Contemporary African Arts and Crafts: On-site Working with Art Forms and Processes Thelma R. Newman, 1974
Describes the techniques involved in such native African crafts as pottery making weaving basketry leather and metal working beading and carving Contemporary African Arts and Crafts Thelma R. Newman, 1974 Ethnic and Tourist Arts Nelson H. H. Graburn, 1979-01-01 Chapter by N Williams separately annotated By the Work of Their Hands John Michael Vlach, 1991 A stunning piece of scholarship rich in both theory and evidence that takes the reader to a new plateau of understanding Charles Joyner University of South Carolina of the African American folklife Conservation of Architectural Heritage Antonella Versaci, Hocine Bougdah, Natsuko Akagawa, Nicola Cavalagli, 2022-03-01 This book focuses on the management and conservation of architectural heritage with the aim of increasing awareness about the value of such conservation and of saving what is left of history which in turn rewards societies by supporting the tourism industry generating economic return and preserving communities identities Since it has become an essential need to manage and conserve the architectural heritage in order to protect the identity and heritage of a city there appeared a gap between the theory and its application Therefore a considerable amount of attention has been directed by experts in this field toward emphasizing the contribution of heritage conservation in order to inspire the development of imaginative useful high quality design The Yoruba from Prehistory to the Present Aribidesi Usman, Toyin Falola, 2019-07-04 A rich and accessible account of Yoruba history society and culture from the pre colonial period to the present The Messages of Tourist Art Bennetta Jules-Rosette, 2013-04-17 Tourist art may be a billion dollar business Nevertheless such art is despised What is worse the bad culture is seen as driving out the good Commercialization is assumed to destroy traditional arts and crafts replacing them with junk The process is seen as demeaning to artists in the traditional societies who are seduced into a type of whoredom unfeeling production of false beauty for money The arts remain problematic for the social sciences Sociology textbooks treat the arts as subordinate reflections of social forces norms or groups Anthropology textbooks conventionally isolate the arts in a separate chapter failing to integrate them with analyses of kinship economics politics language or biology Textbooks reflect the guiding theories which emphasize such factors as modes of production patterns of thought or biological and normative constraints but their authors have not adequately formulated the aesthetic dimension One may compare the theoretical status of the arts to that of religion After the contributions by Emile Durkheim and Max Weber the sociology of religion is well established but where is a Durkheim or Weber for the sociology of art What is true of the social sciences in general holds for understanding of modernization in the Third World These processes and those places are analyzed economically politically and socially but the aesthetic dimension is treated in isolation if at all and is poorly grasped in relation to the other forces African Folklore Philip M. Peek, Kwesi Yankah, 2004-03-01 Written by an international team of experts this is the first work of its kind to offer comprehensive coverage of folklore throughout the African continent Over

300 entries provide in depth examinations of individual African countries ethnic groups religious practices artistic genres and numerous other concepts related to folklore Featuring original field photographs a comprehensive index and thorough cross references African Folklore An Encyclopedia is an indispensable resource for any library s folklore or African studies collection Also includes seven maps

Griot Potters of the Folona Barbara E. Frank, 2022-02-02 Griot Potters of the Folona reconstructs the past of a particular group of West African women potters using evidence found in their artistry and techniques The potters of the Folona region of southeastern Mali serve a diverse clientele and firing thousands of pots weekly during the height of the dry season Although they identify themselves as Mande the unique styles and types of objects the Folona women make and more importantly the way they form and fire them are fundamentally different from Mande potters to the north and west Through a brilliant comparative analysis of pottery production methods across the region especially how the pots are formed and the way the techniques are taught by mothers to daughters Barbara Frank concludes that the mothers of the potters of the Folona very likely came from the south and east marrying Mande griots West African leatherworkers who are better known as storytellers or musicians as they made their way south in search of clientele as early as the 14th or 15th century CE While the women may have nominally given up their mothers identities through marriage over the generations the potters preserved their maternal heritage through their technological style passing this knowledge on to their daughters and thus transforming the very nature of what it means to be a Mande griot This is a story of resilience and the continuity of cultural heritage in the hands of women
