The Construction Of Reality In The Child Jean Piaget, 2013-07-04 This is Volume XX of thirty two in the Developmental Psychology series Initially published in 1954 in Piaget's words the study of sensorimotor or practical intelligence in the first two years of development has taught us how the child at first directly assimilating the external environment to his own activity later in order to extend this assimilation forms an increasing number of schemata which are both more mobile and better able to inter coordinate This study looks at the second part of evolution of sensorimotor intelligence as the description of behavior no longer suffices to account for these new products of intellectual activity it is the subject's own interpretation of things which we must now try to analyze The Construction Of Reality In The Child

The Human Symbolic Construction of Reality Nils G. Holm,2014 It is typical of humans to create forms of understanding at a symbolic level of the biological and physiological reality that confronts them This gives meaning and a coherent structure to the often chaotic nature of that reality This book sums up several years of research into religion from a perspective informed by history phenomenology and psychology Religion has been a means of creating such symbolic understandings The similarities between various religions are actually very great although their differences tend to dominate our view of them Everything in the world of religion can be traced back to everyday simple circumstances which through the construction of symbols at both the cognitive and the behavioral levels acquire a more elevated and sacred character The book provides an introduction to the key aspects of a psycho phenomenological study of the forms of expression within religions Series Nordic Studies in Religion and Culture Vol 2 Subject Religious Studies Phenomenology Psychology

Stories, Pictures And Reality Virginia Lowe,2007 Stories Pictures and Reality follows two children as they work out the reality status of stories and pictures with a daily parent observer record from the birth of the first child until the second is eight a span of eleven years in all Together these children pick through the meaning of stories and the motivations of the characters they discover in this unique first hand description of the discernment that children bring to books from an early age full of revealing quotes that tell us a great deal about the cognitive development of our young readers It s a joke cause it couldn t really have happened I ll tell you what s pretend Batman Robin Superman pirates cowboys and Indians Pussy cats don t fly kites The man who drawed it was wrong In analysis this longitudinal study shows that children have more insight and understanding than they are often given credit for and that they approach subjects that puzzle the most sophisticated of thinkers with an elegant simplicity beyond the expectations of conventional psychologists and children's literature commentators This book urges readers especially practitioners and academics to afford greater respect to what young children are capable of in this area Child Psychotherapy Robbie Adler-Tapia, 2012-06-22 Print CourseSmart

The Family's Construction of Reality David Reiss, 1981 David Reiss presents a new model of family interaction grounded in the subtle and complex way in which a family constructs its inner life and deals with the outside world Based upon fifteen years of research the book offers a new understanding of the covert processes that hold a family together and with distressing frequency pull it apart Media in Foreign Language Teaching and Learning Wai Meng Chan, Kwee Nyet Chin, Masanori Nagami, Titima Suthiwan, 2011-10-27 While educators and educational psychologists debate the influence of media on learning there can be little doubt that media is now an integral constituent of any educational context In particular computer and internet media with their immense processing power and multimedia capabilities can have significant bearing on learning processes and outcomes in today's learning environment Such media which are increasingly designed to be highly interactive and adaptable can enable reflective productive and communicative activities and have much potential for foreign language learning The book contains 16 papers which look at different forms of media and explore how these affect or can be used effectively in foreign language education The first of three parts focuses on important theoretical and pedagogical issues in selecting and using media In the second part insightful empirical research findings are presented on the contributions of different forms of media in language teaching and learning including their effect on learners learning motivation The third and concluding part of the book provides in depth accounts of how media can be harnessed to drive innovative curricular practice as well as students evaluations of these curricular projects Constructing Social Reality Loretta Brunious, 2017-10-03 This book examines how black children who grow up in an impoverished environment construct their social reality and why this process is a particularly critical factor in their perception and creation of self It argues that black disadvantaged children develop a lifestyle and adopt values based on an identity grounded in racism inequality violence and poverty Constructing Social Reality Self Portraits of poor Black Adolescents makes a valuable contribution to the scholarship by investigating the phenomena of poverty from cognitive linguistic and experiential perspectives in the lives of disadvantaged black adolescents

THE CHILD'S CONCEPTION OF Physical CAUSALITY Jean Piaget, 2013-07-04 Our encounters with the physical world are filled with miraculous puzzles wind appears from somewhere heavy objects like oil tankers float on oceans yet smaller objects go to the bottom of our water filled buckets As adults instead of confronting a whole world we are reduced to driving from one parking garage to another The Child's Conception of Physical Causality part of the very beginning of the ground breaking work of the Swiss naturalist Jean Piaget is filled with creative experimental ideas for probing the most sophisticated ways of thinking in children The strength of Piaget's research is evident in this collection of empirical data systematically organized by tasks that illuminate how things work Piaget's data are remarkably rich In his new introduction Jaan Valsiner observes that Piaget had no grand theoretical aims yet the book's simple power cannot be ignored Piaget's great contribution to developmental psychology was his clinical method a tactic that integrated relevant aspects of naturalistic experiment interview and observation Through this systematic inquiry we gain insight into children's thinking Reading Piaget will encourage the contemporary reader to think about the unity of psychological phenomena and their theoretical underpinnings His wealth of creative experimental ideas probes into the most sophisticated ways of thinking in children Technologies change yet the creative curiosity of children remains basically unhindered by the consumer society Piaget's data preserve the reality of the original phenomena As such this work will provide a wealth of information for developmental psychologists and those involved in the field of experimental science Jean Piaget 1896 1980 is known for investigations of thought processes He was professor at Geneva University 1929 1954 and director of the International Center for Epistemology 1955 1980 He is the author of The Language and Thought of the Child Judgment and Reasoning in the Child The Origin of Intelligence in Children and The Early Growth of Logic in the Child Jaan Valsiner is professor of psychology at Clark University and a recognized authority on the life and work of Piaget
