Justice and Reciprocity Andrew Lister, 2024-11-15 Justice and Reciprocity examines the place of reciprocity in egalitarianism focusing on John Rawls's conception of justice as fairness Reciprocity was a central to justice as fairness but Rawls wasn't explicit about the different forms of reciprocity nor the diverse roles reciprocity played in his theory The book's main thesis is threefold First reciprocity is not simply a fact of human psychology or a duty but a limiting condition on other duties Second such conditions are a natural consequence of thinking of equality as a relational value However third we can identify limits on this conditionality which explains how some duties of justice can be unconditional The book explores the ramifications of this argument in a series of debates about distributive justice productive incentives duties to future generations unconditional basic income and global justice In each domain thinking about reciprocity as a limiting condition helps explain otherwise puzzling aspects of justice as fairness in some cases making the view more plausible but in others underlining limits that will be unappealing to egalitarians of a more unilateral bent Lister ultimately shows that reciprocity involves more than returning benefits and that limiting justice with reciprocity conditions need not make justice implausibly undemanding In this way the book rehabilitates reciprocity for egalitarianism In
