Aggression and Community David D. Gilmore, Indirect and Direct Aggression Karin Österman, 2010 Indirect and Direct Aggression consists of 24 chapters written by distinguished scholars within the field of aggression research covering indirect aggression bullying in schools adult bullying and societal and biological aspects of aggression Indirect aggression is the most typical form of aggression used by women in most cultures It is an aggressive strategy that is carried out by means of social manipulation that enables the perpetrator to go unnoticed and thereby escape retaliation Knowledge about indirect aggression and its mechanisms is crucial for all anti bullying efforts among children and adults alike Although briefly covered in early research on human aggression the study of indirect aggression originates beginning from the mid 1980s from a research group in Finland lead by Professor Kaj Bj rkgvist of bo Akademi University The book can be used as a textbook at university level Encyclopedia of Victimology and Crime Prevention Bonnie S. Fisher, Steven P. Lab, 2010-02-02 Victimology and crime prevention are growing interrelated areas cutting across several disciplines Victimology examines victims of all sorts of criminal activity from domestic abuse to street violence to victims in the workplace who lose jobs and pensions due to malfeasance by corporate executives Crime prevention is an important companion to victimology because it offers insight and techniques to prevent situations that lead to crime and attempts to offer ideas and means for mitigating or minimizing the potential for victimization In many ways the two fields have developed along parallel yet separate paths and the literature on both has been scattered across disciplines as varied as sociology law and criminology public health and medicine political science and public policy economics psychology and human services and more The Encyclopedia of Victimology and Crime Prevention provides a comprehensive reference work bringing together such dispersed knowledge as it outlines and discusses the status of victims within the criminal justice system and topics of deterring and preventing victimization in the first place and responding to victims needs Two volumes containing approximately 375 signed entries provide users with the most authoritative and comprehensive reference resource available on victimology and crime prevention both in terms of breadth and depth of coverage In addition to standard entries leading scholars in the field have contributed Anchor Essays that in broad strokes provide starting points for investigating the more salient victimology and crime prevention topics A representative sampling of general topic areas covered includes interpersonal and domestic violence child maltreatment and elder abuse street violence hate crimes and terrorism treatment of victims by the media courts police and politicians community response to crime victims physical design for crime prevention victims of nonviolent crimes deterrence and prevention helping and counseling crime victims international and comparative perspectives and more of Medicine, Board on Global Health, Forum on Global Violence Prevention, 2013-03-06 The past 25 years have seen a major paradigm shift in the field of violence prevention from the assumption that violence is inevitable to the recognition that violence is preventable Part of this shift has occurred in thinking about why violence occurs and where intervention points might lie In exploring the occurrence of violence researchers have recognized the tendency for violent acts to cluster to spread from place to place and to mutate from one type to another Furthermore violent acts are often preceded or followed by other violent acts In the field of public health such a process has also been seen in the infectious disease model in which an agent or vector initiates a specific biological pathway leading to symptoms of disease and infectivity. The agent transmits from individual to individual and levels of the disease in the population above the baseline constitute an epidemic Although violence does not have a readily observable biological agent as an initiator it can follow similar epidemiological pathways On April 30 May 1 2012 the Institute of Medicine IOM Forum on Global Violence Prevention convened a workshop to explore the contagious nature of violence Part of the Forum's mandate is to engage in multisectoral multidirectional dialogue that explores crosscutting evidence based approaches to violence prevention and the Forum has convened four workshops to this point exploring various elements of violence prevention The workshops are designed to examine such approaches from multiple perspectives and at multiple levels of society In particular the workshop on the contagion of violence focused on exploring the epidemiology of the contagion describing possible processes and mechanisms by which violence is transmitted examining how contextual factors mitigate or exacerbate the issue Contagion of Violence Workshop Summary covers the major topics that arose during the 2 day workshop It is organized by important elements of the infectious disease model so as to present the contagion of violence in a larger context and in a more compelling and comprehensive way Children with Aggression and Conduct Problems Michael L.
