Aids And Sex:

Sexual Behaviour and AIDS in the Developing World John G. Cleland, Benoît Ferry, 1995 International experts compare the findings from 16 key surveys on sexual behavior and partner relations conducted in the late 1980s and early 1990s in Sub Saharan Africa Asia and Central and South America They provide a picture of variation across gender age groups and population groups in sections on AIDS knowledge condom awareness and use sexual behavior risk perception and risk factors Includes chapters on study methodology and data analysis Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR

AIDS, Sex, and Culture Ida Susser, 2011-09-09 AIDS Sex and Culture is a revealing examination of the impact the AIDS epidemic in Africa has had on women based on the author's own extensive ethnographic research based on the author's own story growing up in South Africa looks at the impact of social conservatism in the US on AIDS prevention programs discussion of the experiences of women in areas ranging from Durban in KwaZulu Natal to rural settlements in Namibia and Botswana includes a chapter written by Sibongile Mkhize at the University of KwaZulu Natal who tells the story of her own family's struggle with AIDS

HIV and Men who Have Sex with Men in Asia and the Pacific Roger Winder, Roy Chan, 2006 The term men who have sex with men frequently shortened to MSM describes a behaviour rather than a specific group of people It includes self identified gay bisexual transgendered or heterosexual men Many men who have sex with men do not consider themselves gay or bisexual They are often married particularly where discriminatory laws or social stigma of male sexual relations exist Largely because of the taboo the female partners of men who have sex with men are often unaware of their partner's other liaisons and the threat posed to themselves Forced sex among men is not uncommon especially in men only environments such as prisons Men who have sex with men are found in all societies yet are largely invisible in many places In terms of HIV sex between men is significant because it can involve anal sex which when unprotected carries a very high risk Sex between men is thought to account for between 5 and 10% of global HIV infections although the proportion of cases attributed to this mode of transmission varies considerably between countries It is the predominant mode in much of the developed world Globally less than one in twenty men who have sex with men have access to the HIV prevention and care services they need Many factors contribute to this situation including denial by society and communities stigma and discrimination and human rights abuse Vulnerability to HIV infection is increased where sex between men is criminalised as men are either excluded from or exclude themselves from sexual health and welfare agencies out of fear A range of interventions to reduce risk behaviours among men who have sex with men have proven successful including condom promotion safer sex campaigns and skills training peer education with outreach programmes and programmes tailored to subpopulations such as male sex workers and men in prisons Specific policy measures are crucial for making prevention care and support available to men who have sex with men First and foremost they must be included in national HIV programming and funding priorities The governments must support organisations of men who have sex with men enabling them to promote HIV prevention and care programmes and to participate in HIV planning and policymaking Legislation should be changed decriminalizing same sex acts and providing protective laws against discrimination based on sexual orientation

HIV, Sex and Sexuality in Later Life Mark Henrickson, Casey Charles, Shiv Ganesh, Sulaimon Giwa, Kan Diana Kwok, Tetyana Semigina, 2024-05-21 Drawing on international perspectives and research this book explores the experiences of sex and sexuality in individuals and groups living with HIV in later life 50

Sex, Work and Professionalism Katie Deverell, 2013-01-11 Sex Work and Professionalism examines what happens when professional concern is defined in terms of sex Based on original fieldwork with outreach workers in HIV prevention it addresses issues of professionalism emotion work and boundaries integrating empirical insights with sociological theory In most professional relationships sex is not defined as part of the relationship in fact it is explicitly excluded in guidelines and codes of ethics HIV prevention outreach workers work in sexual environments with a sexually defined target group and are often employed on the basis of their sexuality They have to learn how to balance their work and professional lives overcoming conflicts such as professional role V community role sexual skills V sexual boundaries personal experiences V professional understanding professional identity V worldviews Many of the questions being raised in this book about the meaning of professionalism the pain and pleasure in emotion work and the management of boundaries between home sex and work are being asked more generally by workers in a range of organisations Sex Work and Professionalism argues for a new understanding of professionalism more appropriate to the human services

HIV and Men who Have Sex with Men in Asia and the Pacific Joint United Nations Programme on HI, 2006-12-01 In Asia and the Pacific alone an estimated 7.1 million people are living with HIV AIDS which means that this region has the second largest number of people living with the virus after Sub Saharan Africa In this context men who have sex with men MSM constitute a vulnerable group because of the risk associated with their sexual practices and related HIV transmission is particularly significant in the more developed sub regions of Asia and the Pacific

Mental Health Practitioner's Guide to HIV/AIDS Sana Loue, 2012-12-09 Although efforts have been made and continue to be made to reduce the rate of HIV transmission in the U S and globally the rates continue to increase in the majority of countries In the U S members of minority communities remain especially at risk of HIV transmission An individual's discovery that he or she has contracted HIV or that a loved one has contracted the illness often raises significant issues that necessitate interaction with mental health professionals Mental Health Practitioner's Guide to HIV AIDS serves as a quick desk reference for professionals who may be less familiar with the terminology used in HIV AIDS care and services

Characterizing the HIV/AIDS Epidemic in the Middle East and North Africa Francisca Ayodeji Akala, Iris Semini, 2010. Despite global progress in understanding the epidemiology of the human immunodeficiency virus (HIV), knowledge about the epidemic in the Middle East and North Africa (MENA) remains limited and subject to much controversy. In the more than 25 years since the discovery of HIV, no scientific study has provided a comprehensive data-driven synthesis of the spread of HIV/AIDS-acquired immunodeficiency syndrome in the region. Consequently, the effectiveness of policies, programs and resources intended to address the spread of HIV/AIDS has been compromised. This report aims to fill the knowledge gap by providing the first ever comprehensive scientific assessment and data driven epidemiological synthesis of HIV's spread in MENA. It is based on a literature review and analysis of thousands of largely unrecognized publications, reports and data sources extracted from scientific literature or collected from sources at the local, national and regional levels. The resulting collection of data provides a solid foundation on which efforts to stem the spread of HIV/AIDS can be based. Characterizing the HIV/AIDS Epidemic in the Middle East and North Africa will be of particular interest to policy makers, researchers, development practitioners and specialists in public health and epidemiology.

Sexual Inequalities and Social Justice Niels

Teunis, Gilbert H. Herdt, 2007. This pioneering collection of ten ethnographically rich essays signals the emergence of a new paradigm of social analysis committed to understanding and analyzing social oppression in the context of sexuality and gender. The contributors, an interdisciplinary group of social scientists representing anthropology, sociology, public health and psychology, illuminate the role of sexuality in producing and reproducing inequality, difference and structural violence among a range of populations in various geographic, historical and cultural arenas. In particular, the essays consider racial minorities including Hispanics, Koreans and African Americans, discuss disabled people, examine issues including substance abuse, sexual coercion and HIV/AIDS, and delve into other topics including religion and politics. Rather than emphasizing sexuality as an individual trait, the essays view it as a social phenomenon focusing in particular on cultural meaning and real world processes of inequality such as racism and homophobia. The authors address the complex and challenging question of how the research under discussion here can make a real contribution to the struggle for social justice.
