challenges the belief that cities will eventually disappear as territorial forms of social organization as new information technologies permit the articulation of social processes without regard for distance arguing that the specific role of cities will become more important and proposing that a dynamic and creative relationship be built up between the local and the global In this way cities will remain the focus of social organization political management and cultural expression equipped to deal with the enormous social and environmental problems of urbanization Omnibus Transportation Bill: Hearings, Jan. 24-27, 1939 United States. Congress. House. Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce,1939 Engines John L.
