Bruce Elder,2015-10-15 This book deals with the early intellectual reception of the cinema and the manner in which art theorists philosophers cultural theorists and especially artists of the first decades of the twentieth century responded to its advent While the idea persists that early writers on film were troubled by the cinema's lowly form this work proposes that there was another largely unrecognized strain in the reception of it Far from anxious about film's provenance in popular entertainment some writers and artists proclaimed that the cinema was the most important art for the moderns as it exemplified the vibrancy of contemporary life This view of the cinema was especially common among those whose commitments were to advanced artistic practices Their notions about how to recast the art media or the forms forged from those media's materials and the urgency of doing so formed the principal part of the conceptual core of the artistic programs advanced by the vanguard art movements of the first half of the twentieth century This book a companion to the author's previous Harmony Dissent examines the Dada and Surrealist movements as responses to the advent of the cinema

Foster, 1996 Any understanding of Dada requires a serious consideration of its reception most discernable through the press To the degree that Dada entered and engaged the dominant cultural discourse of the period and amounted to something more significant than the mere assertion of its agendas Dada was required to and made an enormous effort to engage its potential public Dada also fully understood that there is no such thing as a one sided discourse and courted the attention and response of majority culture Volume nine goes far in describing and measuring the strategies and effectiveness of Dada's confrontation of establishment society Enormous evidence is brought to detailing and defining the positions of those responsible for Dada's critique and the reactions of both Dada's advocates and enemies As one of the most exhaustive studies of reception to date this volume helps to fill a serious gap in the literature of cultural history German Post-Expressionism : The Art of the Great Disorder 1918-1924 , German Post Expressionism is the first study to reconstruct historically the evolution of Die neue Sachlichkeit the slogan coined as a designation for the Post Expressionist figural art that developed throughout Germany following the failed revolution of 1919 Rather than starting with the moment this Post Expressionist movement was christened with a slogan 1923 Crockett investigates the sources and precepts of Post Expressionism beginning with the anti Expressionist stance of Dada in 1918 and the loss of faith in Expressionism on the part of some of its chief supporters during 1919-20
