Lawrence's gregarious nature, his desire to collaborate with others and his adaptability to different social situations. Pays particular attention to the many interactions with literary advisors, editors, agents, publishers and printers that were required for him to work as a professional writer. Combines new material with astute commentary to provide a nuanced understanding of one of the most prolific and controversial authors of the twentieth century. D. H. Lawrence Alistair Niven, 1978-02-23

Since his death in 1930 D H Lawrence has become not only one of the most controversial English novelists of the twentieth century but also one of the most widely read and quoted writers in the language. In this new study of his major fiction Alistair Niven revalues all the novels tracing Lawrence's development through them both as an artist and as a thinker. At the centre of the book Dr Niven discusses The Rainbow and Women in Love as the diverse products of a single creative intention, nothing less than an exploration of where modern man is going. Lawrence's early novels The White Peacock and The Trespasser receive exceptionally close scrutiny. There are also full length chapters on Lawrence's well known fiction of sexual self discovery Sons and Lovers and Lady Chatterley's Lover. The travel novels The Lost Girl, Aaron's Rod, The Plumed Serpent and especially the Australian novel Kangaroo which the author believes has been seriously underestimated by previous critics are given prominence as evidence of Lawrence's restless desire to find a superior set of values to those he believed had failed in England. Dr Niven's conclusions are derived solely from his close reading of the novels themselves and when relevant from Lawrence's correspondence and short stories. This study with its unusually lively and commonsense approach confirms Lawrence as not only a great novelist but a central figure in the development of the modern mind. D. H. Lawrence Helen Corke, 2014-10-03

Croydon, England was the setting of the famous three way friendship of D H Lawrence, Jessie Chambers and Helen Corke, all of whom made literary records of their association and all of whom appeared as characters in Lawrence's novels. Perhaps the most objective of these records were Helen Corke's which became difficult to acquire. Their scarcity and their continuing usefulness were the stimulus for publication of this volume which contains in four statements Helen Corke's major comment on Lawrence: the man and Lawrence the artist. The Portrait of D H Lawrence 1909-1910, a section from Corke's unpublished autobiography gives the reader glimpses into the earliest stages of the Lawrence-Corke friendship when Lawrence worked to bring meaning back into Corke's life after she had suffered a tragic loss. The Portrait tells of conversations before a log fire, German lessons, the reading of poetry and sessions over Lawrence's manuscript Nethermere which the publishers renamed The White Peacock. In Portrait Corke tells of working with Lawrence on revising the proofs of this book of Lawrence's encouragement of her own literary efforts of their wandering together in the Kentish hill country and of her first meeting with Jessie Chambers. Lawrence's Princess continues the narrative of the triple friendship carrying it to its sad ending but with the focus on Jessie Chambers. Perceptively and sympathetically written it throws a clarifying light on the psychology of Lawrence and presents with literary charm another human being. Jessie, the Miriam of Sons and Lovers. In combined narrative critique method Corke in the essay Concerning The White Peacock relates Lawrence's problems in writing this novel and gives an analysis of its literary quality Lawrence and Apocalypse is cast in the form of a deferred conversation in which Lawrence and Corke discuss his philosophical ideas as presented in his Apocalypse Although the book was written to present Lawrence's ideas its significance reposes equally in Corke's reaction to his thought As a succinct statement of Lawrence's teachings about the nature of humanity it has unique value D.
