Differential Geometric Foundations of Non-Equilibrium Thermodynamics Marcus Hildebrandt, 2025-02-19 While all field theories are nowadays available in a modern differential geometric coordinate free formulation on manifolds this has been so far only rudimentary accomplished in general non equilibrium thermodynamics In this work it is shown how a fitting geometric structure can be derived for arbitrary compact discrete Schottky Systems thermodynamic systems such as stars and black holes using only a few thermodynamic principles This leads to deep geometric insights Some central results are the following while in the theory of relativity the energy momentum tensor determines the geometry of the space in non equilibrium thermodynamics the 1 form of the entropy production rate is responsible for the emergence of a well known geometric structure the contact geometry Relaxation processes remain in the fibers in which they start and end on an attractor manifold that can be identified with the classical equilibrium subspace of thermostatics One then proves that outside this attractor manifold there are no reversible process directions As a consequence of this the 2nd Law of thermodynamics lives mainly on the fibers of the state manifold the so called vertical geometric structure while the 1st Law of thermodynamics is formulated on the horizontal components of the state manifold The internal energy provides a physical gauge for each fiber The 1st and 2nd Law of thermodynamics are coupled via the representation of the entropy flux 1 form that can be represented in the dual basis of exchange 1 forms such as the heat 1 form This fact can be used to provide a coordinate free invariant definition of non equilibrium temperature Finally it is shown that probably the most general geometric structure to model non equilibrium thermodynamics of compact discrete Schottky systems is given by a composite fibred cocontact phase manifold that includes time as an explicit dimension

Moll, Cathy Amanti, 2006-04-21 The concept of funds of knowledge is based on a simple premise people are competent and have knowledge and their life experiences have given them that knowledge The claim in this book is that first hand research experiences with families allow one to document

this competence and knowledge and that such engagement provides many possibilities for positive pedagogical actions Drawing from both Vygotskian and neo sociocultural perspectives in designing a methodology that views the everyday practices of language and action as constructing knowledge the funds of knowledge approach facilitates a systematic and powerful way to represent communities in terms of the resources they possess and how to harness them for classroom teaching This book accomplishes three objectives It gives readers the basic methodology and techniques followed in the contributors funds of knowledge research it extends the boundaries of what these researchers have done and it explores the applications to classroom practice that can result from teachers knowing the communities in which they work In a time when national educational discourses focus on system reform and wholesale replicability across school sites this book offers a counter perspective stating that instruction must be linked to students lives and that details of effective pedagogy should be linked to local histories and community contexts This approach should not be confused with parent participation programs although that is often a fortuitous consequence of the work described It is also not an attempt to teach parents how to do school although that could certainly be an outcome if the parents so desired Instead the funds of knowledge approach attempts to accomplish something that may be even more challenging to alter the perceptions of working class or poor communities by viewing their households primarily in terms of their strengths and resources their defining pedagogical characteristics Funds of Knowledge Theorizing Practices in Households Communities and Classrooms is a critically important volume for all teachers and teachers to be and for researchers and graduate students of language culture and education

Just For Fun Lorin Hildreth Atkins, John Hildreth Atkins, 2014-06-17 This is a book of a collection of short stories written by my now deceased father He called them humorous I call them a great example of the inner workings of a sociopath and sexual deviant Though he went out of his way not to use a swear word he did write a lot about sexual things My father was abusive and considered himself the center of the universe Everybody else was stupid and did not deserve to share the same air as him The idea that he was special was something he was taught by his mother Because of that he believed that he was above the law and absolutely above the rules those were for lesser mortals There are some funny stories in here For that reason I recommend that everybody should read it You get the best of both worlds One you get to be entertained Second you get schooled on how these degenerates think That is a huge advantage in a world gone amuck Oh and did I say that it was also entertaining Sometimes even funny
