Aging In Rural America

Elaine Jurkowski

Aging In Rural America:

Aging in Rural America Carroll Wetzel Wilkinson, 1982 Rural Aging in 21st Century America Nina Glasgow, E. Helen Berry, 2012-12-14 This book investigates sociological demographic and geographic aspects of aging in rural and nonmetropolitan areas of the United States Population aging is one of the most important trends of the 20th and 21st centuries and it is occurring worldwide especially in more developed countries such as the United States Population aging is more rapid in rural than urban areas of the U S In 2010 15 percent of the nonmetropolitan compared to 12 percent of the metropolitan population were 65 years of age and older By definition rural communities have smaller sized populations and more limited healthcare transportation and other aging relevant services than do urban areas It is thus especially important to study and understand aging in rural environments Rural Aging in 21st Century America contributes evidence based policy relevant information on rural aging in the U S A primary objective of the book is to improve understanding of what makes the experience of rural aging different from aging in urban areas and to increase understanding of the aged change the nature of rural places The book addresses unique features of rural aging across economic racial ethnic migration and other structures and patterns all with a focus on debunking myths about rural aging and to emphasize opportunities and challenges that rural places and older people experience Aging in Rural Places Elaine Jurkowski, 2014-09-08 Research documents that rural elders are poorer live in less adequate housing and have far fewer health and service options available to them than their urban counterparts yet there is a critical lack of current and detailed information on the problems facing rural elders and on the professional practices that serve this population This text fills this gap by introducing readers to rural areas and their residents and discussing the issues programs and policies designed to meet their needs Through a multidisciplinary lens it examines and defines specific competencies required for successful work with older adults and their families in these communities The text presents a research driven competency based approach for the health and human service professionals who work with older rural residents It discusses both the problems facing older adults and their families and evidence based solutions regarding policy and best practices Key issues examined include health and wellness transportation housing long term care income employment and retirement along with the needs of special populations ethnic minorities immigrants and the LGBT population Case examples reinforce an interdisciplinary model that addresses practice with rural elders that encompasses professional competencies values and ethics and the roles of a spectrum of health and human service professionals The text also examines current policies affecting health and social services to rural elders and recommendations for policy change to build an effective health and human service workforce in rural communities In addition the text provides discussion questions PowerPoint slides a test question bank and suggested activities and exercises Key Features Fills a vacuum regarding information on health and social services for rural elders Provides current and comprehensive knowledge about issues besetting this population and programs and policies designed to meet their needs

Examines and defines specific competencies required for effective health and social services Based on a research driven competency based interdisciplinary approach to policy and best practice Rural America ,2002 The Aged in Rural America John Krout,1986-03-18 The aged in Rural America Healthy Aging in Rural America United States. Congress. Senate. Special Committee on Aging,2001 New Governance for Rural America Beryl A. Radin,1996 An excellent addition to our understanding of rural development and intergovernmental management Its solid scholarship enlightened conceptual framework and clear writing style make it a welcome addition to the field of public policy and administration B J Reed University of Nebraska at Omaha Aging in Rural America C. Neil Bull,1993 Focusing on some of the major issues that have arisen in research of the rural elderly contributors to this book review the literature highlight the controversies and examine methodological and substantive issues in research An introductory section looks at the demographic characteristics of the rural elderly Issues related to resource development are then examined looking at the rural elderly in terms of their social needs their economic contributions to communities the development of senior centres as community focal points and the need for transportation alternatives Physical and mental health issues are also discussed and finally attention is given to social support such as home and community care The Role of the Church in Aging: Implications for policy and action Michael C. Hendrickson,1985 This informative volume examines the multidimensional nature of aging identifies key issues involved in meeting the needs of the growing numbers of older adults and suggests effective methods of mobilizing resources to better meet the needs of the aging population Aging in Rural America United States. Congress. Senate. Special Committee on Aging,2009 Hearings, Reports and Prints of the Senate Special Committee on Aging United States. Congress. Senate. Special Committee on Aging,1977 Quick Bibliography Series ,1976 The Future of Aging in Rural America C. Neil Bull,Share Bane,1992 Problems of Aging Women United States. Congress. House. Select Committee on Aging,1982 The War on Poverty as it Affects Older Americans United States. Congress. Senate. Special Committee on Aging,1965 Active and Healthy Aging and Quality of Life: Interventions and Outlook for the Future, volume II Shekhar Chauhan,Petra Heidler,David Jean Simon,2024-09-10 The continuous growth of older populations as a consequence of demographic changes is a huge global challenge The growing proportion of older adults not only burdens the healthcare system specifically in developing countries but also posits a challenge at the household level specifically in nuclear and one person households For societies as a whole to avoid costly and negative effects it is crucial to increase their knowledge of how to promote good health among older adults so that they can live longer and enjoy a better quality of life Active aging is the process of optimizing opportunities for health participation and security in order to enhance quality of life as people age An active and healthy life has remained one of the most important aspirations for all people both young and older adults alike This ambition has become a genuine possibility for many due to a rising life expectancy among people of diverse attributes across the world While celebrating longer life and more financial security in later life than ever before we need to challenge how these aspirations can be sustained through our own behavioral responses and through public policy institutional reforms and innovations The challenge is to identify recommend and promote strategies and interventions that stimulate and sustain the activity independence and health of people of all ages especially older adults and in the process promote the well being and quality of life of people and make public welfare systems more sustainable
