address a wide variety of topics from the well rounded life and the value of playing games to proportionality in war and the ethics of nationalism They also share a common aim to illuminate the surprising richness and subtlety of our everyday moral thought by revealing its underlying structure which they often do by representing that structure on graphs More specifically the essays all give what the first in the volume calls structural as against foundational analyses of moral views Eschewing the grander ambition of grounding our ideas about say virtue or desert in claims that use different concepts and concern some other allegedly more fundamental topic they examine these ideas in their own right and with close attention to their details As well as illuminating their individual topics the essays illustrate the insights this structural method can yield
