Contemporary American Women Writers Catherine Rainwater, William J. Scheick, 1985-10-25 Essays examine the work of Beattie Paley Dillard Redmon Ozick Tyler Walker Kingston Morrison and Piercy and explain how they have transformed literary traditions

Contemporary American Women Writers Catherine Rainwater, William J. Scheick, 2021-05-11 Ann Beattie Annie Dillard Maxine Hong Kingston Toni Morrison Cynthia Ozick Grace Paley Marge Piercy Anne Redmon Anne Tyler and Alice Walker all seem to be especially concerned with narrative management The ten essays in this book raise new and intriguing questions about the ways these leading women writers appropriate and transform generic norms and ultimately revise literary tradition to make it more inclusive of female experience vision and expression The contributors to this volume discover diverse narrative strategies Beattie Dillard Paley and Redmon in divergent ways rely heavily upon narrative gaps surfaces and silences often suggesting depths which are lamentably absent from modern experience or which mysteriously elude language For Kingston and Walker verbal assertiveness is the focus of narratives depicting the gradual empowerment of female protagonists who learn to speak themselves into existence Ozick and Tyler disrupt conventional reader expectations of the anti novel and the family novel respectively Finally Morrison s and Piercy s works reveal how traditional narrative forms such as the Bildungsroman and the soap opera are adaptable to feminist purposes In examining the writings of these ten important women authors this book illuminates a significant moment in literary history when women s voices are profoundly reshaping American literary tradition

Contemporary American Women Fiction Writers Laurie Champion, Rhonda Austin, 2002-11-30 American women writers have long been creating an extraordinarily diverse and vital body of fiction particularly in the decades since World War II Recent authors have benefited from the struggles of their predecessors who broke through barriers that denied women opportunities for self expression This reference highlights American women writers who continue to build upon the formerly male dominated canon Included are alphabetically arranged entries for more than 60 American women writers of diverse ethnicity who wrote or published their most significant fiction after World War II Each entry is written by an expert contributor and includes L DBLA brief biography L DBLA discussion of major works and themes DBLA survey of the writer s critical reception L DBLA bibliography of primary and secondary sources

Narrative Being Vs. Narrating Being Armela Panajoti, 2015-11-25 This edited volume focuses on Anglo American modernist fiction offering challenging perspectives that consider modernism in the instances in which it transcends itself moving broadly speaking towards postmodernist self irony As such the contributions here discuss issues such as being in creation narrativizing being and creation the relation between being and narrative the situation of being in narrative time and space the relation between authority and narrative possible authority over narrative and the authority of narrative interaction between narrative and the other the authority of the other over and within the narrative and the inter referentiality of text and author Divided into two parts Towards High Modernism and After Modernism the book allows the reader to chronologically follow how authors relations to literature in general evolved with the changing world and new perspectives on the nature of reality This book offers an insightful contribution to the on going discussion on the ambiguities inherent in the concepts of author narrative and being and will stimulate intellectual confrontation and circulation of ideas within the field Challenging Realities:

Recalling Religions Peter Kerry Powers,2001 Peter Powers brings together critical sophistication in both theology and cultural history while also demonstrating superior skills at literary analysis There are few books that address the role of religion in American fiction let alone ethnic American fiction None do so in so profoundly revisionary a way as this Joseph T Skerrett Jr University of Massachusetts Amherst In Recalling Religions Peter Kerry Powers demonstrates the pervasive influence of religion in the literature produced by ethnic women writers in late twentieth century America Through close readings of works by Alice Walker Maxine Hong Kingston Leslie Marmon Silko and Cynthia Ozick the author shows how particular religious traditions have served as a resource for ethnic women enabling them to sustain their communities in the face of oppression Powers s analysis serves as an important corrective to earlier investigations of literature and religion Too often he argues such studies have functioned with an abstract or individualistic notion of religion thus downplaying the significance of ethnic traditions and practices Other studies have emphasized the religious traditions of discrete groups but have failed to see the points of contact and common purpose between different ethnic experiences By examining writers with disparate religious heritages Powers introduces important new insights He finds that even as traditions and cultural memories have nurtured ethnic women writers their works have frequently rewritten or recreated such traditions for the present day seeking for instance to overcome or transcend the sexism that may have characterized earlier periods In its explorations of Walker Kingston Silko and Ozick Recalling Religions identifies broader trends that further our understanding of both American literature and religious culture The Author Peter Kerry Powers is associate professor of English at Messiah College in Grantham Pennsylvania His articles and reviews have appeared in South Atlantic Review African American Review American Literature MELUS and other publications

A Literary Shema Lori A. Kanitz,2020-02-10 For the duration of her writing career Pulitzer Prize winning author Annie Dillard has unflinchingly asked and kept on asking enormous and difficult questions What is the relation of Creator to creation Why is there evil and unjust suffering How do we make meaning of our experiences Who is responsible for redeeming the world s brokenness Moreover she has done so in every genre within the impressive range of her canon her poetry literary nonfiction novels autobiography literary criticism and memoirs Two enduring influences have shaped Dillard s cosmos spanning questions and their metanarratives Christianity and Jewish mysticism particularly Hasidism and Isaac Luria's Kabbalism Though much scholarly attention has been paid to the influence of Christian mysticism in Dillard's work none has yet explored the role of her lifelong interest in Jewish mystical traditions This book seeks to fill that scholarly gap and demonstrate how Dillard's theological vision and voice both reflect and enact central features of Hasidic and Kabbalistic thought resulting in what could be called Dillard's literary shema

Contemporary American Women Writers Lois Parkinson Zamora, 2017-09-29 This collection brings together critical essays that examine questions of identity and community in the fiction of contemporary American women writers among them Alice Walker Toni Morrison and Sandra Cisneros The essays consider how identities and societies are dramatized in particular works of fiction and how these works reflect cultural communities outside the fictional frame often the communities in which their authors live and work The essays included here concern fictional representations of African American Latino Asian American Native American Anglo and Euro American communities and their working interactions in the multicultural United States Each critic asks in his or her own way how a particular writer transforms her social grounding into language and literature The introduction includes an overview of the range of literary criticism devoted to contemporary American women writers and an extensive bibliography of complementary critical readings is provided to encourage further study Undergraduate and postgraduate students of contemporary literature will find the text an invaluable guide to contemporary women's writing in America and the range of criticism that this has given rise to Black Women Novelists and the Nationalist Aesthetic Madhu Dubey, 1994 Focus on the works of Toni Morrison Gaye Jones and Alice Walker

Women's Poetry of the First World War Nosheen Khan, 1988-01-01 Through the Window, Out the Door Janis P. Stout, 2020-11-10 This informative and provocative study focuses on the centrality of departure in the texts of five major American women novelists An important moment in many novels and poems by American women writers occurs when a central character looks out a window or walks out the door of a house These acts of departure serve to convey such values as the rejection of constraining social patterns the search for individual fulfillment and the entry into the political Janis Stout examines such moments and related patterns of venture and travel in the fiction of five major American novelists of the 20th century Mary Austin Willa Cather Anne Tyler Toni Morrison and Joan Didion Stout views these five writers within a spectrum of narrative engagements with issues of home and departure a spectrum anchored at one end by Sarah Orne Jewett and at the other by Marilynne Robinson whose Housekeeping posits a vision of female transience Through the Window Out the Door ranges over an expansive territory Moving between texts as well as between texts and contexts Stout shows how women writers have envisioned the walls of physical and social structures including genres as permeable boundaries drawing on both a rhetoric of liberation and a rhetoric of domesticity to construct narrative arguments for women's right to move freely between the two Stout concludes with a personal essay on the dilemmas of domesticity and the ambivalence of departure endangered teenage girls Works like Mary Pipher's Reviving Ophelia and many others have contributed to the general perception that contemporary young women are in a state of crisis Parents educators social scientists and other concerned individuals worry that our nation's girls are losing their ambition moral direction and self esteem as they enter adolescence which can then lead them to promiscuous sex anorexia drug abuse and at the very least declining math scores In spite of evidence to the contrary in life and literature this bleak picture is seldom challenged but a good place to begin may be with recent literary representations of young women fictional and autobiographical which show proud young women who are highly focused and use their brains and good humor to work toward satisfying adult lives This book addresses the ways in which 12 women writers use their heroines stories to challenge commonly held and frequently damaging notions of adolescence femininity and regional identity The book begins with a chapter on sociological and literary theories of adolescent female development This chapter also includes theoretically informed discussions of young adult fiction and Southern literature Chapters that follow focus on adolescent heroines in the novels and autobiographies of the contemporary Southern women writers Anne Tyler Bobbie Ann Mason Josephine Humphreys Dorothy Allison Kaye Gibbons Tina Ansa Janisse Ray and Jill McCorkle and young adult writers Katherine Paterson Mildred Taylor and Cynthia Voigt Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here

The New Southern Girl Caren J. Town, 2015-01-24 Much has been written about America's troubled teens particularly

Text, Context and Construction of Identity Rajesh Kumar,Om Prakash,2019-04-30 Language is central to our existence and it happens to be the most sophisticated product of the human mind It is inconceivable to think of ourselves our societies our ideas cultures or identities without language It is the primary means of socialization and whatever we know is a result of it It is the primary medium of construction and dissemination of knowledge and structures our thought processes in important ways that constitute our identity In very complex ways it interacts with the social political and economic power structures that remain significant in defining the identities of individuals and societies The essays in this volume create an awareness and understanding about the role of linguistic context in negotiating identity The book explains identity and the complex relations between language and several aspects of our society It explores identity through text and context and will serve to trigger a novel discourse around the centrality of identity in contemporary society
