Excavation of Two Anasazi Sites in Southern Utah ,1981 The two reports published here contain elements which contribute substantially to this broader spectrum of Southwestern cultural change While primarily descriptive in nature these two site reports one from the western Kayenta area and one from the margin of the Mesa Verde area and the eastern Kayenta suggest that the changes which occurred in the more centralized portions of these regions were directly related to what happened on the margins That while the site densities and population aggregates may not have been as high the same factors affected these marginal areas That conclusion could be expected but what may not be expected is the differential response which appears to have occurred After reading these two reports it appears that it may be possible to discern elements of change in these fringe areas that once defined will provide new insight into what happened and why and in what are presently the better known areas of the Southwest These two papers are important in sum not only because they are reports of work in poorly known areas but because they do provide analyses of fringe areas they help us to understand the Southwest generally From preliminary introduction

Archaeological Research on the Societies of Late Prehistoric Xinjiang, Vol 2 Guo Wu, 2022-11-23 This book presents cutting edge archaeological materials from Xinjiang from the Bronze Age to the early Iron Age Through a systematic topological study of major archaeological cemeteries and sites it establishes chronologies and cultural sequences for three main regions in Xinjiang namely the circum Eastern Tianshan region the circum Dzungarian Basin region and the circum Tarim Basin region It also discusses the origins and local variants of prehistoric archaeological cultures in these regions and the mutual relationships between them and neighboring cultures By doing so the book offers a panoramic view of the socio cultural changes that took place in prehistoric Xinjiang from pastoral agricultural societies to the mobile nomadic pastoralist states in the steppe regions and the agricultural states of the oasis making it a must read for researchers and general readers who are interested in the archaeology of Xinjiang

Building the Great Stone Circles of the North Colin Richards, 2013-11-30 Of all prehistoric monuments few are more emotive than the great stone circles that were built throughout Britain and Ireland From the tall elegant pointed monoliths of the Stones of Stenness to the grandeur of Stonehenge and the sarsen blocks at Avebury circles of stone exert a magnetic fascination to those who venture into their sphere In Britain today more people visit these structures than any other form of prehistoric monument and visitors stand in awe at their scale and question how and why they were erected Building the Great Stone Circles of the North looks at the enigmatic stone structures of Scotland and investigates the background of their construction and their cultural significance

Ancient Building Technology, Volume 1: Historical Background G.R.H. Wright, 2022-07-18 The wealth of excavation of ancient buildings in the past 50 years and the resulting flood of publications has created a demand for a survey of building practice in antiquity This two volume work deals with the techniques of setting together the fabric of ancient buildings the manual and mechanical operations involved the materials tools and equipment used Ancient here means from very first beginnings origins to the end of Late Antiquity i e about 600 A D as manifested geographically in the Old World of Europe and the Middle East not sub Saharan Africa Further Asia the Far East or New World Building the product and the process is limited to architectural building and looks at the technology of civil engineering only where it introduces novelties Technology here means the system of techniques used in the process of building construction rather than the science or theory of building The 10 chapters of this first volume are intended to give a general perspective of animal building in the light of evolutionary biology then of building in the Palaeolithic Neolithic Mesopotamian Egyptian Levanto Aegean Achaemenid Greek Roman Late Antique Early Christian Byzantine Sassanian contexts with a weighting towards the lesser known prehistoric beginnings and late antique end The second volume will focus on the technical details materials of construction structural systems principles of construction and forms of construction

Roman Building Jean-Pierre Adam, 2005-11-01 With over 750 illustrations Roman Buildings is a thorough and systematic examination of Roman architecture and building practice looking at large scale public buildings as well as more modest homes and shops Placing emphasis on the technical aspects of the subject the author follows the process of building through each stage from quarry to standing wall from tree to roof timbers and describes how these materials were obtained or manufactured The author also discusses interior decoration and looks at the practical aspects of water supply heating and roads

Ancient Building in Cyprus George R. H. Wright, 1992 The wealth of excavation in Cyprus conducted across a period of nearly a century and a half has revealed much evidence of ancient building of all functional categories This picture extends over a vast range of time ca 10 000 years since Cyprus is probably the place where the earliest substantial building known the Neolithic round house style is better presented than anywhere else in the world It is the aim of this book to set forth and document the building tradition which hitherto has received no detailed exposition The book will fill several gaps in the library shelves at one and the same time architectural history that presents all the archaeological evidence

Ancient Building in Cyprus G.R.H. Wright, 2022-11-07 The wealth of excavation in Cyprus conducted across a period of nearly a century and a half has revealed much evidence of ancient building of all functional categories Whereas the earlier excavation concerned mainly funerary and religious contexts more recent work has endeavoured to clarify the whole range of building in Cyprus This picture extends over a vast range of time ca 10 000 years since Cyprus is probably the place where the earliest substantial building known the Neolithic round house style is better presented than anywhere else in the world Certainly it was immeasurably longer lived in Cyprus than in any other region of the ancient world This longevity of tradition became a proverbial aspect of the Cypriote character It is the aim of this book to set forth and document this building tradition which hitherto has received no detailed exposition After preliminary geographical and historical introductions the ancient building of Cyprus has been surveyed and analysed from the following view points its historical development its design its construction and its foreign connections Because of the extensive and detailed coverage every effort has been made to facilitate the use of the book equally as a treatise and as a work of instant reference e g by way of introductory pr cis list of general references running titles to pages and marginal rubrics The book is also virtually a double treatment of the subject since a separate volume contains specially drawn illustrations arranged with captions on the facing pages which themselves constitute an incisive coverage of the subject
