Creation And The World Of Science The Bampton Lecturers 1978:

Creation Stories in Dialogue: The Bible, Science, and Folk Traditions Jan G. van der Watt, R. Alan Culpepper, 2015-11-02
This book is about creation stories in dialogue not only between different religious views but also between current day scientific perspectives International specialists like Alan Culpepper David Christian John Haught Randall Zachman Ellen van Wolde from various disciplines are reflecting on the interface between science and religion relating questions of creation and origin This multi disciplinary discussion by some of the leading exponents in this field makes the book unique not only in its depth of discussion but also in its wide ranging interdisciplinary discussion The point of departure of all the contributions is the prestige lecture by Alan Culpepper where he argues for bringing Biblical material into discussion with modern scientific insights relating to creation and origin

The Groaning of Creation Christopher Southgate, 2008-01-01 Pain suffering and extinction are intrinsic to the evolutionary process In this book Christopher Southgate shows how the world that is very good is also groaning in travail and subjected by God to that travail Southgate then evaluates several attempts at evolutionary theodicy and argues for his own approach an approach that takes full account of God's self emptying and human beings special responsibilities as created cocreators Christopher Southgate is Honorary University Fellow in Theology at the University of Exeter England and Visiting Scholar at the Graduate Theological Union in Berkeley California Originally trained as a biochemist at the University of Cambridge he is the general editor and principal author of God Humanity and the Cosmos 3rd ed

Creation and Salvation: A companion on recent theological movements E. M. Conradie, 2012
Christians trying to save the planet have to relate creation with salvation This volume explores the ways in which this task is approached by a wide range of recent theological movements

Creation Out of Nothing Paul Copan, William Lane Craig, 2004-06 Addresses the biblical philosophical and scientific bases for the doctrine of creation out of nothing while countering contemporary trends that are assailing this doctrine

God, Humanity and the Cosmos - 3rd Edition Christopher Southgate, 2011-12-15

Stewardship Ethics in Debt Management Roy Mohon, 2012-12-06 As we move forward into the Third Millennium AD the perennial problem of unmanageable debt is still with us As if to prove the point in late November 1997 the Tokuyo City Bank in Japan closed down its business reminding the world that default still stalks families institutions and governments It seems that little has been achieved in handling debt since 1216 when the Magna Carta limited the actions of bailiffs against debtors willing and able to make payment Current literature about consumer credit business finance and mortgages reveals the urgent need to tackle the ethics of borrowing and lending on some commonly understood and acceptable basis In this book the stewardship concept familiar in accounting corporate governance environmental strategy and Christian social ethics is analyzed to provide a framework The book demonstrates that analysis of the concept of stewardship provides a set of resource related social values which shed light upon ethical issues in debt management and enable the construction of a decision support model to secure improvements in debt management practice

This Mortal Flesh Brent Waters, 2009-09-01 Although a proper concern for health is compatible with Christian faith recent and anticipated advances in extending human longevity are often based on philosophical presuppositions and religious values that are adverse to core Christian beliefs and convictions In this solid text theologian and ethicist Brent Waters reflects on the formation practice and meaning of the Christian moral life in light of selected bioethical issues Theologically grounding his reflections on the doctrine of the incarnation Waters considers issues such as biotechnology and physical cognitive enhancement reproductive technology human genetics embryonic stem cell research and regenerative medicine He also examines the posthuman project exploring what it means to be human in light of the denial of mortality From Human to Posthuman Brent Waters, 2016-04-22 Technology is one of the dominant forces shaping the emerging postmodern world Indeed the very fabric of daily life is dependent upon various information communication and transportation technologies With anticipated advances in biotechnology artificial intelligence and robotics that dependence will increase Yet this growing dependence is accompanied with a deep ambivalence For many technology symbolises the faith of the postmodern world but it is an ambivalent faith encapsulating both our hopes and fears for the future This book examines the religious foundations underlying this troubled faith in technology as well as critically and constructively engaging particular technological developments from a theological perspective Ernan McMullin and Critical Realism in the Science-Theology Dialogue Paul L. Allen, 2016-05-13 Scientists philosophers and theologians have wrestled repeatedly with the question of whether knowledge is similar or different in their various understandings of the world and God Although agreement is still elusive the epistemology of critical realism associated with Ian Barbour John Polkinghorne and Arthur Peacocke remains widely credible Relying on the lifetime work of philosopher Ernan McMullin this book expands our understanding of critical realism beyond a permanent stand off between the subjective and objective whether in science or theology Critical realism illuminates the subject and the objectively known simultaneously Responding to criticisms made against it this book defends critical realism in science and theology with a specific role to play in our understanding of God The Games People Play Robert Ellis, 2014-04-21 In The Games People Play Robert Ellis constructs a theology around the global cultural phenomenon of modern sport paying particular attention to its British and American manifestations Using historical narrative and social analysis to enter the debate on sport as religion Ellis shows that modern sport may be said to have taken on some of the functions previously vested in organized religion Through biblical and theological reflection he presents a practical theology of sport's appeal and value with special attention to the theological concept of transcendence Throughout he draws on original empirical work with sports participants and spectators The Games People Play addresses issues often considered problematic in theological discussions of sport such as gender race consumerism and the role of the modern media as well as problems associated with excessive competition and performance enhancing substances As Ellis explains Sporting journalists often use religious language in covering sports events Salvation features in many a headline and talk of moments of redemption is not uncommon Perhaps somewhere beyond the cliched hyperbole there is some theological truth in all this after all

The Blackwell Companion to Science and Christianity J. B. Stump, Alan G. Christian Approaches to Poverty David Williams, 2001-10-23 It is a sad fact that the majority of the world's people still lives in poverty with all the problems of hunger and disease that goes with it What should Christians do about this Various things have been tried all with their own advantages and problems Here is an overview of these approaches and a suggestion for a synthesis based on Christian teachings

Science and Providence John C. Polkinghorne, 2009-07-27 Internationally renowned priest scientist Dr John C Polkinghorne examines whether a personal interacting God is a credible concept in today's scientific age Encouraging the belief that there is a compatibility between the insights of science and the insights of religion this book previously published in the United Kingdom focuses on the viewpoint that the world is one in which both human beings and God have the freedom to act A modern understanding of the physical world is applied to questions of prayer and providence such as Do miracles happen Can prayer change anything Why does evil exist Why does God allow suffering Why does God need us to ask him God s involvement in time is considered from both a temporal and an eternal perspective The roles of incarnation and sacrament are discussed in terms of whether or not they have a credible place in today s worldview And the Final Anthropic Principle FAP is presented with its attempt at a physical eschatology showing it to be an inadequate basis for hope Real hope can reside only with God Polkinghorne concludes

Interpreting Nature I. G. Simmons, 2013-01-11 Human society has constructed many varied notions of the environment Scientific information about the environment is often seen as the only worthwhile knowledge This ignores the complexities created by interaction between people and the environment Idealist thinking argues that everything we know is based on a construct of our minds and that all is possible Can both be correct and true Interpreting Nature explores the position of humanity in the environment from the principle that the models we construct are imperfect and can only be provisional Having examined the way in which the natural sciences have interrogated nature the types of data produced and what they mean to us this looks at the environment within philosophy and ethics the social sciences and the arts and analyses their role in the formation of environmental cognition
