Air Raid The Bombing Of Coventry 1940:

Air Raid Norman Longmate, 1976 Beskriver det tyske bombeangreb mod den engelske by Coventry i begyndelsen af 2 verdenskrig The Blitzed City Karen Farrington, 2015-09-03 The Luftwaffe's targeting and destruction of Coventry city remains the biggest and most destructive air raid on British soil during the Second World War Seen as a centre of British armaments production the German high command wished to inflict terror and panic on the British public a plan that had paid dividends during their relentless conquest of France that year Attacking over two nights in November 1940 they systematically bombed and destroyed the bulk of the city making thousands homeless and killing over 400 men women and children Such was the devastation panic and disorder it wrought that Winston Churchill ordered a news blackout for three weeks in order to quell the unease and morale sapping effect that the raid had But people at the time acted with great bravery to save those trapped in bombed out and burning buildings as well as caring for those badly injured of which there were thousands and fighting the Nazi planes coming in to attack the city itself Now for the very first time we interview those veterans who survived the raid and helped fight the flames and bombs to tell the story of this iconic event Such was the effect it had on the country that when Bomber Command began night time raids against German cities Hamburg Cologne and most famously Dresden the call Remember Coventry went up Coventry Frederick Taylor, 2015-10-22 At a few minutes past seven on the evening of Thursday 14 November 1940 the historic industrial city of Coventry was subjected to the longest most devastating air raid Britain had yet experienced Only after eleven hours of continual bombardment by the German Luftwaffe could its people emerge from their half sunk Anderson shelters and their cellars from under their stairs or kitchen tables to venture up into their wounded city That long night of destruction marked a critical moment in the Second World War It heralded a new kind of air warfare one which abandoned the pursuit of immediate military goals and instead focused on obliterating all aspects of city life It also provided the push America needed to join Britain in the war But while the Coventry raid was furiously condemned publically such effective enemy tactics provided Britain's politicians and military establishment with a blueprint for obliteration to be adapted and turned against Germany A merciless four year war of attrition had begun In this important work of history Frederick Taylor draws upon numerous sources including eye witness interviews from the archives of the BBC which are published here for the first time to reveal the true repercussions of the bombing of Coventry in 1940 He teases out the truth behind the persistent rumours and conspiracy theories that Churchill knew the raid was coming assesses this significant turning point in modern warfare looks at how it affected Britain's status in the war and considers finally whether this attack really could provide justification for the horror of Dresden 1945 Israel Yearbook on Human Rights, Volume 27 (1997) Yoram Dinstein, Fania Domb, 2020-10-26 The Israel Yearbook on Human Rights an annual published under the auspices of the Faculty of Law of Tel Aviv University since 1971 is devoted to publishing studies by distinguished scholars in Israel and other countries on human rights in peace and war with particular

Parameters, 1979 The Conduct of the Air War in the Second World War Horst Boog, 1992 Leading experts examine the air war in the context of modern industrialised societies and compare the different ways in which it was conducted by the main air powers They demonstrate that the relationship between civilians and the military had as much impact on the conduct of the air war as the leadership The authors cover a wide spectrum and focus on topics such as air war and foreign and domestic policies top echelon command and leadership strategic planning air armament and war economy operations and logistics intelligence and reconnaissance and air war humanity and international law Coventry's Blitz David McGrory, 2015-08-15 The first book on the blitz that blighted Coventry during the Second World War commemorating its 75th anniversary Battlefield Walks in the Midlands Brian Conduit, 2004 The combination of country walking with visits to battlefields is a most rewarding experience The Midlands has played a prominent part in the military history of England and the events that form the basis of the 22 walks in this guide range from the 13th to the 20th centuries from the Battle of Evesham 1265 to the bombing of Coventry 1940 Encyclopedia of World War II Alan Axelrod, 2007 A reference to the ideological military political biographical and social topics surrounding World War II which is often considered the pivotal event of the twentieth century Cities into Battlefields Stefan Goebel, Derek Keene, 2017-03-02 Cities have always had a key role in warfare as strategic centres which periodically suffered the horrors of siege and sack With industrialisation however they were drawn ever closer to the front line and to direct and continuous experience of fighting and destruction Cities into Battlefields Metropolitan Scenarios Experiences and Commemorations of Total War explores the cultural imprint of military conflict on metropolises world wide in the era of the First and Second World Wars It brings together cultural and urban historians and scholars of related disciplines including anthropology education and geography The volume examines how the emergence of total warfare blurred the boundaries between home and front and transformed cities into battlefields The logic of total mobilisation turned the social and cultural fabric of urban life upside down Arranged so as to bring out the evolution of experience over time the essays explore Eastern and Central Europe Britain and Western Europe and Japan and address several key themes The first strand scenarios explores the apocalyptic imagination of intellectuals and experts in peacetime Artists and writers anticipating doom presented the coming upheaval as an urban event a commonplace of late Victorian and post 1918 pessimism On a different plane civil servants and engineers materialised visions of urban chaos and devised countermeasures in case of emergencies Both groups helped to furnish a repertoire of cultural forms which channelled and encoded the actual experience of war The second strand deals with metropolitan experiences notably mobilisation deprivation and destruction in wartime Ruins and the repercussions of war is the central theme of the third strand commemorations which investigates post war efforts to remember and forget The quest for meaningful forms of commemoration was hard enough after the First World War the Second World War which saw whole cities disappear in flames raised the possibility that the limits of representation had been reached The central contention of this volume that total war in the twentieth century has a significant but often overlooked metropolitan dimension is fully addressed thereby filling a conspicuous gap in the currently available literature
