Input Formats and Specifications of the National Geodetic Survey Data Base ,1989      Performance Evaluation and Benchmarking of Intelligent Systems Raj Madhavan,Edward Tunstel,Elena Messina,2010-04-29 To design and develop capable dependable and affordable intelligent systems their performance must be measurable Scientific methodologies for standardization and benchmarking are crucial for quantitatively evaluating the performance of emerging robotic and intelligent systems technologies There is currently no accepted standard for quantitatively measuring the performance of these systems against user defined requirements and furthermore there is no consensus on what objective evaluation procedures need to be followed to understand the performance of these systems The lack of reproducible and repeatable test methods has precluded researchers working towards a common goal from exchanging and communicating results inter comparing system performance and leveraging previous work that could otherwise avoid duplication and expedite technology transfer Currently this lack of cohesion in the community hinders progress in many domains such as manufacturing service healthcare and security By providing the research community with access to standardized tools reference data sets and open source libraries of solutions researchers and consumers will be able to evaluate the cost and benefits associated with intelligent systems and associated technologies In this vein the edited book volume addresses performance evaluation and metrics for intelligent systems in general while emphasizing the need and solutions for standardized methods To the knowledge of the editors there is not a single book on the market that is solely dedicated to the subject of performance evaluation and benchmarking of intelligent systems

Historic Floors Jane Fawcett, 2007-06-01 This is the first book in the UK to be devoted to historic floors It introduces an important and largely neglected subject and considers conservation methods in a European context It traces the history of some of the great floors of Europe from the fourth century B C and outlines the development of mosaic tiles marble and parquet floors in secular buildings The early Christian pavements in basilicas temples and cathedrals the creation of medieval tiles ledger stones and monumental brasses their destruction by iconoclasts and re creation during the Gothic Revival are also discussed Leading authorities archaeologists architects and archivists consider the latest methods of recording and repairing cathedral floors including those of cathedrals country houses the monumental tiled pavements of the Palace of Westminster and other public buildings Management policies to protect outstanding floors in over visited sites are considered and historic features particularly at risk are identified Urgent action is recommended to contain the damage caused by the dramatic increase in tourism throughout Europe

The American Faculty Jack H. Schuster, Martin J. Finkelstein, 2008-12-15 Higher education is becoming destabilized in the face of extraordinarily rapid change The composition of the academy's most valuable asset the faculty and the essential nature of faculty work are being transformed Jack H Schuster and Martin J Finkelstein describe the transformation of the American faculty in the most extensive and ambitious analysis of the American academic profession undertaken in a generation A century ago the American research university emerged as a new organizational form animated by the professionalized discipline based scholar The research university model persisted through two world wars and greatly varying economic conditions In recent years however a new order has surfaced organized around a globalized knowledge based economy powerful privatization and market forces and stunning new information technologies These developments have transformed the higher education enterprise in ways barely imaginable in generations past At the heart of that transformation but largely invisible has been a restructuring of academic appointments academic work and academic careers a reconfiguring widely decried but heretofore inadequately described This volume depicts the scope and depth of the transformation combining empirical data drawn from three decades of national higher education surveys The authors portrait at once startling and disturbing provides the context for interpreting these developments as part of a larger structural evolution of the national higher education system They outline the stakes for the nation and the challenging work to be done
