Yentsch, Mary C. Beaudry, 1992-08-11 The Art and Mystery of Historical Archaeology is essential reading for anyone concerned with the past In it archaeologists write of revolutions of the imagination and wrest secrets from old objects to recreate our multi-cultured heritage Material culture is focal large cities small potsherds big and little bones The book is interdisciplinary and goes inside the process of artifact interpretation to reveal how artifacts talk about people The emphasis is context ethnography ordinary and extraordinary men women and children Here is local history in material form as well as stories of global expansion and culture contact The book draws on the seminal influence of James Deetz's work on American culture and merges history folklore anthropology African American Native American and gender studies The essays illustrate the power and potency of folk beliefs and how myths of the past are constantly remade The authors show how people use objects to converse about themselves their worlds and relationships with others They examine messages writ on brick and stone buried in earth and passed in legend They then demonstrate how archaeologists historians museologists and students of material culture can read these to bring the past to light □□□□

Paperbound Books in Print ,1984 Hospitality Marketing Management Robert D. Reid,1989 Covers the major principles of marketing with a practical applications oriented approach This is a core marketing text specifically geared for the hospitality student It covers the major principles of marketing with a practical applications oriented approach rather than traditional marketing texts found in the business programs that focus on a lot of theory Includes coverage of tourism marketing Features new material on marketing technology and it s implications in the hospitality industry Offers international coverage Provides new applications approach to the discipline of marketing Hyperculture Stephen Bertman,1998-04-30 The rampant illnesses of our society including the disintegration of the family the degradation of the environment unlimited commercialism and unrelenting stress are familiar to us all For the first time Stephen Bertman attempts to explain these disparate overwhelmingly negative phenomena with a single unifying principle that the accelerated pace of American society is eroding the essence of our most fundamental values In 1970 Alvin Toffler identified a psychological disease he called future shock caused by too much change in too short a time Now Bertman daringly diagnoses an even more serious condition hyperculture a chronic warping of morals and ethics caused by America s addiction to speed The treatment he argues in this book will require nothing less than a drastic slowdown we must reassert control over the technologies that now dominate us in order to insure a humane future for our children and ourselves We live according to Bertman in a society ruled by the power of now a power that gives us instant gratification even as it demands our instantaneous obedience As a result we have adapted our lives and values to match the speed of light electronic technologies that surround us But in so doing we have paid a high price in spirit and mind Cut off from the wisdom of the past and too rushed to consider the consequences of our actions we are caught up in a culture of sensationalism and transience in which the very definitions of personal identity and democracy are being transformed Hyperculture dares to suggest that the cure for our condition lies not in an information superhighway or third wave information revolution but in the radical and painful process of decelerating our lives enough to reclaim them It is a daunting challenge to be sure but one on which our happiness and even our survival depend Papers from the ... Annual Conference on Consumer Satisfaction, Dissatisfaction and Complaining Behavior ,1983 Married Working Mothers' Evaluations of and Responses to Sharing and Non-sharing Commercial Portrayals of Multiple-role Women Sherri J.
