Evading Class in Contemporary British Literature L. Driscoll, 2009-06-22 This trenchant book argues that the cultural attempt to erase class during the period from Margaret Thatcher to Tony Blair has only generated its return as a troubling subterranean element in British literature and theory Driscoll critiques the way postmodern theory idealizes contemporary British literature as a space of fluid flexible decentered subjects arguing that beneath this ideology are clear evasions of class Offering critical readings of canonized middle class authors from Martin Amis to Graham Swift Driscoll makes the compelling argument that the contemporary British novel assisted by class blind postmodern literary theory consistently works to control the problem of class

New Ways for Indigenous Manufacturing John Fenton, 2012-08-29 Many people in the UK and in other mature economies are bewildered by the erosion of indigenous manufacturing that has taken place since the 1980s and before While a number of economic historians have examined this decline to reveal the economic causes little has been made of the underlying national and corporate cultures affecting a single corporation in this case one comprising all of UK indigenous volume motor manufacturing John Fenton studied the writings of researchers who have observed manufacturing decline since the Industrial Revolution to make a case for the redirection of the culture ways of life of national and industrial leaders in order to help bring about industrial revival New Ways for Indigenous Manufacturing recognizes the very positive contribution to the UK economy of foreign direct investment FDI transplants but past applications of FDI have also yielded negative effects on native industry The book reminds politicians of some of these dangers and hopefully restores public confidence in them with a promise that some patented technologies could be held by start up companies for national rather than overseas exploitation

Japan's Cold War Ann Sherif, 2009-03-05 Critics and cultural historians take Japan's postwar insularity for granted rarely acknowledging the role of Cold War concerns in the shaping of Japanese society and culture Nuclear anxiety polarized ideologies gendered tropes of nationhood and new myths of progress among other developments profoundly transformed

Japanese literature criticism and art during this era and fueled the country's desire to recast itself as a democratic nation and culture. By rereading the pivotal events, iconic figures and crucial texts of Japan's literary and artistic life through the lens of the Cold War, Ann Sherif places this supposedly insular nation at the center of a global battle. Each of her chapters focuses on a major moment, spectacle or critical debate, highlighting Japan's entanglement with cultural Cold War politics. Film director Kurosawa Akira, atomic bomb writer Hara Tamiki, singer and movie star Ishihara Yujiro and even Godzilla and the Japanese translation of Lady Chatterley's Lover all reveal the trends and controversies that helped Japan carve out a postwar literary canon, a definition of obscenity, an idea of the artist's function in society and modern modes of expression and knowledge. Sherif's comparative approach not only recontextualizes seemingly anomalous texts and ideas but binds culture firmly to the domestic and international events that defined the decades following World War II. By integrating the art and criticism of Japan into larger social fabrics, Japan's Cold War offers a truly unique perspective on the critical and creative acts of a country remaking itself in the aftermath of war.

The Contemporary British Novel Philip Tew, 2007-06-26 Second edition of this guide for students studying contemporary British writing, written by one of the key academics in the field of modern fiction studies.

Wilf Self's Essayistic Prose: A view of Great Britain from the Margins? Betsabé NAVARRO ROMERO, 2011-03-24 La publicación de este volumen representa un caso relativamente insólito. Un pequeño grupo de jóvenes investigadores de menos de treinta años convence a un grupo mucho más numeroso de la misma edad para celebrar en Salamanca la First Conference of Young Researchers on Anglophone Studies. El resultado es deslumbrante. No solo demuestran una gran capacidad organizativa sino que los resultados individuales de las aportaciones científicas son sobresalientes. Este volumen Current Trends in Anglophone Studies recoge una selección revisada de las propuestas presentadas en el Encuentro y gira en torno a una estructuración tripartita: clásica, estudios culturales, lingüísticos y literarios. En ella caben todos aquellos que se mueven en el campo de los estudios anglofonos. Cada uno de estos campos podría haber sido suficiente para celebrar un congreso pero parece razonable que en este tipo de encuentros tengan cabida todos. De ese modo, este volumen se convierte en un ejemplo de aproximación interdisciplinaria a los estudios anglofonos. Desde un punto de vista cuantitativo, los estudios culturales ocupan sin duda un espacio menor. Sin embargo, sobresale la variedad de temas tratados, así como la internacionalización de los autores dentro de este apartado. Estudiantes españoles e italianos acometen estudios relacionados con la música, la pintura, el cine, la traducción, la marginalidad social o el impacto de las nuevas tecnologías en la producción artística. Si no pareciera demasiado atrevido, podría decirse que estos jóvenes estudiosos irán más allá de lo que un día ya lejano pudieron imaginar Richard Hoggard o Raymond Williams. Los estudios aquí presentados reflejan sin duda la evolución que la propia sociedad ha experimentado en estos últimos cincuenta años y exploran la relación entre las prácticas culturales, la vida diaria y los contextos económicos, políticos e históricos. No es de extrañar que una gran parte de las contribuciones presentadas en este volumen se centren en el estudio de la lengua, ya que la demanda del inglés se ha incrementado de forma considerable en los últimos años. Sobresalen los análisis puramente filológicos y sobre todo los relacionados con el aprendizaje del inglés como segunda lengua. Por eso destacan estudios que contemplan rasgos morfológicos léxicos o sintácticos. Sin embargo el mayor número de participaciones hace referencia al ya citado aprendizaje del inglés como L2 tanto desde el análisis de materiales como desde la práctica oral o escrita. Las contribuciones literarias ofrecen una evaluación teórica formal e interpretativa de distintas tendencias desde perspectivas tanto interdisciplinares como interculturales. Cronológicamente los estudios abarcan textos desde el siglo XVIII hasta nuestros días con un acento especial en los autores más contemporáneos y en el género narrativo. En general estos estudios se fijan en textos concretos y los analizan desde perspectivas culturales sociológicas o psicológicas. Pero abundan menos las aproximaciones desde la teoría literaria desde la técnica narrativa o como tal vez cabría esperar al tratarse de estudiantes tan jóvenes desde la aplicación de las nuevas tecnologías. Por el contrario se repiten temas como los traumas heredados de la Guerra de Vietnam, las cicatrices del 11 de septiembre o los problemas de género. En definitiva se trata de una selección de artículos claramente prometedora que transmite la seguridad de que el futuro de la Filología Inglesa está en buenas manos y podrá experimentar una positiva evolución en los próximos años. Por todo ello hay que felicitar a todos los participantes individuales y sobre todo a los organizadores del evento y editores de este volumen que han demostrado una enorme capacidad de trabajo y de saber hacer.

Re-reading the Constitution James Vernon, 1996-11-13 A re-examination of the debates over the meaning of the English constitution first published in 1996

Education Policy and Social Reproduction John Fitz, Brian Davies, John Evans, 2005-11-16 This book takes a theoretically informed look at British education policy over the last sixty years when secondary schooling for all children became an established fact for the first time. Comprehensive schools largely replaced a system based on academic selection. Now under choice and competition policies all schools are subject to the rigours of local education markets. What impact did each of these successive policy frameworks have on structures of opportunities for families and their children? How and to what extent was the experience of secondary school students shaped and what influenced the qualifications they obtained and their life chances after schooling? The authors locate their work within two broad strands in the sociology of education. Basil Bernstein's work on the realisation of power and control in and through pedagogic discourse and social reproduction provides a theoretical framework for exploring the character of and continuities and change in education and training policies. The book is an important contribution to debates about the extent to which education is a force for change in class-divided societies. The authors also set out to re-establish social class at the centre of educational analysis at a time when emphasis has been on identity and identity formation, arguing for their interdependence. This book will be an important resource for students, policy analysts and policymakers wishing to think through and understand the longer term impact of programmes that have shaped secondary schooling in Britain and elsewhere.

Understanding Post-War British Society Peter Catterall, James Obelkevich, 2002-11-01 Too many sociology textbooks begin and end with how society is structured To understand how society operates it is necessary to explore not only its constituent structures and relationships but how these structures emerge and why changes occur within them By bringing together a group of distinguished sociologists and social historians this book critically appraises the usefulness of current theories in advancing our understanding of contemporary society It explores British society as dynamic and developing In the process the authors draw our attention to the fact that society is shaped not just by social policy and structures but by how far these influence people s life patterns attitudes experience and conduct Celia Brackenridge Cheltenham Gloucester College of Higher Education Joan C Brown Robert G Burgess University of Warwick Rosemary Crompton University of Kent John Curtice University of Str
