I'd Fight the World Peter La Chapelle, 2019-09-09 Long before the United States had presidents from the world of movies and reality TV we had scores of politicians with connections to country music In I d Fight the World Peter La Chapelle traces the deep bonds between country music and politics from the nineteenth century rise of fiddler politicians to more recent figures like Pappy O Daniel Roy Acuff and Rob Quist These performers and politicians both rode and resisted cultural waves some advocated for the poor and dispossessed and others voiced religious and racial anger but they all walked the line between exploiting their celebrity and righteously taking on the world La Chapelle vividly shows how country music campaigners have profoundly influenced the American political landscape

Post-9/11 Heartland Horror Victoria McCollum, 2016-06-23 This book explores the resurgence of rural horror following the events of 9 11 as a number of filmmakers inspired by the films of the 1970s moved away from the characteristic industrial and urban settings of apocalyptic horror to return to American heartland horror Examining the revival of rural horror in an era of city fear and urban terrorism the author analyses the relationship of the genre with fears surrounding the Global War on Terror exploring the films engagement with the political repercussions of 9 11 and the ways in which traces of traumatic events leave their mark on cultures Arranged around the themes of dissent patriotism myth anger and memorial and with attention to both text and socio cultural context in its interpretation of the films themes Post 9 11 Heartland Horror offers a series of case studies covering a ten year period to shed light on the manner in which the Post 9 11 Heartland Horror films scrutinize and unravel the events aspirations anxieties discourses dogmas and socio political conflicts of the post 9 11 era As such it will appeal to scholars and students of film studies cultural studies and media studies and those with interests in the relationship between popular culture and politics

Sharing the Dream Dominic Pulera, 2004-10-20 White males 100 million strong constitute approximately 35 percent of the U S population a percentage that declines slightly each year They matter very much to discussions of race ethnicity and gender in the US due to their numbers and the enormous influence they have wielded and continue to wield In this highly original and readable work Dominic Pulera offers the broadest and most balanced treatment of the white male experience in America to date He contends that virtually all white males are sharing the American dream with women and people of color in response to the nation s changing demographics and the multicultural mindset that informs policies and attitudes in our nation Some white males are sharing the dream voluntarily others are doing so involuntarily The author also explores the heterogeneity of white male America taking into account such factors as age ethnicity ideology social class regional background occupational status and sexual orientation This timely work relies on a broad range of sources including extensive field research and hundreds of interviews along with the best primary and secondary sources available It includes original historical treatments discussion of contemporary dynamics and comparative material that takes into account the experiences of peoples in other countries In doing so Pulera places white males in the context of America s ongoing transition from a predominantly white country to one where people of color are increasingly numerous and consequently becoming more visible Dominic J Pulera is an independent scholar who lectures and writes about issues related to race ethnicity and gender In the wake of his first book Visible Differences Why Race Will Matter to Americans in the Twenty First Century he spoke at 13 universities on 4 continents and appeared on a one hour segment of Book TV C Span He has been a frequent guest on radio and television programs in Atlanta Baltimore Chicago Detroit Los Angeles Philadelphia and Washington D C
