Constructing Papuan Nationalism History Ethnicity And Adaptation:

Constructing Papuan Nationalism Richard Chauvel, 2005 Papuan nationalism is young evolving and flexible It has adapted to and reflected the political circumstances in which it has emerged Its evolution as a political force is one of the crucial factors in any analysis of political and cultural change in Papua and the development of relations between the Indonesian government and Papuan society This study examines the development of Papuan nationalism from the Pacific War through the movement s revival after the fall of President Suharto in 1998 The author argues that the first step in understanding Papuan nationalism is understanding Papuan history and historical consciousness The history that so preoccupies Papuan nationalists is the history of the decolonization of the Netherlands Indies the struggle between Indonesia and the Netherlands over the sovereignty of Papua and Papua s subsequent integration into Indonesia Papuan nationalism is also about ethnicity Many Papuan nationalists make strong distinctions between Papuans and other peoples especially Indonesians However Papuan society itself is a mosaic of over three hundred small local and often isolated ethno linguistic groups Yet over the years a pan Papuan identity has been forged from this mosaic of tribal groups This study explores the nationalists argument about history and the sources of their sense of common ethnicity It also explores the possibility that the Special Autonomy Law of 2001 if implemented fully might provide a framework in which Papuan national aspirations might be realized This is the fourteenth publication in Policy Studies a peer reviewed East West Center Washington series that presents scholarly analysis of key contemporary domestic and international political economic and strategic issues affecting Asia in a policy relevant manner Ethnic and Racial Minorities in Asia Michelle Ann Miller, 2014-02-25 Ethnic and Racial Minorities in Asia explores the relationship between ethnic minority rights and citizenship in Asia Occupying a prominent place on the global map of conflict Asia is one of the most ethnically diverse and racially divided regions in the world It is also the scene of some of the most contrasting state responses to ethnic and racial conflicts ranging from violent military repression and coercion on the one hand to offers of autonomy and other forms of self rule aimed at granting minorities more equal and inclusive citizenship on the other This volume combines conceptual debates about citizenship with case studies of ethnic minorities from across the Asian region with a particular emphasis on Southeast Asia The contributing authors question the nature of citizenship in the broader sense of identity belonging and the rights and responsibilities of ethnic minorities in relation to sovereign nation states They examine a wide range of key issues including minority rights claims ethnic and racial conflict citizenship constructions and representations of identity post colonialism and human security This book was originally published as a special issue of Ethnic and Racial Studies Democracy and Nationalism in Southeast Asia Jacques Bertrand, 2021-04-29 A unique comparative historical analysis of the impact of democratization on five nationalist conflicts in Southeast Asia Asian Nationalisms Reconsidered Jeff Kingston, 2015-12-22 Nationalism appears to be rising in a renascent Asia and stoking tensions aspirations and identity politics while amplifying grievances and raising questions about prospects in what is touted as the Asian century This book provides a broad overview and introduction to nationalism in Asia Leading experts in their fields succinctly convey key information and critical analysis useful to students in a range of courses across disciplines Part I presents thematic chapters mostly cross national studies that elucidate the roots and consequences of nationalism in these societies and the varying challenges they confront Part II presents concise country case studies in Asia providing an overview of what is driving contemporary nationalism and surveys the domestic and international implications Approaching Asia from the perspective of nationalism facilitates a comparative interdisciplinary analysis that helps readers better understand each society and what the ramifications of nationalism are for contemporary Asians and the worlds that they and we participate in Asian Nationalisms Reconsidered is an invaluable textbook for undergraduate courses and graduate seminars related to international relations Asian Studies political science government foreign policy peace and conflict and nationalism Rethinking Histories of Indonesia Sadiah

Authority in Burma's Ethnic Minority States Mary Patricia Callahan, 2007 This study examines the enormous variation and complexity that characterize relationships between the national state and locally based often non state actors who negotiate and compete for political authority in Burma s ethnic minority dominated states along the borders Three patterns of relationships are explored devolution by the national state to warlord like local authorities occupation by the Burmese military and coexistence with varying degrees of cooperation and understanding among actors from the national state and local stakeholders Throughout these border states leaders of the Burmese government s armed forces and of past and currently active armed opposition forces operate within a context that is neither war nor peace but instead a kind of post civil war not quite peace environment To understand the complex political arrangements that have arisen in this environment this monograph employs the concept of emerging political complex a set of adaptive networks that link state and other political authorities to domestic and foreign business concerns some legal others illegal traditional indigenous leaders religious authorities overseas refugee and diaspora communities political party leaders and nongovernmental organizations All of these players make rules extract resources provide protection and try to order a moral universe but none of them are able or even inclined to trump the others for monolithic national supremacy Conflict resolution strategies have to recognize that these emerging political complexes are not simply unfortunate bumps in the road to peace but instead constitute intricate and evolving social systems that may continue to be adapted and sustained

The Politics of the Periphery in Indonesia John H. Walker, Glenn Banks, Minako Sakai, 2009-01-01 The Politics of the Periphery in Indonesia is a thought provoking examination of local politics and the dynamics of power at Indonesia's geographic and social margins After the fall of Suharto in 1998 and the introduction of a policy of decentralization in 2001 local stakeholders secured and consolidated decision making power and set about negotiating new relations with Jakarta The volume deals with power struggles and local national tensions looking among other things at resource control the historical roots of regional identity politics and issues relating to Chinese Indonesians The authors develop information in ways that transcend the post colonial territorial boundaries of Indonesia in the Malay Indonesian archipelago and use case studies to show how the changes described have galvanized Indonesian politics at the cultural and geographical peripheries

From 'Stone-Age' to 'Real-Time' Martin Slama, Jenny Munro, 2015-04-24 There are probably no other people on earth to whom the image of the stone age is so persistently attached than the inhabitants of the island of New Guinea which is divided into independent Papua New Guinea and the western part of the island known today as Papua and West Papua From Stone Age to Real Time examines the forms of agency frictions and anxieties the current moment generates in West Papua where the persistent stone age image meets the practices and ideologies of the real time a popular expression referring to immediate digital communication The volume is thus essentially occupied with discourses of time and space and how they inform questions of hierarchy and possibilities for equality Papuans are increasingly mobile and seeking to rework inherited ideas institutions and technologies while also coming up against palpable limits on what can be imagined or achieved secured or defended This volume investigates some of these trajectories for the cultural logics and social or political structures that shape them The chapters are highly ethnographic based on in depth research conducted in diverse spaces within and beyond Papua These contributions explore topics ranging from hip hop to HIV AIDS to historicity filling much needed conceptual and ethnographic lacunae in the study of West Papua

Papua Road Map Muridan S. Widjojo, Adriana Elizabeth, Amirudin Al Rahab, Cahyo Pamungkas, Rosita Dewi, 2010-01-01 The sources of the Papua conflict are grouped into four sets of issues First is the problem of the marginalization of indigenous Papuans and the discriminatory impacts on them resulting from the economic development of political conflicts in and mass migrations to Papua since 1970 To respond to this problem an affirmative policy of recognition must be developed to empower indigenous Papuans The second issue is the failure of development particularly in the fields of education health and people's economic empowerment This requires a new paradigm of development focused on improving public services for the welfare of indigenous Papuans in the villages The third main problem is the contradictions that exist between Papuan and Jakartan constructions of political identity and history This problem can only be settled through dialogue along the lines of the dialogue that was conducted for Aceh The fourth issue is accountability for past state violence toward Indonesian citizens in Papua For this a road to reconciliation must be cleared on which courts of human rights and the disclosure of the truth are the means of choice for law and justice to be upheld in Papua for the victims and their families in particular and all Indonesian citizens of Papua in general The above four issues and agendas can be woven together to form a mutually interrelated policy strategy for comprehensive long term resolution of the Papuan conflict The atmosphere of Reformasi and the existence of the accommodative Law No 21 2001 on Special Autonomy UU Otsus a responsive central government as well as the very large size of Papua's budget lead the LIPI team to have faith that the problems of Papua can be resolved with justice peace and dignity Deepening Democracy in Indonesia? Maribeth Erb, Priyambudi Sulistiyanto, 2009 Since the fall of long reigning President Soeharto in 1998 Indonesia has been in an era of transition away from an authoritarian regime and on a quest for democracy This quest started with decentralization laws implemented in 2001 which gave greater autonomy to the regions and continued with the direct elections for the national and local legislatures and the President in 2004 The latest development in this democratization process is the implementation of a system for the direct election of regional leaders which began in 2005 the first round of elections across the nation for all governors mayors and district heads was completed in 2008 Authors of the chapters in this volume the result of a workshop in Singapore in 2006 present data from across the archipelago for these first direct elections for local leaders and give their assessment as to how far these elections have contributed to a deepening democracy

The Ashgate Research Companion to Secession Peter Radan, 2016-03-23 Secession is a detachment of a territory from an existing state with the aim of creating a new state on the detached territory Secession is usually an outcome of the political mobilization of a population on the territory to be detached and as a political phenomenon is a subject of study in the social sciences Its impact on inter state relations is a subject of study in international relations But secession is also subject to regulation both in the constitutional law of sovereign states and in international law Following a spate of secessions in the early 1990s legal scholars have proposed a variety of ways to regulate the international responses to attempts at secessions Moreover since the 1980s normative justification of secession has been subject to an intense debate among political theorists and moral philosophers This research companion has the following three complementary aims First to offer an overview of the current theoretical approaches to secession in the social sciences international relations legal theory political theory and applied ethics Second to outline the current practice of international recognition of secession and current domestic and international laws which regulate secession Third to offer an account of major secessionist movements past and present from a comparative perspective In their accounts of past secessions and current secessionist movements the contributors to this volume focus on the following four components the nature and source of secessionist grievances the ideologies and techniques of secessionist mobilization the responses of the host state or majority parties in the host state and the international response to attempts at secession This provides a basis for identification of at least some common patterns in the otherwise highly varied processes of secession

Morning Star Rising Camellia Webb-Gannon, 2021-06-30 That Indonesia's ongoing occupation of West Papua continues to be largely ignored by world governments is one of the great moral and political failures of our time West Papuans have struggled for more than fifty years to find a way through the long night of Indonesian colonization However united in their pursuit of merdeka freedom in its many forms what holds West Papuans together is greater than what divides them Today the Morning Star glimmers on the horizon the supreme symbol of merdeka and a cherished sign of hope for the imminent arrival of peace and justice to West Papua Morning Star Rising The Politics of Decolonization in West Papua is an ethnographically framed account of the long bitter fight for freedom that challenges the dominant international narrative that West Papuans quest for political independence is fractured and futile Camellia Webb Gannon s extensive interviews with the decolonization movement s original architects and its more recent champions shed light on complex diasporic and intergenerational politics as well as social and cultural resurgence In foregrounding West Papuans perspectives the author shows that it is the body politic s unflagging determination and hope rather than military might or influential allies that form the movement s most unifying and powerful force for independence This book examines the many intertwining strands of decolonization in Melanesia Differences in cultural performance and political diversity throughout the region are generating new fruitful trajectories Simultaneously Black and Indigenous solidarity and a shared Melanesian identity have forged a transnational grassroots power base from which the movement is gaining momentum Relevant beyond its West Papua focus this book is essential reading for those interested in Pacific studies Native and Indigenous studies development studies activism and decolonization Renegotiating Boundaries ,2014-04-09 For decades almost the only social scientists who visited Indonesia s provinces were anthropologists Anybody interested in politics or economics spent most of their time in Jakarta where the action was Our view of the world s fourth largest country threatened to become simplistic lacking that essential graininess Then in 1998 Indonesia was plunged into a crisis that could not be understood with simplistic tools After 32 years of enforced stability the New Order was at an end Things began to happen in the provinces that no one was prepared for Democratization was one decentralization another Ethnic and religious identities emerged that had lain buried under the blanket of the New Order s modernizing ideology Unfamiliar sometimes violent forms of political competition and of rentseeking came to light Decentralization was often connected with the neo liberal desire to reduce state powers and make room for free trade and democracy To what extent were the goals of good governance and a stronger civil society achieved How much of the process was captured by regional elites to increase their own powers Amidst the new identity politics what has happened to citizenship These are among the central questions addressed in this book This volume is the result of a two year research project at KITLV It brings together an international group of 24 scholars mainly from Indonesia and the Netherlands but also from the United States Australia Germany Canada and Portugal Freedom in Entangled Worlds Eben Kirksey,2012-03-21 Ethnography that explores the political landscape of West Papua and chronicles indigenous struggles for independence during the late 1990s and early 2000s Asia in the Pacific Islands R. G. Crocombe,2007 A spectacular transition is under way in the Pacific Islands as a result of which all our lives will be radically different In the last fifty years or so Asia has begun to play a bigger and bigger role in all aspects of Islands life migration trade and investment aid and development information and media religion culture and sport It is replacing the West The process is irreversible

With his trademark breadth and depth of knowledge and understanding of the region based on over half a century of experience study and deliberation Ron Crocombe documents the early connections between Asia and the Pacific details recent and continuing changes and poses challenging theories about the future Publisher Assessing Burma's Ceasefire Accords Zaw Oo, Win Min, 2007 The Burmese military government and numerous ethnic minority armed groups have entered a series of ceasefires since 1989 in spite of the fact that most previous talks between 1949 and 1983 failed Why did the parties enter into ceasefire accords What is the nature of the accords What have been the consequences What are the future scenarios Written by two Burmese researchers this study investigates the underlying factors behind the ceasefires explores the nature of the secretive agreements and identifies the consequences affecting stakeholders in the larger context of peacebuilding political settlement democratization and the state building process The study concludes that recent ceasefires present a significant first step in solving the sixty year old civil war However after more than 17 years they have not brought about peace or political settlement The government initiated ceasefires carry a heavy military focus primarily seeking to reduce military threats and gain better control over the borderlands while placing greater emphasis on state building than on peacebuilding Nevertheless the accords have allowed many ceasefire groups to maintain or increase their strength develop their areas and more importantly ceasefires have resulted in the local ethnic population having relatively better lives Many ethnic armed groups will continue to pursue their goals through political means but if at least some of their objectives are not met a resumption of violence cannot be ruled out Sites, Bodies and Stories Susan Legêne, Bambang Purwanto, Henk Schulte Nordholt, 2015-06-22 Sites Bodies and Stories examines the intimate links between history and heritage as they have developed in postcolonial Indonesia Sites discussed in the book include Borobudur in Central Java a village in Flores built around megalithic formations and ancestral houses in Alor Bodies refers to legacies of physical anthropology exhibition practices and Hollywood movies The Stories are accounts of the Mambesak movement in Papua the inclusion of wayang puppetry in UNESCO's List of the Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity and subaltern history as written by the people of Blambangan in their search for national heroes Throughout the book citizenship entitlement figures as a leitmotif in heritage initiatives Contemporary heritage formation in Indonesia is intrinsically linked to a canon of Indonesian art and culture developed during Dutch colonial rule institutionalized within Indonesia's heritage infrastructure and in the Netherlands and echoed in museums and exhibitions throughout the world The authors in this volume acknowledge colonial legacies but argue against a colonial determinism considering instead how contemporary heritage initiatives can lead to new interpretations of the past PEACE STUDIES, PUBLIC POLICY AND GLOBAL SECURITY - Volume IV Ursula Oswald Spring, Ada Aharoni, Ralph V.
