Russian Military Reform Carolina Vendil Pallin, 2008-08-29 This book examines reform of the Russian military since the end of the Cold War It explores the legacy of the Soviet era explaining why at the time of the fall of the Soviet Union radical reform was long overdue in the wake of changing military technology new economic and political realities and the emergence of new threats and challenges It discusses the problems encountered by Gorbachev in his attempts to promote military reform in the late 1980s and goes on to analyse in detail the mixed fortunes of the policies of his successors Yeltsin and Putin It describes how the onset of war in Chechnya in 1994 provided clear evidence of the weaknesses of the Russian military in modern conflicts and shows that although the Chechnya debacle did provide some impetus for reforms in the armed forces in 1997-98 the momentum was not continued under the Putin government It argues that Putin's policies of bolstering central control over all aspects of decision making has left untouched many key problems facing the Russian military including infighting between different force structures lack of transparency and independent scrutiny over defence spending and absence of consensus on the main threats to Russia and optimum force posture Moreover it argues that in his attempts to concentrate all means of control to a corrupt and inefficient Kremlin bureaucracy Putin has deprived himself of all alternative channels of independent scrutiny control and oversight thus exacerbating the problems that continue to plague the Russian military Restructuring, Stabilizing and Modernizing the New Russia Paul J.J. Welfens,Evgeny Gavrilencov,2012-12-06 Russia has embarked upon a difficult process of systemic transformation and economic opening up While the initial strong GDP decline seemed to have ended in 1997 the real development was facing even more difficult problems as output declined sharply after the Ruble and banking crisis of August 1998 inflation started to increase again exports and imports were falling capital flight increasing and unemployment rising There is broad disappointment in Russia regarding the transformation failure in 1998 since so many people had hoped that the end of the Soviet command economy would bring democracy prosperity and international integration While Poland has been able to double per capita income in the 1990s it has fallen by 50% in Russia and this despite considerable IMF involvement and some modest support from other international organizations What were the reasons for transformation failure in the 1990s What are the ingredients for long term sustainable transformation What are the internal and international requirements to avoid a second possibly tragic failure of transformation in Russia An international group of researchers has focussed on these problems during a two year research project financed by the Alfried Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach Foundation A series of papers were presented at workshops in Potsdam Bonn and Moscow in 1999 where this book is devoted to four important issues the Russian transformation crisis the topic of restructuring the need for stabilizing Russia and the requirements for modernizing Russia
