Traditional learning techniques are challenged by powerful new approaches and insights while students and employers alike put new demands on education. The new insights come from quite different areas of science. This book aims to provide a future oriented picture of the various developments culminating in an educated speculation on learning and education in the near future. It has been written for leaders in education, scholars as well as practitioners and policymakers. Learning will be a central issue in the decades to come. In the words of the recently deceased cultural anthropologist Catherine Bateson: "We are not what we know but what we are willing to learn."

Brain Framing Dr. Linda Karges-Bone, 2011-09-01. Brain Framing is a book of ideas for thinking about thinking in the classroom. Ideas to help us frame the brains of students in ways that are productive, powerful, and personal. This book will help teachers to engage brains in three fresh ways: framing student learning into more personalized experiences that utilize new research on the brain, the body, and the spirit; creating brain friendly classroom environments that link sensory and cognitive experiences in ways that reduce stress for both the teacher and the student; and organizing content into meaningful chunks and layers that fit into the unique frames of students' brains. Filled with a variety of new teaching strategies, curriculum enhancing ideas, lesson planning samples, and reproducible templates based on current scientific research, Brain Framing is the perfect resource for any teacher who wants to begin planning with the brain in mind.

The Best of Corwin: Educational Neuroscience David A. Sousa, 2011-09-20. Learn about the brain from some fine minds in education. The Best of Corwin series showcases key chapters from critically acclaimed Corwin publications for a powerful compilation of perspectives on important education issues and topics.
