Kalbfleisch,2015-05-28 The advent of educational neuroscience a transdisciplinary exercise emerging from cognitive neuroscience and educational psychology is the examination of physiological processes that undermine support and enhance the capacities to learn and create The physiological underpinnings of learning and creativity each impact human ability and performance and mediate the processes of becoming educated expert and valued Evidence of learning provides support to an ongoing canon process system field or domain while evidence of creativity results in an elaboration or departure from an ongoing canon process system field or domain Educational neuroscience extends a challenge to scholars from multiple contexts to engage in the characterization and exploration of human ability and performance in these realms The role of context both environmental and interoceptive is an integral part of efforts in educational neuroscience and in theories of constructivist learning to contribute ecologically valid insight to the pragmatic processes of learning and creativity Examination at this level of specificity is vital to our ability to educate and support human potential in the 21st century This Research Topic examines the neural basis of cognitive states and processes that influence knowledge and skill acquisition tied to the demonstration of human ability and performance across individual differences and in multiple contexts including STEM learning and the arts      Basic Skills Education in Community Colleges W Norton Grubb,2013-01-04 Nearly two thirds of students require some form of remediation before taking college level classes and community colleges have become increasingly important in providing this education Unfortunately relatively few students complete the developmental courses required to make a transition to college level work Based on a three year study of over twenty community colleges Basic Skills Education in Community Colleges analyzes developmental education practices exploring what goes wrong and what goes right and provides a series of recommendations for improved practice Including both classroom observations and interviews with administrators faculty and students this valuable book balances critique with examples of innovation Part One explores the instructional settings of basic skills the use of drill and practice and remedial pedagogy in math reading writing and ESL as well as innovations in colleges that show developmental education need not follow remedial pedagogy Part Two examines institutional factors shaping basic skills and provides recommendations for improving the quality of basic skills instruction The research grounded observations and recommendations in Basic Skills Education in Community Colleges make this an invaluable resource for scholars administrators and faculty aiming to help students progress through developmental education to college level work and beyond      Developing and Sustaining Successful First-Year Programs Gerald M. Greenfield,Jennifer R. Keup,John N. Gardner,2013-06-26 Developing and Sustaining Successful First Year Programs First year programs and interventions have become critical launching pads for student success and retention in higher education However these programs often flounder not because of what they are trying to do but because of the ways in which they are implemented Developing and Sustaining Successful First Year Programs offers faculty academic administrators and student affairs professionals a comprehensive and practical resource that includes step by step guidance for developing new first year programs and enhancing existing programs The book explores the key elements that contribute to sustained student success and the programs that have the capacity to continue to meet student needs while making the most of scarce resources The authors show how to create and sustain critical partnerships put in place the needed organizational structures and include strategies for developing effective assessments and evaluations Developing and Sustaining Successful First Year Programs is filled with illustrative examples and profiles of successful programs from a range of institutions that vary in size type selectivity and culture Examples of common programs and interventions include summer bridge programs student orientation first year seminars learning communities residential programs developmental education and many more Based in scholarly literature theory and practice the book highlights the initiatives that facilitate the transition learning development and success of new college students      Subject Guide to Books in Print ,1971

Detailed word lists and practice exercises make the section extremely helpful for practicing teachers. The sections on grammar are fairly detailed offering a thorough analysis of Verbs Tenses Voice Narration Transformation of Sentences and Error Correction. There are plenty of practice exercises for the teacher to choose from. Reading skills are well discussed and technical writing is given all the importance and predominance it usually occupies in any course on technical communication. The section on report writing is extremely useful as a guide for teachers for teaching students the formatting and writing essentials in documenting reports. There is a section on professional speaking too which enriches the content of the book. On the whole the book is of continuing usefulness and relevance in any technical English course and will be used by teachers and students alike for many years to come.

Dr Indrajit Bose, Assistant Professor of English, GNIT Kolkata. Dr Konar's book acts as a comprehensive guide to the students of professional technical as well as basic courses to hone their language skills. The language of the book is persuasive, fluid and student friendly which makes it useful even to the first generation learners of English. The scope of this book extends from word building to report writing and covers almost all the thrust areas of language training in a nutshell. Hence it deserves a shelf space in the library of any institution.

Ayushman Banerjee, Assistant Professor in English, Haldia Government College, Kolkata. This is one of the best books on Communication available in the market. Dr Nira Konar is a brand by herself whenever English Language Teaching (ELT) comes into discussion. This compact edition discusses in detail the various aspects of language ranging from Vocabulary Grammar Syntax to effective communication in business. The book gives a clear reading of LSRW skills such as writing reading listening and public speaking. It further confers different means of effective communication: situational dialogues, body language and group discussions. The book follows the present MAKAUT curriculum of English for B Tech 1st year 2nd Semester (HM HU 201 HM HU 291) thoroughly. It not only gives an overview of the Theory syllabus but also provides details of Language Laboratory activities as well. Communication Skills for Professionals enables the readers to express themselves clearly and communicate effectively at the workplace. This book not only deals with the rudiments of communication but also gives insights into the body language and provides important tips on how to be successful at interviews and group discussions. Primarily intended for students of engineering and technology, the book will also be useful for Management students and the students of all disciplines who want to acquire the skill in corporate communication and excel in their respective professional areas.

Sohini Datta, Assistant Professor, Department of Management, IEM Sector V, Salt Lake, Kolkata. Easy and in depth writing on the subject is the aim of this book. The author has put in here the fruits of teaching the students from the wide ranging and first hand knowledge of business speaking and writing and listening in a friendly way. It is enriched with extensive references. On every page of the book the students will see how a simpler style of English is balanced with their need.

Dalia Sen, Assistant Professor, Bengal Institute of Technology, Under Techno India Group, Kolkata.
