Making Race Jacqueline Francis, 2012-01-15 Malvin Gray Johnson Yasuo Kuniyoshi and Max Weber were three New York City artists whose work was popularly assigned to the category of racial art in the interwar years of the twentieth century The term was widely used by critics and the public at the time and was an unexamined unquestioned category for the work of non whites such as Johnson an African American non Westerners such as Kuniyoshi a Japanese born American and ethnicized non Christians such as Weber a Russian born Jewish American The discourse on racial art is a troubling chapter in the history of early American modernism that has not until now been sufficiently documented Jacqueline Francis juxtaposes the work of these three artists in order to consider their understanding of the category and their stylistic responses to the expectations created by it in the process revealing much about the nature of modernist art practices Most American audiences in the interwar period disapproved of figural abstraction and held modernist painting in contempt yet the critics who first expressed appreciation for Johnson Kuniyoshi and Weber praised their bright palettes and energetic pictures and expected to find the residue of the minority artist's heritage in the work itself Francis explores the flowering of racial art rhetoric in criticism and history published in the 1920s and 1930s and analyzes its underlying presence in contemporary discussions of artists of color Making Race is a history of a past phenomenon which has ramifications for the present

Educating the Tudors Amy McElroy, 2023-02-16 Education during the Tudor era was a privilege and took many forms including schools colleges and apprenticeships Those responsible for delivering education came from a variety of backgrounds from the humble parish priest to the most famed poet laureates of the day Curriculums varied according to wealth gender and geography The wealthy could afford the very best of tutors and could study as much or as little as they chose while the poorer members of society could only grasp at opportunities in the hopes of providing themselves with a better future The Tudors were educated during a time when the Renaissance was sweeping across Europe and Henry VIII became known as a Renaissance Prince but what did his education consist of Who were his tutors How did his education differ to that of his elder brother Prince Arthur and how did Henry's education change upon the death of his brother There is no doubt Henry was provided with an excellent education particularly in comparison to his sisters Margaret and Mary Henry's own education would go on to influence his decisions of tutors for his own children Who had the privilege of teaching Henry's children and did they dare to use corporal punishment Educating the Tudors seeks to answer all of these questions delving into the education of all classes the subjects they studied educational establishment and those who taught them Humor for a Woman's Heart Various, shali macdonald, 2001-09 Humor has the unique power to lift a heart to new heights to heal the hurts of a bad day and to infuse the soul with inspiration Samplings from some of your favorite authors and comedians include Patsy Clairmont Martha Bolton Mark Lowry Carolyn Arends and many more This feel good book will delight your feminine funny bone and tickle your female fancy Take a deep breath inhale the joy soak up the merriment and you ll surely find that your heart is lighter your day brighter and your soul hilariously refreshed

Racism and Early Blackface Comic Traditions Robert Hornback, 2018-07-19 This book traces blackface types from ancient masks of grinning Africans and phallus bearing Roman fools through to comedic medieval devils the pan European black masked Titivillus and Harlequin and racial impersonation via stereotypical black speech explored in the Renaissance by Lope de Vega and Shakespeare Jim Crow and antebellum minstrelsy recycled Old World blackface stereotypes of irrationality ignorance pride and immorality Drawing upon biblical interpretations and philosophy comic types from moral allegory originated supposedly modern racial stereotypes Early blackface traditions thus spread damning race belief that black people were less rational hence less moral and less human Such notions furthered the global Renaissance s intertwined Atlantic slave and sugar trades and early nationalist movements The latter featured overlapping definitions of race and nation as well as of purity of blood language and religion in opposition to Strangers Ultimately Old World beliefs still animate supposed biological racism and so called white nationalism in the age of Trump
