The Reformation of Suffering Ronald K. Rittgers, 2012-06-28 Protestant reformers sought to effect a radical change in the way their contemporaries understood and coped with the suffering of body and soul that were so prominent in the early modern period This book examines the genesis of Protestant doctrines of suffering among the leading reformers and then traces the transmission of these doctrines from the reformers to the common clergy It also examines the reception of these ideas by lay people Prophecy, Types, and Miracles, the Great Bulwarks of Christianity ... Edward Thompson (D.D.), 1838

Prophecy, types, and miracles, the great bulwarks of Christianity: or, A critical examination and demonstration of some of the evidences, by which the Christian faith is supported Edward Thompson, 1838

Lizzie Borden in Love Julianna Baggott, 2006 Women's voices offering an intimate view into women's lives Lizzie Borden in Love a collection of poems by national bestselling author Julianna Baggott offers poignant commentary in the voices of women as varied as Mary Todd Lincoln and Monica Lewinsky The poems often focus on a particular moment in life Katherine Hepburn discovers the dead body of her brother in an attic or painter Mary Cassatt mourns the failure of her eyesight Sometimes heartbreaking sometimes ecstatic the poems in this collection never fail the trust of the subjects of their intimate portrayals

Cinema Muto Jesse Lee Kercheval, 2009-02-25 In Cinema Muto Jesse Lee Kercheval examines the enduring themes of time mortality and love as revealed through the power of silent film Following the ten days of the annual Le Giornate del Cinema Muto in Italy this collection of ekphrastic poems are love letters to the evocative power of silent cinema Kercheval's poems elegantly capture the allure of these rare films which compel hundreds of pilgrims from around the world from scholars and archivists to artists and connoisseurs to flock to Italy each autumn Cinema Muto celebrates the flickering tales of madness and adventure drama and love which are all too often left to decay within forgotten vaults As reels of Mosjoukine and D W Griffith float throughout the collection a portrait also emerges of the simple beauty of Italy in October and of two lovers who are drawn together by their mutual passion for an extinct art Together they revel in recapturing the black and white gestures of a lost world Cinema Muto is a tender tribute to the brief yet unforgettable reign of silent film Brimming with stirring images of dreams desire and the ghosts of cinema legends gone by Kercheval's verse is a testament to the mute beauty and timeless lessons that may still be discovered in a fragile roll of celluloid

Into Each Room We Enter Without Knowing Charif Shanahan, 2017-01-20 In Into Each Room We Enter without Knowing poet Charif Shanahan explores the various ways in which we as a species inherit identity constructs chiefly about race and sexuality and how we navigate those constructs in the creation of our identities

No Acute Distress Jennifer Richter, 2016-03 A collection of prose poems and lineated poems that chronicle everyday frustrations confusions and joys connected mainly with motherhood and illness

Furious Lullaby Oliver de la Paz, 2007-09-25 Furious Lullaby is both a celebration of and a eulogy to the body in the twenty first century The collection which examines the larger concepts of salvation and temptation in a world of blossoming strife includes a series of aubades dramatic poems culminating with the separation of lovers at dawn The lovers suffer a metaphysical crisis seeking to know what is good what is evil and how to truly know the difference Knowing however invites the terrible into their world The Devil a seductive trickster haunts the landscape as a voice who dares each inquisitor to learn about mortality morality the beautiful and the unspeakable through direct experience Furious Lullaby offers a departure from the lighter prose poetry of de la Paz's Names above Houses and preserves the author's concern with the nature of human grace

Year of the Snake Lee Ann Roripaugh, 2004-03-08 In her second collection of poems Lee Ann Roripaugh probes themes of mixed race female identities evoking the molting processes of snakes and insects who shed their skins and shells as an ongoing metaphor for transformation of self Intertwining contemporary renditions of traditional Japanese myths and fairy tales with poems that explore the landscape of childhood and early adolescence she blurs the boundaries between myth and memory between real and imagined selves This collection explores cultural psychological and physical liminalities and exposes the diasporic arc cast by first generation Asian American mothers and their second generation daughters revealing a desire for metamorphosis of self through time geography culture and myth

The Flesh Between Us Tory Adkisson, 2021-10-11 In The Flesh Between Us the speaker explores our connections to each other whether they be lovely or painful static or constantly shifting or above all unavoidable and necessary exhilarating song cycles and is his most intensely lyrical and ecstatic poetry to date

Salt Moon Noel Crook, 2015-02-04 Throughout Salt Moon Noel Crook forges the kind of tragic vision Howard Nemerov described as the mark of our finest poets drawing on myth and memory Crook's fierce lyrics reveal a world that is at once hopeless and beautiful giving equal emphasis to both words Rendered in unforgettable images Salt Moon is that rare book which grows richer with each reading

Lacemakers Claire McQuerry, 2012-01-19 In Lacemakers Claire McQuerry investigates the timeless questions of relationships of loss and longing and of environment both natural and manmade This informal yet haunting collection juxtaposes a myriad of perspectives public and personal interior and exterior sacred and secular to explore the fathomless mysteries that abound between one human and another From the metallic hum of the air conditioner to the thrumming of quail wings in the Arizona desert from the necklace of brake lights on the freeway to the more dangerous and intimate highways of the human heart McQuerry explores the impact of our environments both urban and natural on humankind Spirituality clashes with modernity in the holiest of places and we are relentlessly confronted with the irreconcilable otherness of our fellow man Above all Lacemakers returns obsessively to separations offering searing insight into our inability to truly know another person meditating on the subtle abysses that eternally divide us from others Always Danger David Hernandez, 2006-02-28 Always Danger offers a lyrical and highly imaginative exploration into the hazards that surround people's lives whether it's violence war mental illness car accidents or the fury of Mother Nature In his second collection of poems David Hernandez embraces the element of surprise a soldier takes refuge inside a hollowed out horse a man bullies a mountain and a giant pink donut sponsors age old questions about beliefs Hernandez typically eschews the politics that often surround the inner circle of contemporary literature but in this volume he quietly sings a few bars with a political tone one poem shadows the conflict in Iraq another reflects our own nation's economic and cultural divide Always Danger parallels Hernandez's joy of writing unmapped spontaneous and imbued with nuanced revelation If No Moon Moira Linehan, 2007-03-26 If No Moon by award winning author Moira Linehan documents the effects of profound loss and the dark withdrawal into grief Wherever the author turns the landscape of her backyard in Massachusetts a Trappist monastery in Kentucky the museums of Florence or the cliffs of Inishmor in Ireland she sees only the geography of emptiness Crossovers between craft and art form and voice knitting and memory recur throughout the poems Lying within the tradition of narrative poetry elegy and the lyric the collection reveals the mysterious journey of return Coming full circle to find again the lyrical and the transcendent within the everyday beauty eventually wins out If No Moon accessible to all who have or will experience loss is the voice of one who has come to understand that there is no other work but starting over Spitting Image Kara van de Graaf, 2018-03-14 Spitting Image explores how fatness situates the female body in contemporary culture Poems in this collection often consider the intersection of the body and gender desire relationships and otherness The Sphere of Birds Ciaran Berry, 2008-02-08 The Sphere of Birds Ciaran Berry's debut collection of poems effortlessly moves back and forth between here and there then and now the personal and the historic the modern and the mythic Berry imagines the transatlantic journeys of John James Audubon and reveals his own heartfelt experience moving from his first house The poems take as their subject such varied experiences as an eye exam in Manhattan and chasing rabbits around a beach in Donegal These poems have a strong sense of place whether it s the imagined space of Coney Island in 1903 or the playground of Berry s childhood convent school The Sphere of Birds delights in forging unlikely links earthed in the stuff of paintings and in the lives of poets artists and the occasional saint Drawing on the poet s life in Ireland and the United States the poems explore the joy and grief found in those places Moving from rural Ireland to the heart of New York City from local detail to historical specifics and from the experienced occasion to the imagined or interpreted event Berry s poems effectively master shifts in both time and space Berry delves into the lives of artists obscure historical figures and other poets for inspiration He embraces elements of both Irish and American poetry paying tribute as much to the spirit of Larry Levis as to that of W B Yeats Accessible immediate and visceral The Sphere of Birds offers a musicality that is increasingly rare in contemporary poetry

Hinge Molly Spencer, 2020-10-20 Finding joy and beauty in the face of suffering Readers enter a stunted world where landmarks a river a house a woman s own body have become unrecognizable in a place as distorted and dangerous as any of the old tales poet Molly Spencer remasters in this elegant mournful collection In myth and memory through familiar stories reimagined she constructs poetry for anyone who has ever stumbled unwillingly into a wilderness In these alluring poems myth becomes part of the arsenal used to confront the flaws and failures of our fallible bodies Shadowing the trajectory of an elegy this poetry collection of lament remembrance and solace wrestles with how we come to terms with suffering while still finding joy meaning and beauty Spencer alternates between the clinical and the domestic disorientation and reorientation awe and awareness With the onset of a painful chronic illness the body and mental geography turn hostile and alien In loss and grief in physical and psychological landscapes Spencer searches the relationship between a woman s body and her house places where she is both master and captive and hunts for the meaning of suffering Finally with begrudging acceptance we have a hypothesis for all seasons there is suffering there is mercy they are not separate but are for and of one another
