The visual arts have long been held to have an intimate link with emotions Despite this the topic remains underexplored when the expression of emotion is discussed it is usually in relation to music This volume corrects this lacuna and presents a variety of perspectives on the expression of emotion in the visual arts with contributions from both established and early career academics There are chapters on the empathy theory of beauty enaction and artistic expression emotion and experimental psychology a persona theory of visual expression and self expression in portraiture There are also chapters discussing the contributions to the topic by Susanne Langer and Richard Wollheim as well as a chapter comparing the work of R G Collingwood and Maurice Merleau Ponty The Expression of Emotion in the Visual Arts will be of interest to students and researchers in the philosophy of art and aesthetics as well as those interested in conceptual issues in the visual arts The Arts and the Christian Life Earl Davey,2022-05-09

Many find their engagement with works of art raises questions concerning where value is found and how meaning and import are understood and experienced For persons of Christian faith a parallel question arises concerning the significance such experience holds for the Christian life and the spiritual journey This collection of essays pursues questions that address how we perceive value in our experience of the arts how this experience leads to a greater measure of human fullness and what significance engagement with the arts holds for the Christian life The author argues that human experience and the quality of our personhood are enriched in and through the imaginative life and that our spiritual lives are profoundly impacted by our aesthetic engagements An underlying assumption is that all great art all that is beautiful is inherently religious that is it embodies qualities that reflect the glory of God and is therefore valuable to the Christian life and one's spiritual experience Indeed insofar as the noetic privileges language and reason the arts and the domain of the aesthetic provide an alternate pathway by which we are able to encounter the Divine
