Second Millennium Tukumbi Lumumba-Kasongo, 2000 In most parts of the world especially in developing countries governmental and people's expectations have been that reforms rather than revolutions are likely to produce more appropriate and acceptable results Reforms are gradual in implementation and respectful to past policy fabrics of a society At the same time spread of communication technology global liberalization of the market and peripheral homogenization of cultures have caused tensions in the developing countries In this book scholars from different countries highlight the reforms and tensions what has been achieved what has failed and what is still needed Experiences from Nigeria Ghana Guatemala South Korea Taiwan Zimbabwe and Tanzania are combined with more general observations from around the world

Democracy and Institutions Markus M. L. Crepaz, Thomas Albert Koelble, David Wilsford, 2000-06-16 How institutional engineering affects the life of democracies Authoritarianism Günter Frankenberg, 2020-11-27 In this thought provoking book Günter Frankenberg explores why authoritarian leaders create new constitutions or revise old ones Through a profound analysis of authoritarian constitutions as phenomena in their own right Frankenberg reveals their purposes the audiences they seek to address and investigates the ways in which they fit into the broader context of autocracies Constitutional Statecraft in Asian Courts Yvonne Tew, 2021-07-23 Constitutional Statecraft in Asian Courts explores how courts engage in constitutional state building in aspiring yet deeply fragile democracies in Asia Yvonne Tew offers an in depth look at contemporary Malaysia and Singapore explaining how courts protect and construct constitutionalism even as they confront dominant political parties and negotiate democratic transitions This richly illustrative account offers at once an engaging analysis of Southeast Asia's constitutional context as well as a broader narrative that should resonate in many countries across Asia that are also grappling with similar challenges of colonial legacies histories of authoritarian rule and societies polarized by race religion and identity The book explores the judicial strategies used for statecraft in Asian courts including an analysis of the specific mechanisms that courts can use to entrench constitutional basic structures and to protect rights in a manner that is purposive and proportionate Tew's account shows how courts in Asia's emerging democracies can chart a path forward to help safeguard a nation's constitutional core and to build an enduring constitutional framework
