Customs Accounts Of Newcastle Upon Tyne 1454 1500:

The customs accounts of Newcastle upon Tyne, 1454-1500 John F. Wade, 1995 All thirteen of the extant Controller's accounts from the period 1454-1500 are included. These supply a record of the customs and subsidies on exports and imports. Each account is provided with a short introduction discussing the physical appearance of the membranes and the accounts.

The Overseas Trade of Boston, 1279-1548 Stephen H. Rigby, Robert C. Nash, 2022-11-14 At the start of the fourteenth century Boston Lincolnshire was one of England's largest and wealthiest towns and played a leading role in the country's overseas trade attracting merchants and commodities from as far afield as Italy Gascony the Low Countries Germany and Scandinavia and was second only to London in many branches of trade. Yet two centuries later as the accounts of the royal customs reveal Boston's overseas trade was of minor significance as the capital came to dominate the nation's commerce at the expense of its provincial ports. This book offers a comprehensive guide to the evolution of the medieval English customs system and discusses the reliability of the sources which it generated. It brings together all the statistical data from Boston's enrolled customs accounts for the period from 1279 to 1548 concerning the fluctuations in volume of the port's trade the transformation in the nature of its imports and exports and the changes in the origins of the merchants whether English or alien who traded there. It will be of interest to all scholars and students of medieval English towns and in particular to those concerned with Anglo-Hanseatic trade in the later Middle Ages.

North-East England, 1569-1625 Diana Newton, 2006 This study of England's north-eastern parts examines counties Durham and Northumberland as well as Newcastle upon Tyne with its central theme the extent to which the county gentry and urban elites possessed a sense of regional identity. It concentrates on these elites' social political religious and cultural connections which extended beyond the purely administrative jurisdictions of the county or town. By concentrating on a series of seismic changes in the area the demise of its great regional magnates the rapid upsurge of the coal industry and the union of the crowns it offers a distinctive chronological coverage from the latter half of the sixteenth century through to the early seventeenth century. Old stereotypes of the north-eastern landed elites as isolated and backward are overturned while their response to state formation reveals their political sophistication. Traditional views of the religious conservatism of the north-eastern parts are reassessed to demonstrate its multi-faceted complexion. And contrasting cultural patterns are analysed through ballad literature the cult of St Cuthbert and increasing exposure to metropolitan civility to reveal a series of sub-regions within the north-eastern reaches of the kingdom.

Newcastle The Biography Bill Purdue, 2011-10-15 The story of the city of Newcastle from its earliest origins in Roman Britain to the present day.

The Maritime World of Early Modern Britain Richard Blakemore, James Davey, 2025-10-01 Britain's emergence as one of Europe's major maritime powers has all too frequently been subsumed by nationalistic narratives that focus on operations and technology. This volume by contrast offers a daring new take on Britain's maritime past. It brings together scholars from a range of disciplines to explore the manifold ways in which the sea shaped British history demonstrating the number of approaches that now have a stake in defining the discipline of maritime history The chapters analyse the economic social and cultural contexts in which English maritime endeavour existed as well as discussing representations of the sea The contributors show how people from across the British Isles increasingly engaged with the maritime world whether through their own lived experiences or through material culture The volume also includes essays that investigate encounters between English voyagers and indigenous peoples in Africa and the intellectual foundations of imperial ambition Paper in Medieval England Orietta Da Rold,2020-10 Explains the methods and knowledge to understand how and why paper was used in medieval writing and beyond The English People at War in the Age of Henry VIII Steven J. Gunn,2018 War should be recognised as one of the defining features of life in the England of Henry VIII Henry fought many wars throughout his reign and this book explores how this came to dominate English culture and shape attitudes to the king and to national history with people talking and reading about war and spending money on weaponry and defence Medieval Statistics Mark Casson,John S. Lee,2024-12-26 This book is the first to systematically examine the sources of medieval statistics It will be useful as a handbook for researchers in financial and cultural history as a history of financial record keeping and as a review of recent research into medieval finance and accounting based on statistical sources Medieval statistics provide a unique window on the past Medieval documents produced by royal governments monastic and ecclesiastical institutions urban boroughs and legal cases for debt recovery provide a mine of useful information on economic life and financial affairs They show that medieval administration was far more numerate and far more sophisticated than is usually recognized This book provides a comprehensive review of the key sources written by leading experts in the field The strengths and weaknesses of each source are reviewed using original documents for illustration and discussing examples from the recent literature The book is mainly concerned with English statistics as they have survived particularly well in both state and private records but which showcase the potential of digital technology in enabling systematic study of medieval primary sources where large databases can now be compiled from original manuscripts This edited volume will be a valuable tool for those working in financial cultural and political history as it seeks to analyse the various ways in which medieval life was documented numerically and the ways in which this information was used within existing power structures Britain and Poland-Lithuania Richard Unger,Jakub Basista,2008-05-02 Twenty four papers deal with various aspects of the economies politics religion art and culture of Britain and Poland Lithuania from the Middle Ages down to the Third Partition illustrating unexpected similarities and long standing ties between the two regions Fourteenth Century England IV J. S. Hamilton,2000 This series provides a forum for the most recent research into the political social and ecclesiastical history of the 14th century Peasants and Production in the Medieval North-East Ben Dodds,2007 Evidence from unused sources sheds much light on the peasant economy of the later middle ages The peasant economy in north east England and indeed

throughout the country as a whole underwent many changes during the later Middle Ages but owing to the lack of evidence it has been difficult to come to definite conclusions This pioneering survey uses previously unexploited sources principally from tithe data to offer new interpretations of the patterns for change and the scope for adaptability The author argues that the peasant economy in this region of England was profoundly affected by war in the early fourteenth century and then disease with the arrival of the Black Death in 1349 calling into question the orthodox theories of overpopulation in explaining the crisis of the late Middle Ages even at its medieval peak the population of northeast England was sparse by comparison with areas further south Nor did the availability of land and improved living standards lead to demographic recovery in the fifteenth and early sixteenth centuries He also shows that despite their vulnerability to crises peasant cultivators were highly responsive to change Far from being primitive subsistence farmers oblivious to the market and its signals medieval peasants in the Durham region were subtle and successful decision makers regarding the production and marketing of their output were bound by tradition Using Durham Cathedral Priory s outstanding archive she discusses diet the factors influencing purchasing decisions the priory s use of the market and of tenants and their suppliers Rethinking the Great Transition Peter L. Larson,2022-01-27 This case study of two rural parishes in County Durham England provides an alternate view on the economic development involved in the transition from medieval to modern partly explaining England s rise to global economic dominance in the seventeenth century Coal mining did not come to these parishes until the nineteenth century these are an example of agrarian expansion Low population favourable seigniorial administration and a commercialised society saw the emergence of large farms on the bishopric of Durham soon after the Black Death these secure copyhold and leasehold tenures were among the earliest known in England Individualism developed within a strong parish and village community that encouraged growth while enforcing conformity tenants had freedom to farm as they wished within limits Along with low rents this allowed for a swift expansion of agricultural production in the sixteenth century as population rose and then as the coal trade expanded rapidly The prosperity of these men is reflected in their lands livestock and consumer goods Yet not all shared in this prosperity as the poor and landless increased in number simply by population growth Through reformation and rebellion these and other parishes prospered without experiencing severe disruption or destruction In north eastern England agrarian development was an evolution and not a revolution This study shows England s economic development as a single narrative woven together from a collection of regional experiences at different times and at different speeds The Routledge Companion to Marine and Maritime Worlds 1400-1800 Claire Jowitt,Craig Lambert,Steve Mentz,2020-05-21 This book has been nominated for The Mountbatten Award for Best Book in the Maritime Media Awards 2021 The Routledge Companion to Marine and Maritime Worlds 1400 1800 explores early modern maritime history culture and the current state of the research and approaches taken by experts in the field Ranging from cartography to poetry and decorative design to naval warfare the book shows how once traditional and often Euro chauvinistic depictions of oceanic mastery during the early modern period have been replaced by newer global ideas This comprehensive volume challenges underlying assumptions by balancing its assessment of the consequences and accomplishments of European navigators in the era of Columbus da Gama and Magellan with an awareness of the sophistication and maritime expertise in Asia the Arab world and the Americas By imparting riveting new stories and global perceptions of maritime history and culture the contributors provide readers with fresh insights concerning early modern entanglements between humans and the vast unpredictable ocean With maritime studies growing and the ocean s health in decline this volume is essential reading for academics and students interested in the historicization of the ocean and the ways early modern cultures both conceptualized and utilized seas Royal Historical Society Annual Bibliography of British and Irish History Austin Gee,1996 The Royal Historical Society s Annual Bibliography of British and Irish History provides a comprehensive and authoritative survey of books and articles on historical topics published in a single calendar year The volume covers all periods of British and Irish history from Roman Britain to the late twentieth century and also includes a section on imperial and commonwealth history It is the most complete and up to date bibliography of its type and an indispensable tool for historians Bibliographie internationale de l'Humanisme et de la Renaissance 31 ,1999-12 Sibiu -

Hermannstadt Mária Pakucs-Willcocks, Maria Pakucs, 2007 This book deals with the oriental trade of Sibiu Hermannstadt based on the towns customs registers from 1500 to 1597 The focus of research is on the goods traded and the merchants who carried them from the Ottoman markets into Transylvania via the land routes of the Balkan Peninsula and Wallachia The main interest of these primary sources is the light that they shed on the period after 1541 when the Ottomans took Buda former capital of the medieval Hungarian kingdom and were advancing toward Central Europe The customs registers of Sibiu offer a remarkable series of such accounts for the region showing the continuity in the trade with oriental goods mainly textiles and spices throughout the period The merchants involved in this long distance trade especially beginning with the second half of the sixteenth century were the Greeks traders coming from the Ottoman Empire and taking the first steps towards dominating the Transylvanian market An edition of the so far unpublished customs registers 1537 1597 is also provided in this book
