Air War in the Pacific George Kenney, 2023-05-04 Air War in the Pacific originally published in 1949 as General Kenney Reports A Personal History of the Pacific War is a classic account of a combat commander in action General George Churchill Kenney arrived in the Southwest Pacific theater in August 1942 to find that his command if not in a shambles was in dire straits The theater commander General Douglas MacArthur had no confidence in his air element Kenney quickly changed this situation He organized and energized the Fifth Air Force bringing in operational commanders like Whitehead and Wurtsmith who knew how to run combat air forces He fixed the logistical swamp making supply and maintenance supportive of air operations and encouraging mavericks such as Pappy Gunn to make new and innovative weapons and to explore new tactics in airpower application The result was a disaster for the Japanese Kenney s airmen used air power particularly heavily armed B 25 Mitchell bombers to savage Japanese supply lines destroying numerous ships and effectively isolating Japanese garrisons The classic example of Kenney in action was the Battle of the Bismarck Sea which marked the attainment of complete Allied air dominance and supremacy over Japanese naval forces operating around New Guinea In short Kenney was a brilliant innovative airman who drew on his own extensive flying experiences to inform his decision making Air War in the Pacific is a book that has withstood the test of time and which remains as the definitive work on the Pacific air campaign in World War II This new edition includes 13 pages of maps and photographs

War in the Western Pacific Eric Hammel, 2014-08-15 First published in 2010 as Islands of Hell the U S Marines in the western Pacific 1944 1945

Carrier Victory John M. Lindley, 1978 An account of the combat between American and Japanese aircraft carrier forces in the Pacific during World War II

World War II in the Pacific Stanley Sandler, 2003-12-16 Stanley Sandler one of America s most respected and best known military historians has brought together over 300 entries by some 200 specialists in the field to create the first encyclopedia specifically devoted to the Pacific Theatre of World War II Extending far beyond battles and hardware the coverage ranges from high policy making grand strategy and the significant persons and battles of the conflict to the organization of the Allied and Japanese divisions aircraft armor artillery psychological warfare warships and the home fronts covering the interactions of each topic along the way      South Pacific Air War Volume 5 Michael Claringbould, Peter Ingman, 2021-12 Volume Five of this series chronicles aerial warfare primarily in the New Guinea theater in the critical period between September and December 1942 It can be read alone or as a continuation of the previous four volumes which span the first nine months of the Pacific War By early September the strategic picture in the theater had changed markedly within just six weeks From their new Buna beachhead the Japanese Army commenced a Papuan mountain campaign which threatened the Allied bastion of Port Moresby Meanwhile the battle for Guadalcanal was raging with the outcome of the wider Pacific War in the balance Against this background a strengthened US Fifth Air Force took the fight to the IJA with direct air support While this was being conducted by P 39s P 40Es A 20As and B 25s raids by B 17s against Rabaul aided US forces in the neighboring Solomons RAAF Beaufighters Beauforts Bostons and Hudsons also contributed substantially to these efforts At Rabaul a wide variety of fresh IJN fighter and bomber units poured in the theater although these became focused mainly on the Solomons Such were the massive losses experienced by November the IJN undertook a complete operational and administrative reorganization of its air power Then despite a strong reluctance to become involved the IJA sent an advance reconnaissance detachment to Rabaul the forerunner of major reinforcements that would arrive in December Never before has this campaign been chronicled in such detail with Allied and Japanese accounts matched together for a truly factual account of the conflict      Pacific Warriors Eric M. Hammel, 2005 From the halls of Montezuma to the shores of Tripoli and more recently from the jungles of Vietnam to the killing fields of Iraq America's soldiers of the sea have fought their country's battles with famed valor skill and perseverance in the face of long odds But where did the U S Marines earn their reputation as being the first to fight It was on the South Pacific Island of Guadalcanal There on August 7 1942 the 1st Marine Division stormed ashore to begin one of the most difficult and brutal campaigns of military history and an unbroken string of victories staged across the Pacific      Fire In The Sky Eric M Bergerud, 2000 A chronicle of the Pacific Air War in World War II draws on interviews with surviving veterans of all duties to paint a detailed look at the war in the sky      1942 the Pacific Air War John Possidente, 1995 1942 Pacific Air War is the exciting new WWII air combat simulation that gives gamers a real sense of what naval campaigns were like for Japanese and American pilots This official guide is a must for readers interested in this period Included are all the hints tips and tactics needed to become an ace for either side      Carrier Strike Eric Hammel, 2020-12-21 CARRIER STRIKE The Battle of the Santa Cruz Islands October 1942 By Eric Hammel The Battle of the Santa Cruz Islands a strategic naval action in the bitter Guadalcanal Campaign was history's fourth carrier versus carrier naval battle Though technically a Japanese victory the battle proved to be the Empire of Japan's last serious attempt to win the Pacific War by means of an all out carrier confrontation Only one other carrier battle occurred in the Pacific War in June 1944 in the Philippine Sea By then however the U S Navy's Fast Carrier Task Force was operational and Japan's dwindling fleet of carriers was outnumbered and completely outclassed

Though hundreds of Japanese naval aviators perished in the great Marianas Turkey Shoot of June 19 20 1944 it was during the first four carrier battles in the six month period from early May through late October 1942 that the fate of Japan's small elite naval air arm was sealed. It was at Coral Sea in May that Japan's juggernaut across the Pacific was blunted. It was at Midway in June that Japan's great carrier fleet was cut down to manageable size. And it was at Eastern Solomons in August and Santa Cruz in October that Japan's last best carrier air groups were ground to dust. After their technical victory at Santa Cruz the Japanese withdrew their carriers from the South Pacific and were never able to use them again as a strategically decisive weapon. Of the four Japanese aircraft carriers that participated in the Santa Cruz battle only one survived the war. Following Santa Cruz and the subsequent series of air and surface engagements known as the Naval Battle of Guadalcanal the Imperial Navy's Combined Fleet never again attempted a meaningful strategic showdown with the U.S. Pacific Fleet. Though several subsequent surface actions in the Solomons were clearly Japanese victories their results were short lived. After November 1942 Japan could not again muster the staying power or the willpower to wage a strategic war with her navy. Once the veteran carrier air groups had been shredded at Eastern Solomons and Santa Cruz Japanese carriers ceased to be a strategic weapon. The Santa Cruz clash was deemed a Japanese victory because U.S. naval forces withdrew from the battlefield. That is how victory and defeat are strictly determined. But on the broader strategic level the U.S. Navy won at Santa Cruz because it was able to achieve its strategic goal of holding the line and buying time. Japan was unable to achieve her strategic goal of defeating the U.S. Pacific Fleet in a final decisive all or nothing battle. The technical victory cost Japan any serious hope she had of winning the Pacific naval war. The victory at Santa Cruz cost Japan her last best hope to win the war in the Pacific. Once again author/historian Eric Hammel brings to the reading public an exciting narrative filled with the latest information and written in the edge of the seat style that his readers have enjoyed for nearly two decades in nearly thirty acclaimed military history books. As was the case with its companion volume Carrier Clash this new book is based upon American and Japanese battle reports and the recollections of many airmen and seamen who took part. Aces In Combat

Eric Hammel, 2020-12-05 ACES IN COMBAT The American Aces Speak Eric Hammel Adding to the acclaimed first four volumes of his exciting in the cockpit series The American Aces Speak leading combat historian Eric Hammel comes through with yet another engrossing collection of first person accounts by American fighter aces serving in World War II and the Korean War. As are the four earlier volumes Aces In Combat is a highly charged excursion into life and death in the air told by men who excelled at piston engine and jet engine aerial combat and lived to tell about it. It is an emotional rendering of what brave airmen felt and how they fought in the now dim days of America's living national history. View the Battle of Midway through Lieutenant Jim Gray's eyes as he must balance the needs of fellow pilots against the needs of his nation. Share the fear with Captain Charlie Sullivan as would be rescuers deep in the New Guinea jungle attempt to turn him into a blood sacrifice. Crew a Canadian Mosquito night fighter as Lieutenant Lou Luma stalks the wily Hun and bags an ace over an airfield deep in Germany Share Lieutenant Bud Fortier's and Major George Loving's grief when on missions nearly eight years apart they look on helplessly as trusted wingmen dive to their deaths in treacherous ground attack runs And watch anxiously as Captain Tom Maloney hovers between life and death for ten lonely days after stepping on a mine on an enemy held beach These are America's eagles and the stories they tell are their own in their very own words     Air War in the Pacific George C.
