Eljalil Tauschinsky, 2019-11-10 This book focuses on the evaluation of delegated and implementing rule making based on Articles 290 and 291 TFEU These articles have attracted considerable attention since their introduction in 2009 and their implementation is one of the most hotly debated questions in European Administrative Law The book takes up this timely topic discusses it in an innovative way and offers valuable new insights Delegated and implementing acts are the most common form of EU legal acts However despite their ubiquity and relevance it is unclear how the Commission's powers to adopt these important acts relates to subjects democratic rights Accordingly the book explores the question of how the Commission's powers to adopt delegated and implementing acts can be justified The relationship between the Commission and the persons within the Member States who are directly affected by its rule making should be seen the book argues as one of institutional trust and as a result as a fiduciary relationship The book begins by defining the theoretical conditions for a justificatory approach before explaining the background and foundations of fiduciary law It then links this theoretical perspective with the realities of delegated and implementing acts describing how the various roles in fiduciary relationships map onto the rule making process that produces delegated and implementing acts and explains how the fundamental tenet of fiduciary relationships loyalty can be included in the rule making process Environmental Health Perspectives ,1993
