Contact Languages A Wider Perspective Creole Language Library V 17:

Contact Languages Sarah Grey Thomason, 1997-01-01 This book contributes to a more balanced view of the most dramatic results of language contact by presenting linguistic and historical sketches of lesser known contact languages The twelve case studies offer eloquent testimony against the still common view that all contact languages are pidgins and creoles with maximally simple and essentially identical grammars They show that some contact languages are neither pidgins nor creoles and that even pidgins and creoles can display considerable structural diversity and structural complexity they also show that two language contact situations can give rise to pidgins especially when access to a target language is withheld by its speakers The chapters are arranged according to language type three focus on pidgins Hiri Motu by Tom Dutton Pidgin Delaware by Ives Goddard and Ndyuka Trio Pidgin by George L Huttar and Frank J Velantie two on creoles Kituba by Salikoko S Mufwene and Sango by Helma Pasch one on a set of pidgins and creoles Arabic based contact languages by Jonathan Owens one on the question of early pidginization and or creolization in Swahili by Derek Nurse and five on bilingual mixed languages Michif by Peter Bakker and Robert A Papen Media Lengua and Callahuaya both by Pieter Muysken and Mednyj Aleut and Ma a both by Sarah Thomason The authors collective goal is to help offset the traditional emphasis within contact language studies on pidgins and creoles that arose as an immediate result of contact with Europeans starting in the Age of Exploration The accumulation of case studies on a wide diversity of languages is needed to create a body of knowledge substantial enough to support robust generalizations about the nature and development of all types of contact language

Issues in the Study of Pidgin and Creole Languages Claire Lefebvre, 2004-01-01 The content of this book is concerned with various issues at stake in Creole studies that are also of interest for general linguistics These include the general issue of Creole genesis and of the accelerated linguistic change that characterizes the emergence of these languages as compared to ordinary cases of linguistic change the problem of the development of morphology in incipient Creoles the problem of the validity of data in linguistic analysis the issue of multifunctionality as regards the concept of lexical entry the question of whether Creole languages are semantically more transparent than languages not known as Creoles the issue of whether Creole languages constitute a typologically identifiable class and the problem of the interaction between the processes involved in the emergence and development of Creole languages The purpose of this book is to present the major debates that are currently taking place in the field of Creole studies evaluate the arguments against data mainly drawn from Haitian Creole and address the issues at stake within the framework of new paradigms The various positions on each issue are summarized on the basis of a thorough review of the literature

The Languages and Linguistics of Africa Tom Güldemann, 2018-09-10 This innovative handbook takes a fresh look at the currently underestimated linguistic diversity of Africa the continent with the largest number of languages in the world It covers the major domains of linguistics offering both a representative picture of Africa s linguistic landscape as well as new and at times unconventional perspectives The focus is not so much on exhaustiveness as on the fruitful relationship between African and general linguistics and the contributions the two domains can make to each other This volume is thus intended for readers with a specific interest in African languages and also for students and scholars within the greater discipline of linguistics

Creole Formation as Language Contact Bettina Migge, 2003-01-01 The research on the formation of radical creoles has seen an unprecedented intensification and diversification in the last 20 years This book discusses illustrates and evaluates current research on creole formation based on an in depth investigation of the processes and mechanisms that contributed to the emergence of the morphosyntactic system of the creoles of Suriname The study draws on a rich corpus of a natural conversational and elicited synchronic linguistic data from the Eastern Maroon Creole EMC and its main African substrate language Gbe b published diachronic data from the EMC s sister language Sranan Tongo and c information on the early history of Suriname coming from socio historical investigations It suggests that mechanisms of deliberate and contact induced change also involved in borrowing and particularly shift situations led to the initial formation of the creoles of Suriname while language internal change played a role in their subsequent development

Creole Studies - Phylogenetic Approaches Peter Bakker, Finn Borchsenius, Carsten Levisen, Eeva M. Sippola, 2017-05-31 This book launches a new approach to creole studies founded on phylogenetic network analysis Phylogenetic approaches offer new visualisation techniques and insights into the relationships between creoles and non creoles creoles and other contact varieties and between creoles and lexifier languages With evidence from creole languages in Africa Asia the Americas and the Pacific the book provides new perspectives on creole typology cross creole comparisons and creole semantics The book offers an introduction for newcomers to the fields of creole studies and phylogenetic analysis Using these methods to analyse a variety of linguistic features both structural and semantic the book then turns to explore old and new questions and problems in creole studies Original case studies explore the differences and similarities between creoles and propose solutions to the problems of how to classify creoles and how they formed and developed The book provides a fascinating glimpse into the unity and heterogeneity of creoles and the areal influences on their development It also provides metalinguistic discussions of the creole concept from different perspectives Finally the book reflects critically on the findings and methods and sets new agendas for future studies Creole Studies has been written for a broad readership of scholars and students in the fields of contact linguistics biolinguistics sociolinguistics language typology and semantics

Ibero-Asian Creoles Hugo C. Cardoso, Alan N. Baxter, Mário Pinharanda Nunes, 2012 Starting in 1498 contact between Ibero Romance and Asian languages has taken place along a vast stretch of the coastlines of continental and insular Asia producing a string of contact varieties which are among the least visible in the field of Creole Studies This volume the first one dedicated to the Portuguese and Spanish lexified creoles of Asia brings together comparative studies on various issues across the Ibero Asian creoles and beyond by specialists in these languages This type of cross linguistic analysis allows progress on many fronts including the reconstruction of past stages of the languages the explanation of observed similarities and differences the identification and consolidation of typological taxonomic clusters or the assessment of the linguistic effects of different contact equations The volume provides a timely window onto aspects of current research on the Ibero Asian creoles including unsettled debates and ways in which their study can contribute to advance several areas of linguistic enquiry

Creole Genesis, Attitudes and Discourse John R. Rickford, Suzanne Romaine, 1999 This collection in honor of creolist Charlene Junko Sato 1951 1996 brings together contributions by leading specialists in pidgin creole studies in three primary areas Pidgin Creole Genesis and Development Attitudes and Education and Creole Discourse and Literature The varieties covered come from English French and Spanish lexical bases and from places as far apart as Africa Australia Hawaii and the Caribbean Editors Rickford and Romaine introduce each of the papers and provide a biography and bibliography of Sato A short story and poems in Hawaiian Creole Sato's native language and the variety which was the focus of her research and writing round out the collection

Creole Discourse, 2002-01-01 Creole languages are characteristically associated with a negative image How has this prestige been formed And is it as static as the diglossic situation in many anglo creolophone societies seems to suggest This volume examines socio historical and epistemological factors in the prestige formation of Caribbean English Lexicon Creoles and subjects their classification as a socio linguistic type to scrutiny and critical debate In its analysis of rich empirical data this study also demonstrates that the uses functions and negotiations of Creole within particular social and linguistic practices have shifted considerably Rather than limiting its scope to one national speech community the discussion focusses on changes of the social meaning of Creole in various discursive fields such as inter generational changes of Creole use in the London Diaspora diachronic changes of Creole representation in written texts and diachronic changes of Creole representation in translation The study employs a discourse analytical approach drawing on linguistic models as well as Foucauldian theory

The Making of a Mixed Language Maarten Mous, 2003-01-01 The Mbugu or Ma language Tanzania is one of the few genuine mixed languages reputedly combining Bantu grammar with Cushitic vocabulary In fact the people speak two languages one mixed and one closely related to the Bantu language Pare This book is the first comprehensive description of these languages It shows that these two languages share one grammar while their lexicon is parallel In the distant past the people shifted from a Cushitic to a Bantu language and in the process rebuilt a language of their own that expresses their separate ethnic identity in a Bantu environment This linguistic history is explained in the context of the intricate history of the people The discussion of the processes that were involved in the formation of Ma a Mbugu is extremely relevant for both creole studies and for contact linguistics in general

Language Contact and Change in the Americas Andrea L. Berez-Kroeker, Diane M. Hintz, Carmen Jany, 2016-04-19 This unique collection of articles in honor of Marianne Mithun represents the very latest in research on language contact and language change in the Indigenous languages of the Americas The book aims to provide new theoretical and empirical insights into how and why languages change especially with regard to contact phenomena in languages of North America Meso America and South America The individual chapters cover a broad range of topics including sound change morphosyntactic change lexical semantics grammaticalization language endangerment and discourse pragmatic change With chapters from distinguished scholars and talented newcomers alike this book will be welcomed by anyone with an interest in internally and externally motivated language change Understanding Language Change Kate Burridge,Alexander Bergs,2016-11-03 2 Changes to the lexicon Introduction 2 1 Gaining words lexical addition 2 1 1 Compounding 2 1 2 Affixation 2 1 3 Backformation 2 1 4 Conversion 2 1 5 Abbreviation 2 1 6 Acronyms 2 1 7 Blending 2 1 8 Commonization 2 1 9 Reduplication 2 1 10 Borrowing 2 1 11 Sound symbolism 2 1 12 A final word on the processes 2 2 Losing words lexical mortality 2 2 1 Obsolescence 2 2 2 Verbicide 2 2 3 Reduction 2 2 4 Intolerable homonymy 2 3 Etymology study of the origin of words Summary Further reading Exercises Language Change and Language Contact in Pidgins and Creoles John McWhorter,2000-05-15 This book collects a selection of fifteen papers presented at three meetings of the Society for Pidgin and Creole Linguistics in 1996 and 1997 The focus is on papers which approach issues in creole studies with novel perspectives address understudied pidgin and creole varieties or compellingly argue for controversial positions The papers demonstrate how pidgins and creoles shed light on issues such as verb movement contact induced language change and its gradations discourse management via tense aspect particles language genesis substratal transfer and Universal Grammar and cover a wide range of contact languages ranging from English and French based creoles through Portuguese creoles of Africa and Asia Sango Popular Brazilian Portuguese West African Pidgin Englishes and Hawaiian Creole English Creolization and Contact Norval Smith,Tonjes Veenstra,2001-12-31 This volume contains revised and extended versions of a selection of the papers presented at The Amsterdam Workshop on Language Contact and Creolization These studies apply the concept of relexification to creoles as well as other contact languages highlight the relevance of strategies of second language learning for theories of pidgin creole genesis critically discuss the notions levelling koine formation and convergence the relation between types of contact situations and processes of crosslinguistic influence as well as the linguistic consequences of the social structure of the plantation system In addition to discussing English French and Dutch related creoles the papers cover a wide range of contact languages spoken throughout Africa Asia and Europe The breadth and coverage makes this an indispensable title for research in the field of contact linguistics Language and Slavery Jacques Arends,2017-07-26 This posthumous work by Jacques Arends offers new insights into the emergence of the creole languages of Suriname including Sranantongo or Suriname Plantation Creole Ndyuka and Saramaccan and the sociohistorical context in which they developed Drawing on a wealth of sources including little known historical texts the author points out the relevance of European settlements prior to colonization by the English in 1651 and concludes that the formation of the Surinamese creoles goes back further than generally assumed He provides an all encompassing sociolinguistic overview of the colony up to the mid 19th century and shows how ethnicity language attitude religion and location had an effect on which languages were spoken by whom The author discusses creole data gleaned from the earliest sources and interprets the attested variation The book is completed by annotated textual data both oral and written and representing different genres and stages of the Surinamese creoles It will be of interest to linguists historians anthropologists literary scholars and anyone interested in Suriname American Book Publishing Record ,1996
