Algorithmic Learning Theory Yoav Freund, László Györfi, György Turán, Thomas Zeugmann, 2008-10-02. This volume contains papers presented at the 19th International Conference on Algorithmic Learning Theory ALT 2008 which was held in Budapest, Hungary, during October 13-16, 2008. The conference was co-located with the 11th International Conference on Discovery Science DS 2008. The technical program of ALT 2008 contained 31 papers selected from 46 submissions and 5 invited talks. The invited talks were presented in joint sessions of both conferences. ALT 2008 was the 19th in the ALT conference series established in Japan in 1990. The series Analogical and Inductive Inference is a predecessor of this series; it was held in 1986, 1989, and 1992, co-located with ALT in 1994, and subsequently merged with ALT. ALT maintains its strong connections to Japan but has also been held in other countries such as Australia, Germany, Italy, Singapore, Spain, and the USA.

categories featured are Inductive Inference Approximate Optimization Algorithms Online Sequence Prediction Statistical Analysis of Unlabeled Data PAC Learning Boosting Statistical supervised Learning Logic Based Learning and Query Reinforcement Learning Below we give a brief overview of the field placing each of these topics in the general context of the field Formal models of automated learning reflect various facets of the wide range of activities that can be viewed as learning A first dichotomy is between viewing learning as an indefinite process and viewing it as a finite activity with a defined termination Inductive Inference models focus on indefinite learning processes requiring only eventual success of the learner to converge to a satisfactory conclusion
