Transnational Land Grabs and Restitution in an Age of the (De-) Militarised New Scramble for Africa: A Pan African Socio-Legal Warikandwa, Tapiwa V., Nhemachena, Artwell, 2017-09-26 One of the fundamental challenges in deconstructing rethinking and remaking the world from a Pan African vantage point is that some captives have tended to delight in the warmth of the imperial predator's mouth In other words some captives forget that the imperial predator's mouth gets warm because empire is eating and heating up from prey on the continent De Militarisation Transnational Land Grabs and Restitution in an Age of the New Scramble for Africa A Pan African Socio Legal Perspective is a book that knocks on key aspects relating to land militarisation a PostAfrican World Order and a chaotic Post God World Order which require critical scholarly and policy attention in the quest to free Africa from centuries old imperial depredations The book carefully navigates the imperial entrapments which are designed to focus African attention only on decolonising African minds without also engaging in the imperially more unsettling decolonisation of African materialities

Gender and Agrarian Reforms Susie Jacobs, 2013-05-13 The redistribution of land has profound implications for women and for gender relations however gender issues have been marginalised from both theoretical and policy discussions of agrarian reform This book presents an overview of gender and agrarian reform experiences globally Jacobs highlights case studies from Latin America Asia Africa and eastern Europe and also compares agrarian and land reforms organised along collective lines as well as along individual household lines This volume will be of interest to scholars in Geography Women s Studies and Economics

The History of Development Gilbert Rist, 2002-10 With all its hopes of a more just and materially prosperous world development has fascinated societies in both North and South Looking at this collective fancy in retrospect Gilbert Rist shows the underlying similarities of its various theories and strategies and their shared inability to transform the world He argues persuasively that development has always been a kind of collective delusion which in reality has simply promoted a widening of market relations despite the good intentions of its advocates

Water Development and Poverty Reduction I.H. Olcay Ünver, Rajiv K. Gupta, Aysegul Kibaroglu, 2012-12-06 In the book s four Parts the interdisciplinary approach to many issues contributes to the relationship between water and poverty Part I includes articles on the conceptual and methodological issues concerning poverty reduction through water resources development It also offers analysis of quantitative measurements of poverty reduction including some approaches for creating a Water Poverty Index Part II considers the institutional frameworks for management of water and poverty reduction Topics range from community based decision making to international leadership Part III encompasses discussions on participatory irrigation management and the privatization of urban water supplies and sewerage and the link to poverty Case studies from India Turkey and Jordan make up Part IV The studies present diverse water management and development practices for poverty reduction including realistic pricing and effective irrigation practices the use of water as an engine for sustainable development small and large scale strategies for reducing the risks and uncertainties in water availability and food security the economic value of improved water supplies and the positive impact of small scale development projects

Reclaiming Nature James K. Boyce, Sunita Narain, Elizabeth A. Stanton, 2007 In Reclaiming Nature leading environmental thinkers from across the globe explore the relationship between human activities and the natural This is a bold and comprehensive text of major interest to both students of the environment and professionals involved in policy making

Retooling Global Development and Governance Rob Vos, Manuel Montes, 2014-02-13 In Retooling Global Development and Governance a team of UN experts debate new ideas about how to overcome deficiencies in the ongoing process of globalization and in the existing mechanisms for global economic governance They do not claim to offer a blueprint rather a set of ideas that could become the basis for a coherent toolbox designed to guide development policies and international cooperation Promising directions for reform discussed in the book include Strengthening government capacities for formulating and implementing national development strategies New strategies for ensuring that official development assistance is aligned with national priorities Enhancing international trade and financial systems so that countries with limited capabilities can successfully integrate into the global economy Creating new mechanisms for dealing with deficiencies such as specialized multilateral frameworks through which to govern international migration and labour mobility international financial regulation multinational corporations and global value chains regulation and sovereign debt workouts Above all the book highlights the need for a strong mechanism for global economic coordination to establish coherence across all areas of global economic governance Apostles of Development David C. Engerman, 2025-05-30 The battle against global poverty that began after World War II was a major undertaking engaging economists engineers and organizations Featuring front and centre were six remarkable economists Amartya Sen Manmohan Singh Mahbub ul Haq Jagdish Bhagwati Rehman Sobhan and Lal Jayawardena all born as colonial subjects in the British Empire and studied at Cambridge University They represented a new figure on the world scene the Third World development expert and played a crucial role in global debates about poverty and development Apostles of Development examines their different economic doctrines and the ongoing debate surrounding economic theory in poor countries compared to rich ones The lives of these apostles reveal how development did not begin with textbooks but with real world attempts to solve very specific and pressing problems Finally the book emphasizes that development was a Global South project first and foremost aiming to improve the conditions of the world's poorest countries It challenges the conventional wisdom that sees development only as a tool of rich countries to dominate or as proof of their humanitarian spirit It argues that development succeeds not when it follows ideological prescriptions but when it looks for what works The fading of grand visions shaped by ideological concerns has been one of the lasting effects of the end of the Cold War The book argues that the best way forward is determined modesty focusing on practical matters such as addressing gross inequality and insisting that development means more than just economic growth Given the salience of questions of economic inequality and the constant visibility of the promises and problems of economic development in the world today this is a timely and important read

Complex Systems Theory and Development Practice Samir Rihani, 2002 Ranging over a wide terrain of social political and economic thinking and specific country experiences the author explains the key concepts in complex systems theory and their possible applications in development practice He examines various development issues and institutions in the light of what he sees as the limitations of rigid linear thinking in an essentially fluid non linear world Little wonder he concludes that the results of half a century of development effort have been so disappointing BOOK JACKET

Reclaiming the Land Sam Moyo, Paris Yeros, 2013-07-04 Rural movements have recently emerged to become some of the most important social forces in opposition to neoliberalism From Brazil and Mexico to Zimbabwe and the Philippines rural movements of diverse political character but all sharing the same social basis of dispossessed peasants and unemployed workers have used land occupations and other tactics to confront the neoliberal state This volume brings together for the first time across three continents Africa Latin America and Asia an intellectually consistent set of original investigations into this new generation of rural social movements These country studies seek to identify their social composition strategies tactics and ideologies to assess their relations with other social actors including political parties urban social movements and international aid agencies and other institutions and to examine their most common tactic the land occupation its origins pace and patterns as well as the responses of governments and landowners At a more fundamental level this volume explores the ways in which two decades of neoliberal policy including new land tenure arrangements intended to hasten the commodification of land and new land uses linked to global markets have undermined the social reproduction of the rural labour force and created the conditions for popular resistance The volume demonstrates the longer term potential impact of these movements In economic terms they raise the possibility of tackling immiseration by means of the redistribution of land and the reorganisation of production on a more efficient and socially responsible basis And in political terms breaking the power of landowners and transnational capital with interests in land could ultimately open the way to an alternative pattern of capital accumulation and development

Poverty Orientated Agricultural and Rural Development Hartmut Brandt,Uwe Otzen,2006-12-20 Over the last twenty years the proportion of development cooperation resources earmarked for agricultural development has dwindled to between six and seven per cent of total bi and multilateral Official Development Assistance This is despite the fact that eighty per cent of the world s poor live in rural agricultural areas and that the poor are disproportionately affected when political military and natural events lead to regional or global food shortages Brandt and Otzen s key book fills a gap in current literature undertaking a wide ranging conceptual reorientation of development cooperation criticizing the current orthodoxy and its bias towards urban areas and arguing that in order to effectively alleviate poverty across the world agricultural and rural development measures need to be implemented both by central and subnational governments aid agencies and the private sector The authors investigate the world food question the current pressures it is under and its link to rural poverty and set out the policies that need to be undertaken to reduce global poverty

Reforming Land and Resource Use in South Africa Paul Hebinck,Charlie Shackleton,2010-11-23 This book debates the emergent proprieties of rural and peri urban South Africa since land and agrarian reforms were initiated after the transition to democracy in 1994 It explores how these reforms have broadened options for the use of land and natural resources Reform minded policies in South Africa have assumed that if access to land and other natural resources is less problematic the use of these resources would be intensified which in turn would alter the structure and dynamic of rural and urban poverty Reforming Land and Resource Use in South Africa examines in detail and from several disciplinary perspectives whether and how this has occurred and if not why not A key argument that this collection pursues is whether land reform has resulted in transformed use of natural i e land crops cattle rangeland wild products etc and other strategic resources labour knowledge institutions networks etc and the value communities and household place on them The contributions explore a combination of new or alternative meanings of land including a look beyond crops and cattle per se to include the collection and selling of wild products as well as a discussion of how land for agriculture has become redefined by land reform beneficiaries as urban land for settlement and urban employment opportunities in addition to urban based agricultural activities Unlike most analyses and commentaries on land reform this book pursues an analysis of land reform dynamics at various levels of aggregation National and regional level analyses of poverty and the ramifications of the property clause are combined with analyses at disaggregate levels such as the land reform project or village The book will be of interest to both researchers and policy makers with an interest in rural development and social change

Poverty and Neoliberalism Ray Bush, 2007-04-20

Why do so many people worldwide suffer hunger and poverty when there is enough food and other resources globally to prevent it This book shows how famine and food insecurity are an essential part of modern capitalism Although trade debt relief and development initiatives are important they do not alter the structure of the global economy and poverty continues to be created by processes like privatisation trade liberalisation and market reform Despite the end poverty rhetoric of the World Bank and the G8 these high levels of poverty sustain Western wealth and power Is there any hope for change Using case studies from Egypt and North Africa Nigeria Sudan and elsewhere in sub Saharan Africa Ray Bush illustrates that there is resistance to neoliberal policies and that struggles over land mining and resources can shape real alternatives to existing globalisation
