreword What is most striking about the dialogues is the realness of the feelings present in this all too human experience as lived by the clients What is most beautiful is the relationship of acceptance shared in being in this most intimate place together as client and therapist The healing that occurs is understandable in the strength of their connectedness Grace H Chickadonz in her Foreword

Counselling for Progressive Disability Richard Bryant-Jefferies, 2018-12-14 Coming to terms with a progressive disabling disease can be a struggle not only for the personal nature of pain but the stressful impact that it can have on family and friends This book sets out to provide the reader with an experience of working with a person suffering progressive disability both in the early stages and at an advanced and more disabling stage from a person centred theoretical perspective Using fictitious dialogue it provides a real insight into what can occur during counselling sessions based on case studies at different stages of a progressive disabling disease Reflections on the process and points for discussion are included to stimulate further thought and debate and supervision as well as counselling is covered to aid further professional development Counselling for Progressive Disability person centred dialogues will be of value to many health and social care professionals who work with people with progressive disability

Counselling Young Binge Drinkers Richard Bryant-Jefferies, 2018-12-14 Young binge drinkers are becoming more and more common in society today By using case studies with fictitious clients this timely and much needed book offers the reflective thoughts and feelings of both client and counselor in a user friendly format Counselors and psychotherapists who practice or are interested in the person centered approach will find this book invaluable particularly those who work with young people It also provides vital information for youth leaders teachers and parents of young people and counselors and therapists in training
