

BASIC CRIMINAL PROCEDURE

1. PRESUMPTION OF INNOCENCE

The prosecutor must always prove that you are guilty. You do not have to prove that you are innocent.

2. BURDEN OF PROOF

The prosecutor must prove that you are guilty beyond a reasonable doubt. This means that you cannot be convicted if there is a reasonable possibility that you are innocent.

3. ELEMENTS OF THE CRIME

The Information is a document that lists the crimes that the prosecutor will try to prove. Each one is called a count and may have several parts. For example, an assault is:

- (a) a voluntary application of force on the victim, and
- (b) without the victim's consent.

The prosecutor must prove that all the parts of the crime occurred, that you were the person who did it, and that you intended to do it.

4. DISCLOSURE

The prosecutor must give you all the information that is relevant to the charge(s). If information is missing, then ask the prosecutor.

5. PROCEDURE IN COURT

First the prosecutor will present witnesses and evidence. You may question or cross-examine those witnesses.

Cross-Examination can be used to:

- (a) Confront the witness. If you do not agree with something a witness said, then you must suggest what you think happened and ask if that could be true. For example, if you disagree that you hit the witness first, then say "Is it true that you swung at me first?"
- (b) Show that the witness is biased. For example, is a friend of the victim or has other reasons to not be accurate;
- (c) Show that the witness made other statements that were different than what he or she said in court;
