School Improvement Joyce, Bruce, Calhoun, Emily, Hopkins, David, 1999-05-01 Self renewing schools where students and staff are involved in ongoing inquiry has long since been an ideal in education The book draws upon research on successful and unsuccessful school improvement programmes to generate a practical strategy for school improvement that can be used by schools and local education authorities with a high probability of success School Improvement for Real David

Hopkins, 2003-09-02 As societies continue to set educational goals that are on current performance beyond the capacity of the system to deliver strategies for enhancing student learning through school and classroom intervention have become increasingly important Yet as David Hopkins argues in his book many of the educational initiatives recently developed under the umbrella of school improvement are inadequate or unhelpful Simply blaming teachers and delegating financial responsibility he maintains has little positive impact on classroom practice This is the bleak context within which school improvement has to operate today School Improvement for Real offers a genuine alternative a strategy for educational change that focuses on student achievement by modifying classroom practice and adapting the management arrangements within the school to support teaching and learning It outlines an approach to school improvement that has a medium term systemic orientation providing both principles and suggestions for better practice The author s experience in the field of school improvement ensures that the text is informed by a practical wisdom that is so often lacking from the more typical managerial texts on improvement and effectiveness Developmental Planning for School Improvement David Hopkins,1995-01-01 This text represents the experiences from six English speaking countries in the field of school development planning There are chapters discussing staff development quality reviews and school organization and effectiveness School Improvement Zijian Li,Michael Williams,2006 School improvement is at the centre of educational reform and is perceived by many as a key to social and economic advance It contributes to determining the personal fulfilment and career paths of individual students and consequently engages the interest of parents and community members It is an ever present commitment of teachers and managers in schools Policy makers and politicians at international national and local levels devote much time and effort to their search for better schools School improvement has also attracted the attention of researchers and scholars in many countries They have been drawn from various disciplines and fields within the educational studies community including psychology sociology history evaluation and studies in curriculum and assessment There is now an established body of findings from studies conducted in many contexts This book brings together leading experts drawn from many countries and several continents reflecting diverse approaches to educational policy and practice evaluation and research Variations between countries and between local communities within countries are highlighted The possibilities and difficulties inherent in transferring evidence from one educational system at a number of levels to another are clearly discussed What emerges from the cross national and cross cultural evidence are several significant threads currently under active investigation including school structure and management classroom organisation school leadership teacher training and staff development curriculum and assessment community involvement lifelong learning and special provision for students with special educational needs School Improvement International Perspectives is written for national educational policy makers teachers and student teachers governing bodies and parents from various levels of schooling and university researchers and scholars Leveraging Crisis for Equitable School Improvement Patricia M. Virella,2025-06-20 Leveraging Crisis for Equitable School Improvement is a must read for school leaders seeking to navigate crises effectively while prioritizing equity The book draws on real world examples and extensive research to explore how school leaders can leverage crises to bring about equitable school improvement Creating the Conditions for Classroom Improvement David Hopkins,2013-10-28 First published in 1998 The research practice and staff development activities in this book have come out of the Improving the Quality of Education for All project IQEA which emphasizes the importance of enhancing internal conditions in schools by building upon existing good practice Materials developed to promote school level conditions have already been described in a companion volume Creating Conditions for School Improvement It is however necessary to modify the conditions with the classroom as well as those at the level of the school if school improvement

Improving Schools and Educational Systems Alma Harris, Janet Hageman Chrispeels, 2023-05-09 School improvement has become a dominant feature of educational reform in many countries The pressure upon schools to improve performance has resulted in a wide range of improvement programmes and initiatives which can provide both inspiration and advice to everyone involved in school improvement This book draws together the most effective school improvement projects from around the world in one comprehensive text including detailed comparative analysis of a wide variety of initiatives Drawing on examples from the UK the USA Canada South Africa and Australia this book gives both an international snapshot and a coherent synthesis of initiatives that have given achievable results

Developing Equitable Education Systems Mel Ainscow, Alan Dyson, Sue Goldrick, Mel West, 2013-06-17 Despite consistent improvements in the school systems of over recent years there are still too many children who miss out It is not only children from disadvantaged backgrounds attending hard pressed urban schools that the system is failing even in the most successful schools there are often groups of learners whose experience of schooling is less than equitable As a result of their close involvement with a group of schools serving a predominantly working class community over five years the authors of this book offer an analysis of how marginalisation within schools can arise and provide suggestions for responding to this crucial policy agenda They propose a teacher led inquiry strategy that has proved to be effective in moving forward thinking and practice within individual schools However their research has shown that using the same strategy for system change is problematic within a policy context that emphasises competition and choice Learning from this experience the authors analyse the factors that inhibit the collaborative approach needed to reduce inequities that exist between the schools in order to formulate proposals that can move the system as a whole towards more equitable provision In Developing Equitable Education Systems the authors focus on the way teachers sense of fairness can become a powerful starting point helping individual schools to inquire into and develop their own practice and provision They provide practical suggestions for practitioners about ways of working that can create a greater sense of equity within particular school contexts and highlight the barriers to a wider strategy for reducing system inequities that reside in local and national policies and traditions At a time when government policies in many countries move to extend the diversity of educational provision for example through the introduction of charter schools in the USA free schools in Sweden and academies in England the authors also include a set of recommendations that offer a timely warning against the fragmentation of school systems in the misguided belief that competition benefits all children They suggest that a more sensible approach would be to avoid situations whereby the improvement of one school leads to a decline in the resources available to and subsequently the performance of others
