One of the most widely embraced visual representations of data known as charts made its initial debut three decades ago. The esteemed editor Gerhard Michal has recently authored a comprehensive publication that encapsulates the intricate realm of metabolism encompassing a wide range of metabolic processes presented in a visually appealing graphical representation complemented by detailed textual elucidation. The literary composition maintains the inherent refinement and sophistication of the graphical representation. The nomenclature of molecular entities is meticulously rendered in a visually appealing typeface characterised by its sharpness and legibility. Furthermore, the depiction of structural formulas exhibits an exceptional level of lucidity ensuring optimal comprehension and comprehension. The utilisation of colour coding fulfils a multitude of objectives within the realm of enzymology. It serves as a means to discern and discriminate between various entities such as enzymes, substrates, cofactors and effector molecules. Additionally, it aids in identifying the specific group or groups of organisms in which a particular reaction has been observed. Moreover, colour coding plays a pivotal role in distinguishing enzymatic reactions from regulatory effects, thereby enhancing clarity and comprehension in this intricate domain. The inherent benefits of disseminating this information through the medium of a book are readily discernible.
