Basic Negotiating Strategy ; International Conflict for Beginners Roger Fisher,1971 International Conflict for Beginners Roger Fisher,1969 October 1985 The Social Psychology of Bargaining Ian Morley,Geoffrey Stephenson,2015-06-19 Originally published in 1977 this book deals with the social psychological factors which influence the process of bargaining It examines the structure behind the process by which it can be analysed and better understood Particular attention is paid to the character of negotiations in which agreements are obtained Peace Negotiations and Time Marco Pinfari,2013 This book discusses the role of time in peace negotiations and peace processes in the post Cold War period making reference to real world negotiations and using comparative data Deadlines are increasingly used by mediators to spur deadlocked negotiation processes under the assumption that fixed time limits tend to favour pragmatism Yet little attention is typically paid to the durability of agreements concluded in these conditions and research in experimental psychology suggests that time pressure can have a negative impact on individual and collective decision making by reducing each side s ability to deal with complex issues complex inter group dynamics and inter cultural relations This volume explores this lacuna in current research through a comparative model that includes 68 episodes of negotiation and then more in detail in relation to four cases studies the Bougainville and Casamance peace processes and the Dayton and Camp David proximity talks The case studies reveal that in certain conditions low time pressure can impact positively on the durability of agreements by making possible effective intra rebel agreements before official negotiations and that time pressure works in proximity talks only when applied to solving circumscribed deadlocks This book will be of much interest to students of peace processes conflict resolution negotiation diplomacy and international relations in general Proposals to Establish a U.S. Academy of Peace United States. Congress. House. Committee on Foreign Affairs. Subcommittee on International Security and Scientific Affairs,1982 Approaches to Peace in the Middle East United States. Congress. House. Foreign Affairs,1972 Approaches to Peace in the Middle East United States. Congress. House. Committee on Foreign Affairs. Subcommittee on the Near East,1972 Navies and Foreign Policy (Routledge Revivals) Ken Booth,2014-06-27 First published in 1977 this study offers a comprehensive systematic and integrated survey of the important relationship between navies and the making and execution of foreign policy Ken Booth explains the functions navies can perform in both war and peace the influence they have on particular situations and how the relevant organisations can affect the character of naval actions Ultimately navies are regarded as indispensable instruments of the state by a number of countries whilst all countries with a coast find some need to threaten a degree of force at sea This book provides students and academics with the intellectual framework with which to assess the changing character of the navy Hearings United States. Congress. House. Committee on Foreign Affairs,1972 Elicitation of Preferences Baruch Fischhoff,Charles F. Manski,2013-03-14 Economists and psychologists have on the whole exhibited sharply different perspectives on the elicitation of preferences Economists who have made preference the central primitive in their thinking about human behavior have for the most part rejected elicitation and have instead sought to infer preferences from observations of choice behavior Psychologists who have tended to think of preference as a context determined subjective construct have embraced elicitation as their dominant approach to measurement This volume based on a symposium organized by Daniel McFadden at the University of California at Berkeley provides a provocative and constructive engagement between economists and psychologists on the elicitation of preferences

Israeli-Palestinian Negotiations in the 1990s: How NGOs Facilitated the Peace Process Tilman Pradt, 2012-08 Non governmental organisations NGOs have become important actors in the globalised world They run aid and relief programmes in the poorest countries support international institutions like the United Nations or are watchdogs of them for example watchdogs of the Bretton Woods institutions In doing so NGOs naturally work permanently with state agencies and it is probably hard to find an NGO which is totally free of any governmental support in financial logistical or informative matters Thus there are strong NGO government connections on a daily work basis NGOs run multiple attempts to contribute to the resolution of conflicts on all political levels They bring together people on the grass root level they try to influence high officials through public pressure and they organise conferences and discussions with members and consultants of the concerned parties The latter approach is analysed in this study But how do NGOs influence the level of official international relations To which degree can NGOs improve the relations of two conflicted parties especially when the conflict is protracted and severe The aim of this book is to define the preconditions of successful NGO mediation to measure the NGO influence as an antecedent condition for successful mediation and to exhibit its limits The underlying assumption is that conflict resolution is more likely if NGO mediation supports this attempt This approach can be labelled as an assumption of constant effect since the focus is on understanding the NGOs influence on international conflict resolution
