Cyberspace/Cyberbodies/Cyberpunk Mike Featherstone, Roger Burrows, 1996-01-29 How can we interpret cyberspace What is the place of the embodied human agent in the virtual world This innovative collection examines the emerging arena of cyberspace and the challenges it presents for the social and cultural forms of the human body It shows how changing relations between body and technology offer new arenas for cultural representations At the same time the contributors examine the realities of human embodiment and the limits of virtual worlds Topics examined include technological body modifications replacements and prosthetics bodies in cyberspace virtual environments and cyborg culture cultural representations of technological embodiment in visual and literary productions and cyberpunk science fiction as a pre figurative social and cultural theory Cyberspace/cyberbodies/cyberpunk ,2000 Cyberspace, Cyberbodies, Cyberpunk Mike Featherstone, Roger Burrows, 1995 Cyberspace/cyberbodies/cyberpunk Mike Featherstone, Roger Burrows, 1995 This book investigates the realities of human embodiment and the limits of virtual worlds and covers many topics It will be of interest to academics and students in cultural studies popular culture communication sociology of culture and philosophy

The Television Studies Reader Robert Clyde Allen, Annette Hill, 2004 The Television Studies Reader brings together key writings in the expanding field of television studies providing an overview of the discipline and addressing issues of industry genre audiences production and ownership and representation The Reader charts the ways in which television and television studies are being redefined by new and alternative ways of producing broadcasting and watching TV such as cable satellite and digital broadcasting home video internet broadcasting and interactive TV as well as exploring the recent boom in genres such as reality TV and docusoaps It brings together articles from leading international scholars to provide perspectives on television programmes and practices from around the world acknowledging both television s status as a global medium and the many and varied local contexts of its production and reception Articles are grouped in seven themed sections each with an introduction by the editors Institutions of Television Spaces of Television Modes of Television Making Television Social Representation on Television Watching Television Transforming Television The Handbook of the Psychology of Communication Technology S. Shyam Sundar, 2015-03-16 The Handbook of the Psychology of Communication Technology offers an unparalleled source for seminal and cutting edge research on the psychological aspects of communicating with and via emergent media technologies with leading scholars providing insights that advance our knowledge on human technology interactions A uniquely focused review of extensive research on technology and digital media from a psychological perspective Authoritative chapters by leading scholars studying psychological aspects of communication technologies Covers all forms of media from Smartphones to Robotics from Social Media to Virtual Reality Explores the psychology behind our use and abuse of modern communication technologies New theories and empirical findings about ways in which our lives are transformed by digital media Transhumanism as a Challenge for Ethics and Religion Robert Petkovsek, Bojan Zalec, 2021 The crucial question of our time is How to preserve humanity humanitas in a world of radical and not so long ago practically unimaginable technological possibilities The book addresses this issue through its treatment of transhumanism a diverse movement the representatives of which promise and advocate for the enhancement of human being through modern science technology and pharmacology Their views differ in the degree of extremity and they contain many ambiguities as well as pitfalls and dangers that require an answer from both ethical and religious points of view The book deepens the understanding of transhumanism in an interdisciplinary way and thus helps to form the right attitude towards it that will truly benefit human flourishing It offers a rich variety of views on transhumanism ranging from its illumination in the light of contemporary research into happiness through liberal eugenics and biopolitics all the way to its considerations in terms of religions and manifestations in concrete works of art Liquid Metal Sean Redmond, 2005-01-19 Liquid Metal brings together seminal essays that have opened up the study of science fiction to serious critical interrogation Eight distinct sections cover such topics as the cyborg in science fiction the science fiction city time travel and the primal scene science fiction fandom and the 1950s invasion narratives Important writings by Susan Sontag Vivian Sobchack Steve Neale J P Telotte Peter Biskind and Constance Penley are included New Media Leah A. Lievrouw, Sonia M. Livingstone, 2009 Ethnographies of the Videogame Dr Helen Thornham, 2013-01-28 Ethnographies of the Videogame uses the medium of the videogame to explore wider significant sociological issues around new media interaction identity performance memory and mediation Addressing questions of how we interpret mediate and use media texts particularly in the face of claims about the power of new media to continuously shift the parameters of lived experience gaming is employed as a tool through which we can understand the gendered and socio culturally constructed phenomenon of our everyday engagement with media The book is particularly concerned with issues of agency and power identifying strong correlations between perceptions of gaming and actual gaming practices as well as the reinforcement through gaming of established gendered sexed and classed power relationships within households As such it reveals the manner in which existing relations re emerge through engagement with new technology Offering an empirically grounded understanding of what goes on when we mediate technology and media in our everyday lives Ethnographies of the Videogame is more than a timely intervention into game studies It provides pertinent and reflexive commentary on the relationship between text and audience highlighting the relationships of gender and power in gaming practice As such it will appeal to scholars interested in media and new media gender and class and the sociology of leisure Cities and Urban Cultures Deborah Stevenson, 2003-04-16 What is distinctive about urban life What key trends have shaped the contemporary city How have the city and urban cultures been explained by sociology and cultural studies This is the first book to explore cities and urban life from the perspectives of both sociology and cultural theory Through an interdisciplinary approach and use of case material the book demonstrates that the real city of physicality and struggle and the imagined city of representations are entwined in the construction of urban cultures Starting with a comparison of the rural and the urban the book considers ways of imagining the city and of conceptualising urban cultures It goes on to investigate the implications of several pivotal urban and cultural trends such as the use of the arts and local cultures in city re imaging and the ways in which modernism postmodernism and globalisation have shaped the built environment and the orientation of academic enquiry Also examined is the way in which representations of the urban landscape in film literature art and popular texts have informed dominant ideas about the way certain city spaces including city centres urban waterfronts and so called global cities should look function and feel Designed as a text for undergraduate courses in cultural studies sociology and wider social science this book traces the development of urban environments from the nineteenth century to the present and illuminates the nature of urban life

Critical and Cultural Theory Dani Cavallaro,2001-01-01 This radical new book brings together the key concepts issues and debates in critical and cultural theory today Each chapter presents a self contained analysis of each concept as well providing a range of discussion questions and further reading Throughout text links connect related material across chapters enabling the reader to pursue their own line of disciplinary or cross disciplinary inquiry

Handbook of Imagination and Culture Tania Zittoun,Vlad Petre Glăveanu,2018 Imagination allows individuals and groups to think beyond the here and now to envisage alternatives to create parallel worlds and to mentally travel through time Imagination is both extremely personal for example people imagine unique futures for themselves and deeply social as our imagination is fed with media and other shared representations As a result imagination occupies a central position within the life of mind and society Expanding the boundaries of disciplinary approaches the Handbook of Imagination and Culture expertly illustrates this core role of imagination in the development of children adolescents adults and older persons today Bringing together leading scholars in sociocultural psychology and neighboring disciplines from around the world this edited volume guides readers towards a much deeper understanding of the conditions of imagining its resources its constraints and the consequences it has on different groups of people in different domains of society Summarily this Handbook places imagination at the center and offers readers new ways to examine old questions regarding the possibility of change development and innovation in modern society

Fan Cultures Matthew Hills,2003-09-02 Emphasising the contradictions of fandom Matt Hills outlines how media fans have been conceptualised in cultural theory

Drawing on case studies of specific fan groups from Elvis impersonators to X-Files and Trekkers Hills discusses a range of approaches to fandom from the Frankfurt School to psychoanalytic readings and asks whether the development of new media creates the possibility of new forms of fandom. Fan Cultures also explores the notion of fan cults or followings considering how media fans perform the distinctions of cult status. Wearing Embodied Emotions Sevil Uğur, 2013-04-09 Today people are in an era of digitally mediated Human to Human Interaction which cannot provide full sensorial contact and therefore emotions cannot be communicated completely. The intimate cover of the human body i.e. garment is the interface where many personal traits are embodied. With the improvements in textile and electronics industry this embodiment can be carried on a higher level where the garments become dynamic interfaces and extensions of the human body. This book consists of a research on skin clothes and technology as extensions of human body emotions technology mediated emotions and a design practice that explores the communicative level of wearable technology through turning it into a living surface which can convert intangible data to tangible in order to provide an emotional communication. This book aims to show how Human Technology interaction is carried into an alternative context where technology dissolves in use and starts serving for enhancing HHI. Screenplay Keri Facer, John Furlong, Ruth Furlong, Rosamund Sutherland, 2003-12-16 What are young people really doing on computers at home? Computers feature heavily in the lives of today's young people and this book sets out to question commonplace assumptions about the use of technology by children at home. Bringing together research from the perspective of psychology sociology education and media studies the authors ask whether we are really witnessing the rise of a new digital generation. Drawing upon the results of their in depth research project the authors filter and assess their findings accessibly offering fascinating reading on how computers are used in the home how parents and children negotiate access to and use of the computer what role the computer plays in the day to day lives of families. This book makes use of illuminating case studies and highlights key issues of concern around issues of equality and access in a wider social context. This truly interdisciplinary perspective will be instrumental in reshaping the understanding of teachers ICT advisors policy makers and all involved in ICT for children. Representations of Technology in Science Fiction for Young People,

Gender, Race, and Class in Media Gail Dines, 2003 Gender Race and Class in Media examines the mass media as economic and cultural institutions that shape our social identities. Through analyses of popular mass media entertainment genres such as talk shows soap operas television sitcoms advertising and pornography students are invited to engage in critical mass media scholarship. A comprehensive introductory section outlines the book's integrated approach to media studies which incorporates three distinct but related areas of investigation the political economy of production textual analysis and audience response. The readings include a dozen new original essays edited for maximum accessibility. The book provides A comprehensive critical introduction to Media Studies An analysis of race that is integrated into all chapters Articles on Cultural Studies that are accessible to undergraduates An extensive bibliography and section on media resources

Expanded coverage of queer representations in mass media A new section on the violence debates A new section on the Internet Together with new section introductions these provide a comprehensive critical introduction to mass media studies
