Agriculture in Europe Commission of the European Communities, 1992 This work contains the background development and future prospects for the Common Agricultural Policy CAP Rural Europe Keith Hoggart, Richard Black, Henry Buller, 2014-02-25 Examines the interaction of the economic political and social change processes within Europe which are bringing about fundamental transformations in rural areas The authors expand on this view of rural Europe and place its significance within the broader field of rural studies Perspectives for Agronomy M.K. van Ittersum, S.C. van de Geijn,1997-12-11 During the 4th ESA Congress held in the Netherlands 7 11 July 1996 a new perspective for agronomy emerged Various contributions demonstrate the need for a new role of agronomy and its tools In recent decades agriculture has evolved from an activity with mainly productivity aims into an issue conciliating environmental agricultural and economic and social objectives Placing agriculture in such a broadened perspective requires a different agronomy with new tools and approaches at a range of aggregation levels It calls for detailed knowledge concerning the functioning productivity and ecological relationships of agricultural plants and crops In addition it calls for a constant update and synthesis of existing and newly generated knowledge the design of new ideotypes and genotypes new production technologies cropping systems farming systems and agro ecological land use systems This proceedings book presents a set of case studies illustrating the various agronomic tools that can be used for specific agronomic questions. The case studies are grouped in sections illustrating relevant subquestions in developing an agriculture with broadened objectives The book starts with an introductory paper on the role of agronomy in research and education in Europe The second section deals with agricultural land use food security and environment This is followed by a set of papers describing experimental research and modeling approaches used to design new ideotypes of crops including physiological properties in relation to growth factors such as radiation CO2 temperature and water Sustained soil fertility directly links to nutrient cycling and soil organic matter A selected set of papers addresses the improvements in resource use efficiency and as such their contribution towards economic environmental and agricultural objectives The final section addresses the design of integrated and ecological arable farming systems It highlights the role of prototyping interaction with leading edge farmers as promising tools to design implement and test new farming systems It is hoped that the activities of the European Society for Agronomy and the Proceedings of its 4th Congress will stimulate to serve the new perspectives of agronomy i e to adopt ecological principles to optimally manage the use of resources and to meet social and economic objectives Using the Agricultural, Environmental, and Food Literature Barbara S. Hutchinson, Antoinette Paris-Greider, 2002-07-17 This reference provides the groundwork tools and terminology required when conducting specialized searches for information and resources pertaining to traditional and emerging fields of agriculture The editors present 16 contributions from librarians and other information workers that offer information on research resources across the academic a Sustainable Agriculture in Print ,1996 Integrating Science & Technology into Development Policies An International Perspective OECD, Department of Science and Technology, 2007-05-23 This publication provides the proceedings of an international workshop held in South Africa intended to address how international co operation in science and technology can further the three inter related aspects economic Special Reference Briefs ,1983 social and environmental of the development process Agricultural Transformation in a Global History Perspective Ellen Hillbom, Patrick Svensson, 2013-03-05 History teaches us that agricultural growth and development is necessary for achieving overall better living conditions in all societies Although this process may seem homogenous when looked at from the outside it is full of diversity within This book captures this diversity by presenting eleven independent case studies ranging over time and space By comparing outcomes attempts are made to draw general conclusion and lessons about the agricultural transformation process Europeanization of Environmental Policies and their Limitations Arpad Todor, Florenta Elena Helepciuc, 2021-05-13 This book offers a window into the mechanisms that drive events when countries with poor track records in environmental protection and low administrative capacity join an organisation with ambitious environmental regulatory regimes which include some of the highest environmental protections standards in the world This book examines the institutional building capacity in Romania after two decades of the development of the EU s environmental policy on elaboration transposition implementation monitoring and institutional building The book examines how Romania has fared as one of the least environmentally friendly EU member states and poses the following questions What are the limits of Europeanisation in the area of public policies What is the reason why despite the overwhelming public interest in environmental issues and widespread agreement that urgent action to protect the environment and prevent catastrophic climate change are paramount the pace of achieving the goals is remains slow Why do policies fail This book brings together several case studies focusing on the evolution of environmental policies in Romania over the last twenty years with a special focus on the post accession period 2007 onwards. The book provides an analysis of policies where progress is less than satisfactory and examines why this is the case Publications Office for Official Publications of the European Communities, 1994 New Limits on European Agriculture François Duchêne, Edward Szczepanik, Wilfrid Legg, 2023-07-26 Until about 1970 Western Europe was regarded as the great food importing region of the world Over the next 15 years it also became a major food exporter This study originally published in 1985 analyses the expansionary policies of individual nations as well as those of the Community itself which have helped produce this momentous reversal of Western Europe's traditional role The phenomenon in the international food market is reviewed within the context of the economic and political forces responsible for changes in Western European agriculture during the African Politics in Comparative Perspective Goran Hyden, 2013 This revised and expanded second late 20th Century edition of African Politics in Comparative Perspective reviews fifty years of research on politics in Africa and addresses some issues in a new light keeping in mind the changes in Africa since the first edition was written in 2004 The book synthesizes insights from different scholarly approaches and offers an original interpretation of the knowledge accumulated in the field Goran Hyden discusses how research on African politics relates to the study of politics in other regions and mainstream theories in comparative politics He focuses on such key issues as why politics trumps economics rule is personal state is weak and policies are made with a communal rather than an individual lens The book also discusses why in the light of these conditions agriculture is problematic gender contested ethnicity manipulated and relations with Western powers a matter of Transition to Agricultural Market Economies Andrew Schmitz, William H Meyers, 2015-06-22 It is believed defiance that the major countries of the former Soviet Union specifically Kazakhstan Russia and Ukraine KRU region are the part of the world with the most potential to increase food supplies and strengthen world food security This book examines the future of the KRU countries in global agricultural markets and will examine a number of agricultural sectors including meat dairy fruits and vegetables However particular attention is paid to the region s potential expansion of the grain sector and why the KRU region emerged during the 2000s as a major grain exporter and its potential to further expand grain production and exports It also examine the issues of environmental constraints and trade offs for agriculture sustainability and the possible effects of climate change Reforming the Common Agricultural Policy I. Garzon, 2006-08-04 Reforming the Common Agricultural Policy presents an unprecedented comparison of three successive major reforms of the CAP It shows the influence of related issues such as international trade negotiations and budget constraints and demonstrates that factors such as opening of the policy network and feedback were key to accelerating change European Agricultural Research in the 21st Century Guy Paillotin, 2013-04-17 Jointly published with INRA Paris What will people eat in the future and how can the food requirements in terms of quantity and quality be met This EU based study elucidates the need for a productivity level that will make agriculture competitive on the market and yet is reconciled with the need to manage natural resources and lands wisely In this book the necessary changes for European agriculture from the biological medical economic and Productivity Growth in Agriculture K. O. political perspective are discussed International Books in Print ,1997 Fugile, 2012 Increasing food prices have renewed concerns about long term agricultural demand and supply in the global economy This book looks at results methods and data on international agricultural productivity for a better understanding of long run trends and the policies that determine them By presenting an international assessment of total factor productivity growth in agriculture including up to date empirical analysis for developed and developing countries and regions it provides a response to the rising global scarcity of agricultural production It is essential reading for researchers poli Sustainable Agriculture in Print Current Books, Special Reference Briefs Series, SB 96-04, July 1996, 1996 Technology and Transition Abdelkader Djeflat, Girma Zawdie, 2014-01-14 The Maghreb countries had a promising start in economic growth after independence For the most part they thrived on industrialisation by import substitution but unfortunately this strategy left them with macroeconomic and structural imbalances which together have effectively constrained their ability to compete in the world economic system and to catch up with the rapidly changing global techno economic circumstances Issues relating to aspects of technology transfer to the Maghreb strategies for technological and resource development and the integration of education and R D systems with the productive systems of the economies in the region are discussed along with relevant cases from Mexico China South Korea India and Bangladesh Land Policies and Evolving Farm Structures in Transition Countries Zvi Lerman, Csaba Csáki, Gershon Feder, 2002
