Basic Concepts In Educational Research:

Basic Concepts in Educational Research John W. Fraas, 1983 Fundamentals of Educational Research Garry Anderson, Nancy Arsenault, 2005-06-22 Cuts through the complexities of educational research to give the novice reader a sound basis to define, develop and conduct study while providing insights for even the accomplished reader Educational Research Norman E. Wallen, Jack R. Fraenkel, 2013-03-07 Educational Research A Guide to the Process is a different kind of research text. It emphasizes the process of research that is what researchers actually do as they go about designing and carrying out their research activities. Rather than passively reading about research operations, it promotes content mastery by using a three-step pedagogical model that involves a manageable chunk of text, a comprehension or application exercise, and author feedback on the exercise. The text contains approximately 150 of these exercise-feedback units. The second edition has been thoroughly updated, expanded from 15 to 20 chapters, and reorganized into two parts. Part I covers basic aspects of the research process, provides an example of a student research proposal, and shows how to evaluate a research report. Part II provides a separate chapter for each research methodology, including two chapters on qualitative research. Other noteworthy changes include more annotated studies and more visual illustrations of statistical and research methods Key Ideas in Educational Research David Scott, Marlene Morrison, 2007-07-15 120 essays give definitions, use, and references for educational research terms Introduction to Educational Research W. Newton Suter, 2012 W. Newton Suter argues that what is important in a changing education landscape is the ability to think clearly about research methods, reason through complex problems, and evaluate published research. He explains how to evaluate data and establish its relevance.

Basic Concepts in Educational Research John W. Fraas, 1983 Enables students to determine which of the concepts presented in Basic Concepts in Educational Research they have been able to master. Includes numerous questions dealing with the educational research and statistical concepts presented in the textbook. Problems are presented that involve mathematical calculations or interpretations of statistical results. Answers are included Educational Research Document Summaries Educational Research Information Center (U.S.), 1966 Education Research United States. Congress. House. Committee on Science. Subcommittee on Basic Research, 2000 Research in Education, 1972 Annual Report of the National Council on Educational Research National Council on Educational Research, 1977 Resources in Education, 1999-04 Graduate Fellowship Program in Educational Research United States. Office of Education. Bureau of Research, 1968 Issues and Challenges in Science Education Research Kim Chwee Daniel Tan, Mijung Kim, 2012-04-27 In contemporary society, science constitutes a significant part of human life in that it impacts on how people experience and understand the world and themselves. The rapid advances in science and technology, newly established societal and cultural norms and values, and changes in the climate and environment, as well as the depletion of natural resources, all greatly impact the lives of children and youths and hence their ways of learning, viewing the world, experiencing phenomena around them.

and interacting with others These changes challenge science educators to rethink the epistemology and pedagogy in science classrooms today as the practice of science education needs to be proactive and relevant to students and prepare them for life in the present and in the future Featuring contributions from highly experienced and celebrated science educators as well as research perspectives from Europe the USA Asia and Australia this book addresses theoretical and practical examples in science education that on the one hand plays a key role in our understanding of the world and yet paradoxically now acknowledges a growing number of uncertainties of knowledge about the world The material is in four sections that cover the learning and teaching of science from science literacy to multiple representations science teacher education the use of innovations and new technologies in science teaching and learning and science learning in informal settings including outdoor environmental learning activities Acknowledging the issues and challenges in science education this book hopes to generate collaborative discussions among scholars researchers and educators to develop critical and creative ways of science teaching to improve and enrich the lives of our children and youths

Theory and Method in Higher Education Research II Jeroen Huisman, Malcolm Tight, 2014-02-20 This is the second volume in this series dedicated to Theory and Method in Higher Education Research Publishing contemporary contributions to international debates regarding the application and development of theory and methodology in researching higher education this volume aims to offer a channel for discussion critique and innovation
