Education in Singapore Rita Elaine Silver, Wendy D. Bokhorst-Heng, 2016-01-21 This book explores Singapore's language education system. Unlike previous volumes which discuss the bilingual requirement for learning, it focuses on Singapore's quadrilingual system, bringing together articles on each of the four languages: English, Mandarin, Malay, and Tamil, as well as articles that examine more than one language. It highlights past successes, current concerns, and future directions for language education. The book focuses on classroom pedagogy in all four official languages, showcasing how languages are taught and learned in Singapore as a basis for better understanding the system from the inside out. The authors present empirical classroom-based studies on language pedagogy in all four languages, as well as updated information on the current socio-political context and how it has influenced attempts at pedagogical innovation. Consideration is given to the dialectical relationship between policy and practice. The chapters also include discussions of pre-school age learning influences of language policy, home literacy practices, and commentaries by international language in education scholars. This approach also provides a basis for international comparison, especially for those who are interested in fostering English proficiency while maintaining one or more national languages. The volume is particularly important in light of the continuing international efforts to integrate English into national educational systems where it is not the dominant language.

Terjesen, 2017-01-26 This handbook addresses the current state and practice of school psychology with a focus on standards unique to Australia, including historical, legal, ethical, practical, and training factors. It provides a compilation of the most current research-based practices, as well as guidelines for evidence-based assessment and intervention for common conditions, e.g., autism, depression, learning disabilities, and for delivering appropriate services to targeted student populations, e.g., LGBT, gifted, medical issues. Chapters discuss the application of national and international school psychology practices within the Australian educational and psychological structure. The handbook also examines the lack of formal resources specific to Australia's culture and psychology systems with its unique mix of metropolitan cities and the vast geographic landscape that spans regional and remote areas. It offers numerous case studies and innovative school mental health programs, as well as recommendations for professional development and advocacy that are unique to Australian school psychology. Topics featured in this Handbook include: Evidence-based assessment and intervention for dyscalculia and mathematical disabilities; Identification and management of adolescent risk-taking behaviors and addictions; Understanding and responding to crisis and trauma in the school setting; Prevention and intervention for bullying in schools; Class and school-wide approaches to addressing behavioral and academic needs; The role of school psychologists in the digital age; Practical advice for school psychologists facing complex ethical dilemmas. The Handbook of Australian School Psychology is a must-have resource for researchers, scientists, practitioners and graduate students in child and school psychology social work and related fields that address mental health services for children and adolescents Reaching the Marginalized ,2010-01-01 Children at risk of marginalization in education are found in all societies At first glance The lives of these children may appear poles apart The daily experiences of slum dwellers in Kenya ethnic minority children in Viet Nam and a Roma child in Hungary are very different What they have in common are missed opportunities to develop their potential realize their hopes and build a better future through education A decade has passed since world leaders adopted the Education for All goals While progress has been made millions of children are still missing out on their right to education Reaching the marginalized identifies some of the root causes of disadvantage both within education and beyond and provides examples of targeted policies and practices that successfully combat exclusion Set against the backdrop of the global economic crisis The Report calls for a renewed financing commitment by aid donors and recipient governments alike to meet the Education for All goals by 2015 This is the eighth edition of the annual EFA Global Monitoring Report The Report includes statistical indicators on all levels of education in more than 200 countries and territories Reading: what can be measured? Roger Farr,1969 Adult Literacy Programs in Uganda Anthony Okech,Roy A. Carr-Hill,2001-01-01 The policy of the World Bank has been to focus on universal primary education rather than supporting adult literacy programmes But slow progress in Sub Saharan Africa has convinced the Bank that adult literacy especially amongst women is a key factor in promoting economic and social development This study of programmes in Uganda shows that adult literacy programmes can be more effective than was previously thought that government run programmes can be as effective as those run by non governmental organisations and that there is a large unsatisfied demand among Ugandan adults for more education
