surviving historical and archaeological data concerning Cyprus is unique in that it expresses both local and regional characteristics. By investigating the various threads whether textual numismatic architectural or artistic narrative has emerged that challenges our past assumptions. The themes covered in this volume developed from a conference held in Nicosia organized by the Cyprus American Archaeological Research Institute CAARI celebrating the 50th year anniversary of the Republic of Cyprus. An international group of experts explored several themes such as the impact of recent archaeological discoveries, the shift from studying Late Antique urbanism to rural development, indicators of Cypriot identity, shifts in population, settlement, production and trade, cultural interaction between Islam and Christianity, the significance of ceramic and numismatic evidence, monumental figural arts and their iconographical interpretation. The resulting chapters provide new and previously unpublished data and should be considered a major contribution to Late Antique and Medieval studies.

From Aphrodite to Melusine Matteo Campagnolo, Marielle Martiniani-Reber, 2007. From October 2006 to March 2007 the rich cultural heritage of Cyprus from the classical period to the fifteenth century was on display at the Geneva Musée d'art et d'histoire. During the exhibition the Consulate General of Cyprus organised a series of public lectures on various aspects of Cypriot history and culture which are collected in the present scholarly volume.
