Aloha China Cookbook:

Aloha China Cookbook Titus Chan, 1985 Mary Sia's Classic Chinese Cookbook Mary Sia, 2012-12-31 Mary Sia's Chinese Cookbook has been a classic of Chinese cookery since it was first published in 1956. This fourth edition features all 300 of the original recipes ranging from simple everyday fare to more elaborate dishes for entertaining as well as essays by Mary Sia. An all new food glossary provides up to date names for ingredients along with advice on appropriate substitutions and sources for 21st century cooks. The work also includes an introduction by Rachel Laudan, renowned food historian and author of The Food of Paradise: Exploring Hawaii's Culinary Heritage. The YWCA where Mary Sia had taught for so many years named its kitchen after her. Her cookbooks sold steadily some twenty thousand copies having left the shelves by the 1980s and doubtless many more by now. Jacqueline Newman, founder and editor of Flavor and Fortune, a magazine dedicated to Chinese cooking who assembled the premier collection of English language Chinese cookbooks commented that Mary Sia's Chinese Cookbook remains one of the finest introductions to home style Cantonese cooking all these years after Mary Sia first created the recipes. Dr Newman commented to me: She was years ahead of her time, a better cook with a better set of taste buds than most folk I know as well as a better writer. From the Introduction American Aloha Heather A. Diamond, 2008-06-03. At the 1989 Smithsonian Folklife Festival, throngs of visitors gathered on the National Mall to celebrate Hawaii's multicultural heritage through its traditional arts. The education and entertainment spectacle revealed a richly complex Hawaii few tourists ever see and one never before or since replicated in a national space. The program was restaged a year later in Honolulu for a local audience and subsequently inspired several spin-offs in Hawaii. In both Washington D.C. and Honolulu, the program instigated a new paradigm for cultural representation. Based on archival research and extensive interviews with festival organizers and participants, this innovative cross-disciplinary study uncovers the behind-the-scenes negotiations and processes that inform the national spectacle of the Smithsonian Folklife Festival. Intersecting the fields of museum studies, folklore studies, Hawaiian studies, performance studies, cultural studies, and American studies, American Aloha supplies a nuanced analysis of how the carefully crafted staging of Hawaii's cultural diversity was used to serve a national narrative of utopian multiculturalism, one that collapsed social inequities and tensions, masked colonial history, and subordinated indigenous politics while empowering Hawaii's traditional artists and providing a model for cultural tourism that has had long-lasting effects. Heather Diamond deftly positions the 1989 program within a history of institutional intervention in the traditional arts of Hawaii's ethnic groups as well as in relation to local cultural revivals and the tourist industry. By tracing the planning, fieldwork, site design, performance, and aftermath stages of the program, she examines the uneven processes through which local culture is transformed into national culture and raises questions about the stakes involved in cultural tourism for both culture bearers and culture brokers. The Hour Magazine Cookbook, 1985.
