Consorting And Collaborating In The Education Marketplace:

Consorting and Collaborating in the Education Market Place David Bridges, Chris Husbands, Christopher T. Husbands, 1996 Government educational reforms have set out to place educational institutions in competitive relations in the market place In spite of this however the institutions continue to seek out and to develop a variety of collaborative relations working in consortia and networks Consorting And Collaborating In The Education Market Place Chris Husbands, David Bridges, 2005-08-31 This text offers descriptions and analyses of some of the different ways in which schools and other educational institutions have started to establish new collaborative relationships in today s competitive educational marketplace Using case studies the book describes examples of such collaborative structures Educational consortia have been established as a vehicle for professional and curriculum development as a source of mutual support and as a condition of mutual survival As the LEA monopolies have been forced to shed many of their traditional functions or schools have opted out schools have found it necessary to re create parts of their collaborative structures out of sheer self Interest For Some Educators Who Continue To Be Attached To Notions Of an educational service and professional collegiality in the provision of such a service interinstitutional collaboration becomes seen as something to be valued independently of the instrumental benefits which it provides For this variety of reasons consortium working and collaborative structures seem set to develop in spite of or as a necessary antodote to educational markets Understanding the role and operation of such structures is a necessity for educational managers in all parts of the educational service Education Policy and Social Class Stephen J. Ball, 2006 This book brings together in one place Stephen Ball s key writings Drawing on over 20 years work Professor Ball has selected his most seminal work from education policy and sociology to his work on education and social class Ethics in Educational Practice, Policy and Research David Bridges, 2023-11-25 Education is a social practice that poses ethical questions of policy and practice at every level and at almost every turn what we teach how we teach how we organise educational provision how we research it who controls it and what principles drive policy nationally and internationally This collection of papers is rooted in the author's experience in the education system nationally and internationally over half a century and reflects both the educational history of this period and the author's experience as a teacher parent school governor teacher trainer educational researcher senior manager in higher education and advisor to governments in many parts of the world It is then historically located but the approach to ethical questions is primarily in the tradition of analytic philosophy and applied and situated ethics The book is aimed at undergraduate and especially postgraduate students studying education including those interested in philosophy of education lecturers in education and those conducting research and engaged in scholarly writing in higher education Organizing Higher Education for Collaboration Kezar, Jaime Lester, 2009-02-03 This book provides needed guidance and advice for how colleges and universities can reorganize to foster more collaborative work In a time of declining resources financial challenges changing demographics and staff overturn institutions are looking for ways to maximize their resources and still be effective This book is based on a study of campuses that have been successful in recreating their environments to support collaborative work Modern Languages in the Primary School Patricia Driscoll, David Frost, 2005-06-23 It has been argued for some time that to improve language learning in Britain we need to start earlier as many other European countries do This book is addressed to policy makers and teachers who are considering the possibility of getting involved in the teaching of MFL in the primary The Teaching of Modern Foreign Languages in the Primary School Patricia Driscoll, David Frost, 1999 It has been argued for some time that to improve language learning in Britain we need to start earlier as many other European countries do This book is addressed to policy makers and teachers who are considering the possibility of getting involved in the teaching of MFL in the primary school Choice and Diversity in Schooling Carl Bagley, Ron Glatter, Philip Woods, 2005-06-27 This volume provides a unique insight into current understanding of a range of issues central to any analysis and evaluation of market like systems in schooling including Diversity and hierarchy amongst schools Parental criteria for choosing schools The differential impact on advantaged and disadvantaged families National and international variations in educational policies Rules and practices concerning school admissions Implications for future research and for educational policy are highlighted and the final chapter provides an overview of key themes and issues This book will interest all those involved in educational policy researchers students headteachers and other senior managers in schools

Educational Management Harry Tomlinson, 2004 This collection explores historical and present day issues in education management the training and development of leaders and their roles in leading people and managing resources and provides a focus on the major management issues which are current throughout the education world The articles reprinted here include the management of applied individual psychology organizational psychology individual interpersonal and group Pring, Geoffrey Walford, 2021-04-29 Examines the ideals which lay behind the development of comprehensive schools Written by 14 British educationalists this text considers the evidence and suggests how further progress might be made within the moral framework of secondary education for all irrespective of background or ability The text includes an afterword by the Rt Hon John Prescott MP Deputy Leader of the Labour Party Education, Autonomy and Democratic Citizenship David Bridges, 2002-11 First Published in 2004 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Innovations in Teachers' Professional Learning Networks in China Wangbei Ye,2025-09-29 Innovations in Teachers Professional Learning Networks in China examines external factors related to the education system such as migration local economy geography rural urban education gaps alongside internal education factors like PLN members mutual understandings resource exchanges and network flexibility Resources in Education ,1997 Crisis and Change in Vocational Education and Training Geoffrey Elliott, 1996 In this volume Dr Geoffrey Elliot provides a critical account of the nature extent and impact of government policy for the further education sector He explores a range of responses to policy exposing both intended and unintended consequences of the increased development of Human Resources Management and Quality Assurance system and sets these in the context of competing lecturer and manager perspectives He bases his theoretical focus on a study of a large urban FE college coming to terms with increasing pressures from market forces in vocational education At a time of rapid change in FE this book offers useful and relevant information on the impact of government policy and college procedures upon lecturers practice the effects of the introduction of formal quality systems and quantitative performance indicators into the college the conflict of professionals trying to balance the demands of students and managers the resulting tensions between lecturers and senior college managers over resourcing management styles and practices

The Performing School Dennis Gleeson, Chris Husbands, 2004-11-23 This specially commissioned collection of perspectives offers an analysis of the new organisation of the teaching profession reconstructed around the notion of performance and the implications of a performance culture The Performing School examines the roots directions and implications of the new structure by drawing together insights from policy research and practice at this time of rapid change and debate This unique volume addresses three interconnected issues of modernisation and education what is the background to and significance of performance management in modernising schools and teachers at the present time what are the likely future effects of a performance culture on teaching learning and schooling what will it take to ensure that performance management improves pedagogy and professionality beyond the narrow confines of performativity managerialism and market reform in education A Learning Profession? Wendy Robinson, 2014-07-11 This ground breaking book uncovers a hidden history of the professional develop ment of serving teachers Drawing on hitherto unpublished archive material Wendy Robinson reveals an op timistic and liberal age of high class conferences in the 1920s and 1930s in Lon don hotels and Oxford colleges free from government control where teachers from across the country and abroad gathered for professional intellectual and cultural refreshment The status attached to these occasions was signified by the celebrities who graced them including royalty public intellectuals educational practitioners and politicians Professor Robinson then shows how post war training became more instrumental taken over by the Ministry of Education with its centrally prescribed advanced courses and from 1970 by Local Education Authorities invention of ap parently democratic Teachers Centres This analysis is complemented by face to face interviews with teachers and other practitioners once active in professional development Fascinating detailed interviews brilliantly capture teachers lived experience of professional development and its influence on their teaching career development and professional identity Fresh and original lucidly written by one of the leading historians of education in Britain A Learning Profession is essential and engaging reading for those inter ested in the development of a teaching profession

Assessment: Social Practice and Social Product Ann Filer, 2002-11-01 Assessment has become one of the most significant areas of interest in educational policy development as well as the focus of complex political economic and cultural expectations for change Increasingly governments worldwide have become aware that curricula and teachers can be indirectly controlled through programmes of assessment Opponents of centralized systems of mass assessment claim they are ill suited to the diverse and changing needs of learners and users of assessment In this text the UK and US writers take the reader beyond the obvious functions of assessment and focus upon the roles it performs in the social structuring of society They examine the myths and assumptions that underpin assessment and testing and draw attention to its cultural context This collection is devoted explicitly to socio cultural studies of assessment and attempts to map the terrain of some 30 years of study in the field Chapters are organized thematically with background text providing comparative perspectives key issues and further reading The book provides a wide ranging structured and accessible approach to the study of socio cultural origins and impacts of assessment Higher Education, 2019-09-16 Trends in institutional partnership in higher education have shown tremendous growth in the past three decades These trends are manifested through the growing initiatives of joint programs that promote collaborative research academic mobility joint curriculum development and course delivery joint bidding for development projects and benchmarking Partnerships in higher education have been used not only as an instrument for institutional development through a wide range of strategic alliances but also as an essential way of introducing new voices to the operations of the universities by initiating new paradigms that bring new perspectives and bear competitive advantage on the partners As the trend of partnership in higher education grew scholars in higher education studies have also engaged in conceptualizing higher education partnership from academic perspectives analyzing trends and developing models of higher education collaborations Partnership in Higher Education Trends between African and European Institutions is a pioneer in bringing together a comprehensive perspective on matters of higher education partnership among African and European institutions It discusses the ongoing debates on higher education partnership and internationalization strategies by providing empirical insights from various case studies Teachers Learning in Communities Michal Zellermayer, Elaine Munthe, Malka Gorodetsky, Frances O'Connel Rust, Lily Orland-Barak, 2007-01-01 Teachers Learning in Communities is about teacher educators by those brave enough to make their professional learning public The authors reveal the complexities of their participation in school university partnerships and their relationships with teachers Here practice informs theory greatly expanding our knowledge and understanding of these important communities Ann Lieberman Senior Scholar at the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching Teachers Learning in Communities is full of exciting success stories about rare and exotic teacher education episodes played out on the marg The Tocqueville Review Tocqueville Society, 1999
