Governing Through Markets Benjamin William Cashore, Graeme Auld, Deanna Newsom, 2004-01-01 In this important book Lawrence Sager a leading constitutional theorist offers a lucid understanding and compelling defence of American constitutional practice Sager treats judges as active partners in the enterprise of securing the fundamentals of political justice and sees the process of constitutional adjudication as a promising and distinctly democratic addition to that enterprise But his embrace of the constitutional judiciary is not unqualified Judges in Sager's view should and do stop short of enforcing the whole of the Constitution and the Supreme Court should welcome rather than condemn the efforts of Congress to pick up the slack Among the surprising fruit of this justice seeking account of American

French, 2000 First Published in 2009 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Things Fall Apart? Pauline von Hellermann, 2013-09-01 Governance failure and corruption are increasingly identified as key causes of tropical deforestation In Nigeria s Edo State once the showcase of scientific forestry in West Africa large scale forest conversion and the virtual depletion of timber stocks are invariably attributed to recent failures in forest management and are seen as yet another instance of how things fall apart in Nigeria Through an in depth historical and ethnographic study of forestry in Edo State this book challenges this routine linking of political and ecological crisis narratives It shows that the roots of many of today s problems lie in scientific forest management itself rather than its recent abandonment and moreover that many illegal local practices improve rather than reduce biodiversity and forest cover The book therefore challenges preconceptions about contemporary Nigeria and highlights the need to reevaluate current understandings of what constitutes good governance in tropical forestry
