Creative Editing For Print Media:

Creative Editing for Print Media Dorothy A. Bowles, Diane L. Borden, William Rivers, 1993 Creative Editing Dorothy A. Bowles, Diane L. Borden, 2004 CREATIVE EDITING has been consistently praised by reviewers for its comprehensive coverage excellent organization and currency of issues relevant to editing copy The Fourth Edition continues to live up to this reputation through consistent reinforcement and practical application of editing concepts The book covers all aspects of editing for print and online media and provides ample practice exercises for students to demonstrate that they know how to apply principles from the text This book does not assume that students understand grammar fundamentals It starts with basic language skills and leads students through every phase of a professional copy editor's job The book's textbook workbook approach allows students to practice their skills as they learn This edition covers editing as it relates to public relations digital editing for Web sources and magazine editing In addition it includes separate chapters on communications law and ethics along with exercises designed to help students understand practical applications of legal and ethical principles Print Journalism Richard Keeble, 2005-11-23 Print Journalism provides an up to date overview of the skills needed to work within the newspaper and magazine industries This critical approach to newspaper and magazine practice highlights historical theoretical ethical and political debates and includes tips on the everyday skills of newspaper and magazine journalists as well as tips for online writing and production Crucial skills highlighted include sourcing the news interviewing sub editing feature writing and editing reviewing designing pages pitching features In addition separate chapters focus on ethics reporting courts covering politics and copyright whilst others look at the history of newspapers and magazines the structure of the UK print industry including its financial organization and the development of journalism education in the UK helping to place the coverage of skills within a broader critical context All contributors are experienced practicing journalists as well as journalism educators from a broad range of UK universities Concepts of Creativity in Seventeenth-century England Rebecca Herissone, Alan Howard, 2013 The first genuinely interdisciplinary study of creativity in early modern England In the seventeenth century the concept of creativity was far removed from most of the fundamental ideas about the creative act notions of human imagination inspiration originality and genius that developed in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries Instead in this period students learned their crafts by copying and imitating past masters and did not consciously seek to break away from tradition Most new material was made on the instructions of a patron and had to conform to external expectations and basic tenets that we tend to take for granted such as the primacy and individuality of the author were apparently considered irrelevant in some contexts The aim of this interdisciplinary collection of essays is to explore what it meant to create buildings and works of art music and literature in seventeenth century England and to investigate the processes by which such creations came into existence Through a series of specific case studies the book highlights a wide range of ideas beliefs and approaches to creativity that existed in seventeenth century

England and places them in the context of the prevailing intellectual social and cultural trends of the period In so doing it draws into focus the profound changes that were emerging in the understanding of human creativity in early modern society transformations that would eventually lead to the development of a more recognisably modern conception of the notion of creativity The contributors work in and across the fields of literary studies history musicology history of art and history of architecture and their work collectively explores many of the most fundamental questions about creativity posed by the early modern English creative arts REBECCA HERISSONE is Head of Music and Senior Lecturer in Musicology at the University of Manchester ALAN HOWARD is Lecturer in Music at the University of East Anglia and Reviews Editor for Eighteenth Century Music Contributors Linda Phyllis Austern Stephanie Carter John Cunningham Marina Daiman Kirsten Gibson Raphael Hallett Rebecca Herissone Anne Hultzsch Freyja Cox Jensen Stephen Rose Andrew R Walkling Amanda Eubanks Winkler James A Winn

Media Today Joseph Turow, 2011-09-22 Media Today puts students at the center of the profound changes in the twenty first century media world from digital convergence to media ownership and gives them the skills to think critically about what these changes mean for the role of media in their lives Media Today Fourth Edition is built around four key concepts A media systems approach allows students to understand the interconnected cultural political and economic forces that shape media they encounter every day Unique insights into media trends give students an insider's perspective on how media industries are responding to changes from globalization to social networking Focus on digital convergence shows in each chapter how digital media is transforming traditional mass media such as newspapers magazines and television A media literacy goal encourages and builds critical skills to make students more informed and engaged citizens in our media driven society Completely revised with updated examples new case studies and new online video resources the 4th edition of Media Today connects the latest trends debates and technologies to the history of media highlighting the impact and meaning of today's changes to the media landscape especially how traditional industries have blurred together with digital convergence Additional learning resources including a new set of online video resources interactive quizzes study resources and instructor guides are available on the free companion website at www.routledge.com/textbooks/mediatoday4e

Ideas as Weapons G. J. David, T. R. McKeldin, 2009 The United States has struggled to define its approach to what has been called the information battlefield since the information era began Yet with the outbreak of the war on terror the United States has been violently challenged to take a position and react to the militants use of emerging information technology Ideological demigods operating against the United States now have unprecedented channels by which to disseminate their message to those targets who are uncertain sympathetic or actively supportive of their philosophy From the caves of southeastern Afghanistan to the streets of Baghdad the message has dominated the thinking of those who perpetrate horrific acts of violence whether in the name of ideology ethnic and sectarian partisanship or religion This anthology is divided into four sections geopolitical strategic operational and tactical The geopolitical perspective covers world politics diplomacy and the elements of national power excluding military force The strategic view examines where the violence has begun and the military element of power The operational perspective handles the campaigns to accomplish a specific purpose on the world stage for example as in the Iraq campaign The tactical level takes the individual s role into account Because the nexus of information conflict is most easily seen in the world s contemporary violent confrontations this anthology reflects the experience and lessons learned by military personnel who have managed these difficult issues With a foreword by Colonel H R McMaster U S Army the author of Dereliction of Duty Johnson McNamara the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the Lies That Led to Vietnam

Mass Media Research Roger D. Wimmer, Joseph R. Dominick, 1994 Though mass media students need to have a firm enough understanding of the research process to carry out some research their main goal is to understand analysis and reports from secondary sources
