Consumer Law In Scotland:

Consumer Law in Scotland W. C. H. Irvine, 2000 Consumer Law in Scotland Matthew Clarke, Scottish Consumer Council, 1976 Representative Actions in Consumer Protection Legislation Law Society of Scotland. Consumer Law Sub-Committee, 2006 Knowledge of Consumer Rights in Scotland Sarah O'Neill, 2003 Memorandum by the Law Society of Scotland Law Society of Scotland. Consumer Law Sub-Committee, Law Society of Scotland, 2006 A Straightforward Guide to the Rights of the Consumer David Bryan, 2013

Consumer rights continually evolve and change and this book lays out all of the changes to 2013 in a clear and concise way. Areas such as legislation covering the use of credit cards and credit generally plus distance selling regulations are all areas that have been affected by the introduction of European legislation. These are covered in depth along with the main body of consumer law.

Protecting consumers - the system for enforcing consumer law Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Committee of Public Accounts, 2011-11-09

The Commons Public Accounts Committee publishes its 54th report of Session 2010-12 on the basis of evidence from consumer groups, the Department for Business Innovation and Skills, the Office of Fair Trading and the Trading Standards Institute, examining the current arrangements for the enforcement of consumer law and the proposed changes to the regime. Individual consumers lose around 6.6 billion every year because of the malpractices of traders. At least 4.8 billion is lost through malpractices which occur at a regional or national level, such as mass market scams, counterfeiting and unscrupulous traders who operate over large geographical areas. The Department has overall responsibility for policy on consumer protection. However, the majority of enforcement work, from weights and measures testing to the prosecution of rogue traders, is carried out by local authority Trading Standards Services, each with jurisdiction in only its own local area. The Committee states that the Department has limited understanding of the true cost of protecting consumers or of the success of existing interventions. There is no clear and complete information on how much enforcement activity actually costs. The approach to enforcing consumer protection has not kept pace with the changing nature of the problems it is intended to tackle, such as online shopping. Any changes the Department makes must deliver a system fit for the modern era. Responsibility for tackling regional and national instances of malpractice or rogue trading must be clearly designated.
