Mangion, Susan O'Brien, 2023-09-01 After 1830 Catholicism in Britain and Ireland was practised and experienced within an increasingly secure Church that was able to build a national presence and public identity With the passage of the Catholic Relief Act Catholic Emancipation in 1829 came civil rights for the United Kingdom's Catholics which in turn gave Catholic organisations the opportunity to carve out a place in civil society within Britain and its empire This Catholic revival saw both a strengthening of central authority structures in Rome creating a more unified transnational spiritual empire with the person of the Pope as its centre and a reinvigoration at the local and popular level through intensified sacramental devotional and communal practices After the 1840s Catholics in Britain and Ireland not only had much in common as a consequence of the Church's global drive for renewal but the development of a shared Catholic culture across the two islands was deepened by the large scale migration from Ireland to many parts of Britain following the Great Famine of 1845 Yet at the same time as this push towards a degree of unity and uniformity occurred there were forces which powerfully differentiated Catholicism on either side of the Irish Sea Four very different religious configurations of religious majorities and minorities had evolved since the sixteenth century Reformation in England Ireland Scotland and Wales Each had its own dynamic of faith and national identity and Catholicism had played a vital role in all of them either as other or in the case of Ireland as the majority's self Identities of religion nation and empire and the intersection between them lie at the heart of this volume They are unpacked in detail in thematic chapters which explore the shared Catholic identity that was built between 1830 and 1913 and the ways in which that identity was differentiated by social class gender and above all nation Taken together these chapters show how Catholicism was integral to the history of the United Kingdom in this period
